Scholastic Book Fair

Scholastic Online Book Fair Feb. 1-Feb. 14.

<https://www.scholastic.com/bf/sttheresaschool4>

The Scholastic online book fair begins Monday, February 1 and runs through midnight Sunday, February 14. That means you can shop any time, any day, even on weekends! Attached below is the link to access the fair and the thousands of titles available for purchase from the store. The virtual fair walks you through interactive cases as if you are visiting the fair at school and contains 200 plus new and premium titles. If you click on a book it will give you an age range and brief synopsis. You can also use the search engine to narrow books by grade level, genre, and author. Once you reach $25 in books only, items are shipped for free directly to your house. A question pops up asking parents if they want to register with Scholastic. It is completely optional-you do not have to register. St. Theresa will still get the funds from the book fair regardless. You will receive a confirmation email with a cart that is very detailed about the contents. Books ship 10-14 days from date of purchase. A percentage of the fair sales allows us to purchase books for the library. Sales end on Feb. 14.

Hello everyone and I hope the week was wonderful. This past week we had great discussion on how to be accountable in every action you take. I was impressed with how every student was able to identify that accountability is not only in actions but how it can be hindered by inaction. This next week we will be going over problem solving and different problem solving strategies like pros and cons lists and problem solving models.

This week's mindfulness activity is also a craft. The supplies needed are paints and a rock. Mindfulness rock painting First find a large flat rock that has an interesting texture or shape . Second pick a design or word that is affirming or positive like: Relax, Breath, You can, or Believe. Third, have your child or yourself paint the rock in relaxing colors or patterns Finally after the rock has dried focus on the color, texture, and message of the rock while practicing deep breathing for a few minutes.

Have a wonderful week!
