School Information

We are so proud of our 8th graders! This week was all about celebrating them and their accomplishment. On Thursday we held a parade in their honor. As the graduates walked the campus halls one last time, each class stood outside with banners and signs to cheer them on as they walked through the halls. The week ended with a joyful Mass Celebration with our graduates and their families. Join us in congratulating the STCS Class of 2021!

We had a wonderful week talking about goals for next year. I heard some great goals from students: Make all A's, be nicer to my brother, learn to tie my shoes, and learn how to ride a bike without training wheels. Next week we will be celebrating the end of the year and reflecting on what makes each student unique and amazing.

This week's mindfulness activity requires rocks, paint, and a nice hiking spot. Paint rocks and hide them. Rock painting can be extremely calming. To get started, find some smooth rocks (or you can purchase them at a craft store). Use paint to design them with positive messages or interesting designs. Let them dry. Then, when you're ready, head out to a hiking spot or walking path and hide them somewhere for someone else to find.

Have a wonderful weekend,

Kirstie Carmichael LMSW

Around Campus

This week our 5th Graders put their entrepreneurial skills to the test at the first annual Entrepreneurial Festival. The students were to create their own companies and put together a business plan.

Students sold candy, and other food, homemade face masks, slime, and other amazing products for sale. It was quite the site to see the enthusiasm and the salesmanship from each of teams. Great work 5th grade!
