BRIEF SUMMARY OF PARISH COUNCIL MEETING, NOVEMBER 4:

- † A new votive stand was chosen and will be ordered. We will go with real candles instead of electric.
- † Anthony Gonzalez will rent the farm ground next year.
- † Joan reported that she has lined up someone to do a Parish Mission next year. It will be scheduled for November.
- † Peggy questioned the cleaning schedule for the parish. She said on Wednesdays they always find the hall in bad shape. The cleaners come on Fridays and Mondays and clean everything at least one time. It is the responsibility of those using the facilities to clean up after themselves. The responsibilities for using the facility will be given to those involved.
- † Someone is lined up to haul the poplar tree wood away, but it might not be right away.

LADIES, SAVE THE DATE... Christmas Dinner, December 3. The Christmas dinner last year was well attended and enjoyed by so many that we have decided to make it an annual event. More details to come, but mark your calendars.

SCOTT HAHN’S REFLECTION... With their riddle about seven brothers and a childless widow, the Sadducees in today’s Gospel mock the faith for which seven brothers and their mother die in the First Reading. The Maccabean martyrs chose death—tortured limb by limb, burned alive—rather than betray God’s Law. Their story is given to us in these last weeks of the Church year to strengthen us for endurance—that our feet might not falter but remain steadfast on His paths. The Maccabeans died hoping that the “King of the World” would raise them to live again forever (see 2 Maccabees 14:46).

The Sadducees don’t believe in the resurrection because they can’t find it literally taught in the Scriptures. To ridicule this belief they fix on a law that requires a woman to marry her husband’s brother if he should die without leaving an heir (see Genesis 38:8; Deuteronomy 25:5). But God’s Law wasn’t given to ensure the raising up of descendants to earthly fathers. The Law was given, as Jesus explains, to make us worthy to be “children of God”—sons and daughters born of His Resurrection. “God our Father,” today’s Epistle tells us, has given us “everlasting encouragement” in the Resurrection of Christ. Through His grace, we can now direct our hearts to the love of God.

As the Maccabeans suffered for the Old Law, we will have to suffer for our faith New Covenant. Yet He will guard us in the shadow of His wing, keep us as the apple of His eye, as we sing in today’s Psalm. The Maccabeans’ persecutors marveled at their courage. We too can glorify the Lord in our sufferings and in the daily sacrifices we make. And we have even greater cause than they for hope. One who has risen from the dead has given us His word—that He is the God of the living, that when we awake from the sleep of death we will behold His face, and will be content in His presence (see Psalm 76:6; Daniel 12:2).
