Dear Families,

Given the news that Governor Cooper announced today regarding the amount of time that North Carolina's public schools will remain closed, our Diocesan principals and pastors are waiting for a communication from Bishop Luis Zarama and Superintendent Dr. John Pendergrass regarding next steps for our Diocese of Raleigh Catholic schools.

This information will likely be shared with principals and pastors tomorrow, March 24, at which point principals and pastors will communicate to school families how the governor's decision will understandably impact our parish schools. Therefore, as opposed to reevaluating on Friday, March 27 (as previously communicated), the projected date for St. Thomas More to reopen will be shared in the upcoming days, upon receiving guidance from our Catholic Schools Office and in collaboration with our pastor, Fr. Scott McCue. Thank you for your ongoing support, patience, and prayers.

Prayerfully,

Darrell Fulford

Principal
