"PART 1 OF A MESSAGE FROM CARDINAL DOLAN"

Can we consider a bit today the role of authority and leadership in the Church? Jesus teaches us about all that in our Gospel passage at Mass this morning.

Yes, the Church is of divine origin, but she is composed of flawed human membership; yes, Jesus gave us a rather fluid blueprint about the structure of His Church – his apostles, the sacraments, a basic creed and moral expectations, bishop, priest, deacon, women and men with duties in marriage, family, communities of faith, using gifts – which the bible calls charisms – of teaching, worship, charity, administration, healing, and service; the mandate to teach the nations about Him.

Throughout her colorful history of two millennia, the one, holy, Catholic, and apostolic Church has expanded and developed its style of organization and authority.

We've had popes at the head of conquering armies and popes all by themselves in jail; Bishops called "princes," and bishops beheaded by princes; We've had women and men living as solitary hermits, or as members of thriving, vibrant, communities;

The Church has taught sternly with threats of punishments in this life and the next, or softly and gently under the shade of a tree outside the parish church; She has managed property, buildings, and money to compete with a Wall Street firm, or existed solely on faith, prayer, bread, wine, the Bible, and the goodness of her people;

The Church has members trying to raise families, run businesses, make a living, while ever in allegiance to the teachings of our Lord...

This only touches on the array, the sample of how the Church we cherish has tried to lead, teach with authority, govern and serve since Jesus commissioned us to do so.

And now the successor of Saint Peter as bishop of Rome and pastor of the Church Universal, Pope Francis, has asked us all to commence an examination of conscience on how we as a Church are living up to the model of the Church given us by Jesus. Pope Francis has asked us to begin a process of preparation and prayer for a Synod of Bishops in Rome in two years, on the topic he calls all this: synodality.

Thus do I welcome this morning leaders from the archdiocese who generously participate in the consultative organs of these vast areas of the Lord's vineyard – members of our boards, committees, religious orders, schools, charities, health care, witness in the public square, business and governance..

VINE & BRANCHES - Last Saturday, we provided food for 24 families and 78 people. I want to thank all our parishioners, as well as the Parishioners of St. Joseph's Church in Millbrook, who donate food each month to our food closet. Feeding the hungry is a Corporal Work of Mercy. I thank you for your commitment to this important Ministry.
