St Benedict (July 11th)

In late fifth century, the young Benedict was sent to Rome to complete his education. From there he went to the mountains of Subiaco, just a few miles from Rome. There he lived as a hermit under the direction of another hermit, Romanus.

After years of prayer, word of his holiness brought nearby monks to ask for his leadership. And it was at Monte Cassino in the year 525, he founded the monastery that became the roots of the Church's monastic system.

He organized the monks into a single monastic community and wrote his famous Rule, now known as the Rule of St Benedict. It's based on common sense, and it advocates a life of moderate asceticism, prayer, study, work and community life under a superior or abbot. Its flexibility enabled it to be adapted to the needs of society, so that monasteries became centers of learning, agriculture, hospitality and medicine. It was very unlikely that Benedict himself would have foreseen this.

The Benedictine Rule stressed obedience, stability, zeal, and had the Divine Office as the center of monastic life. It was to affect spiritual and monastic life in the West for centuries to come.

Even though Benedict served as the abbot, most of the monks, including Benedict were not priests. They were not ordained. Benedict also counseled kings and Popes, and he ministered to the poor and the destitute.

His twin sister, St Scholastica, settled nearby to live a religious life, with other pious women, under the direction of her brother.

For prayer, Benedict turned to the Psalms, the very songs and poems from the Jewish liturgy that Jesus himself had prayed. To join our voices with Jesus in praise of God during the day was so important that Benedict called it the 'Work of God'. And nothing was to be put before the work of God.

This prayer, called the Divine Office, was to be chanted from the breviary at specific times of the day. The Church still follows Benedict's teaching and considers the Divine Office the prayer of the Church.

The Benedictine motto is 'Ora et labora' - pray and work. Benedict died in 547 while standing in prayer before God supported by his monks. He was buried in the same grave as his twin sister, St Scholastica. He has been called the Father of Eastern Monasticism and Pope Paul VI declared him the patron of Europe.

As we keep the feast of this great saint, let's commend ourselves to his powerful intercession.

San Benito (11 de Julio)

A finales del siglo V, el joven Benito fue enviado a Roma para terminar su educación. Desde allí fue a las montañas de Subiaco, a pocos kilómetros de Roma. Allí vivió como un ermitaño bajo la dirección de otro ermitaño, Romanus.

Después de años de oración y al conocerse de su santidad, llevó a muchos monjes a pedirle estar bajo su liderazgo. Y fue en Monte Cassino en el año 525, que él fundó el monasterio que se convirtió en las raíces del sistema monástico de la Iglesia.

Organizó a los monjes en una sola comunidad monástica y escribió su famosa Regla, conocida ahora como La Regla de San Benito. Se basa en el sentido común y aboga por una vida de ascetismo moderado, oración, estudio y trabajo, y una vida comunitaria bajo un superior o abad.

La Regla Benedictina subrayaba la obediencia, la estabilidad, el celo, y tenía el Oficio Divino, como el centro de la vida monástica. Era para afectar la vida espiritual y monástica en Occidente durante siglos por venir.

Aunque Benito sirvió como abad, la mayoría de los monjes incluyendo a Benito, no eran sacerdotes. No fueron ordenados. Benito también aconsejó a reyes y Papas y ministró a los pobres y los desposeídos.

Su hermana gemela, Santa Escolástica, se estableció cerca para vivir una vida religiosa, con otras mujeres piadosas, bajo la dirección de su hermano. Para orar, Benito se dirigió a los salmos, las mismas canciones y poemas de la Liturgia Judía que Jesús mismo había orado. Para unir nuestras voces con Jesús en la alabanza a Dios durante el día era tan importante que Benito la llamó "El Oficio Divino". Y nada debía ser puesto delante de la obra de Dios.

Esta oración, llamada El Oficio Divino, debía ser cantada del breviario en momentos específicos del día. La Iglesia todavía sigue la enseñanza de Benedicto y considera El Oficio Divino la oración de la Iglesia.

El lema Benito es 'Ora et labora' - ora y trabaja. Benito murió en el año 547 mientras estaba de pie en oración ante Dios sostenido por sus monjes. Fue enterrado en la misma sepultura que su hermana gemela, Santa Escolástica. Ha sido llamado el Padre del Monacato Occidental y el Papa Pablo VI lo declaró el santo patrono de Europa.

Mientras celebramos la fiesta de este gran santo, encomendamos su poderosa intercesión.
