

Directions to the Westchester County Center

The Westchester County Center is located just off the Bronx River Parkway in White Plains, New York. It is served by the Westchester County Bee-Line Bus System (call 914-813-7777 for bus information) and by Metro-North Commuter Railroad. From New York City, the Westchester County Center is a 35-minute trip by car, 40 minutes by bus and 30 minutes by train. The County Center is a five-minute walk from the White Plains train station.

Metro North

From Grand Central Terminal, take the Harlem line to White Plains station. Once on the platform walk towards the front car of your train. Take the last exit stairwell (located on the left side of the platform) and make a left at the bottom of the stairs. Walk through the tunnel and turn right upon exiting. Walk along the path ahead of you (Metro North will be on the right and the station parking lot to the left), Westchester County Center will be ahead and to your left. Walk through the parking lot ahead and at the traffic light, cross the street to the County Center. The walk takes approximately five minutes.
