SAINT JOSEPH MEDAL OF APPRECIATION

I am pleased to announce that Archbishop Blair has awarded the 2017 Saint Joseph Medal to Marilyn Coppola. One person or couple from each parish is honored every year in recognition of their on-going service to their parish and Archdiocese. Marilyn is a devoted member of St. Thomas Parish who serves quietly behind the scenes in numerous ways. She is always the 1st to volunteer for such things as set-up for Religious Ed Parent meetings, or clean-up following Sunday “coffee and”. She has been a long-time member of the Ladies’ Guild. She is part of the M.O.M.s (Mother of Mary) prayer circle, and is our parish representative for Church Women United, a local ecumenical group. Recently she joined the newly formed Resurrection Choir. As the wife of our Permanent Deacon, undoubtedly there are many things she does to assist his ministry, as well. Fr. Nick

Seminarian’s Corner

My dear friends in Southington –

It has been a great year for me in DC. I wanted to share with you a wonderful experience I had in January. I participated in a camping weekend at the Appalachian Trail Delaware Water Gap with 15 of my brother seminarians and student-priests. I signed up for the trip to challenge myself and expand my comfort zone. The three days spent hiking 25 miles at elevation while wearing a 30-pound pack and sleeping in single-digit temperatures taught me much about myself and what I am capable of. I learned important lessons about fortitude, mental toughness, humility (accepting that I was the slowest member of the group) and teamwork. Despite the challenging conditions, I experienced a powerful sense of interior freedom throughout the trip. I spent many of the long, painful miles meditating on Jesus carrying the Cross and during the freezing nights I tried to identify with him in the Garden of Gethsemane. Partaking in Mass on the trail was also an experience I will never forget. I also have a newfound gratitude for warm beds, electricity and hot showers which I missed greatly. Look forward to seeing you at Easter. Fondly,

Anthony Federico

“A Lenten Reflection”

One of the moments I identify most with from the life of Jesus is the Agony in the Garden. Especially during Lent, I find myself considering our Lord’s tremendous sorrow and distress just a few hours before he was to lay down his life for our sake. I think each of us experiences something similar at certain points in our lives. Who among us hasn’t begged God for help in a time of trial or to spare us from going through some painful ordeal? How comforting it is for us to realize that Jesus doesn’t identify with our sufferings in some abstract way; he has actually lived them. He has personally experienced the fear and dread which often precede the most powerful moments of transition in our lives. And he shows us the way to surrender everything in faith and trust despite the overwhelming circumstances as he utters, “not my will but thy will be done.”

The next time we are in our own ‘Garden experience’ let us take great comfort in the fact that Jesus is there with us and knows exactly what we are going through because he has experienced it himself.
