

James Dailey was scheduled to be executed by the State of Florida on Thursday, November 7, 2019, for the murder of Shelly Boggio. Catholic faithful and members of the community planned to gather to pray for the victim and aggressor, their families, for our society that continues to impose violence in return for violence, and for an end to the use of the death penalty.

Some of the vigils will move forward to pray in thanksgiving for the temporary stay of execution at the following times and locations.
