The Unclean Spirits

If you are like me, you will probably have noticed that some “unclean spirits” may have emerged in your life the longer the restrictions due to COVID-19 have continued. The Christmas and New Year holidays, as unusual as they were this year, possibly opened the door to other behaviors, habits or activities that were troublesome for your life. There are many of us who have become afflicted by these unclean spirits, which vary depending on each person’s susceptibility. For example, some are trapped by laziness. Others are eating too much of the wrong foods. Still others are drinking more alcohol than usual. Perhaps others have found it easy to get absorbed by pornography. During the holidays falling into behaviors like these is so easy and continuing them through the isolation of COVID-19 is even easier.

Be assured that no one blames you. These are difficult times. However, I remind you that there are “better angels” available to each of us. Our God sends these better angels to help us recover a sense of who we are and who we want to be just for ourselves. I propose that we get in touch with those better angels. Be very clear when you pray to God during these difficult times that you want to recover a better sense of yourself everyday.

Black History Month Mass

On Sunday, February 7, 2021, our Archdiocese will celebrate the annual Black History Month Mass at 1pm in St. Patrick’s Cathedral organized by the Office of Black Ministry. This year, more than most, we are aware that new chapters of Black History have been written. The effects of the Coronavirus infection in New York City have revealed that painful reality of the distinction between the races in health care. The brutal death of George Floyd in Minneapolis makes clear the distinctions made by law enforcement based on race. The inability of many Republicans to accept National election results from voting districts in Atlanta, Detroit and Philadelphia reflects the distrust that many of our countrymen have toward other races. In less than one year we have observed directly many of the salient elements of Black History in America.

Please join me for the Black History Month Mass in person (there is restricted seating) or via the internet at www.saintpatrickscathedral.org/live . See the attached Flyer advertising the Mass and weekend events for Black History Month.

Los espíritus inmundos

Si eres como yo, probablemente habrás notado que algunos "espíritus inmundos" pueden haber surgido en tu vida cuanto más tiempo han continuado las restricciones debidas a COVID-19. Las vacaciones de Navidad y Año Nuevo, por inusuales que fueran este año, posiblemente abrieron la puerta a otros comportamientos, hábitos o actividades que fueran problemáticos para tu vida. Hay muchos de nosotros que se han vuelto afligidos por estos espíritus inmundos, que varían dependiendo de la susceptibilidad de cada persona. Por ejemplo, algunos están atrapados por la pereza. Otros están comiendo demasiado de los alimentos equivocados. Otros están bebiendo más alcohol de lo habitual. Tal vez a otros les ha parecido fácil ser absorbidos por la pornografía. Durante las vacaciones caer en comportamientos como estos es tan fácil y continuarlos a través del aislamiento de COVID-19 es aún más fácil.

Ten la seguridad de que nadie te culpa. Son tiempos difíciles. Sin embargo, les recuerdo que hay "mejores ángeles" disponibles para cada uno de nosotros. Nuestro Dios envía estos mejores ángeles para ayudarnos a recuperar un sentido de quiénes somos y quiénes queremos ser solo para nosotros mismos. Propongo que nos pongamos en contacto con esos mejores ángeles. Sé muy claro cuando ores a Dios durante estos momentos difíciles que quieras recuperar un mejor sentido de ti mismo todos los días.

Misa del Mes de la Historia Negra

El domingo 7 de febrero de 2021, nuestra Arquidiócesis celebrará la Misa Anual del Mes de la Historia Negra a la 1pm en la Catedral de San Patricio organizada por la Oficina del Ministerio Negro. Este año, más que la mayoría, somos conscientes de que se han escrito nuevos capítulos de la Historia Negra. Los efectos de la infección por coronavirus en la ciudad de Nueva York han revelado esa dolorosa realidad de la distinción entre las razas en el cuidado de la salud. La brutal muerte de George Floyd en Minneapolis deja claras las distinciones hechas por las fuerzas del orden basadas en la raza. La incapacidad de muchos republicanos para aceptar los resultados de las elecciones nacionales de los distritos electorales en Atlanta, Detroit y Filadelfia refleja la desconfianza que muchos de nuestros compatriotas tienen hacia otras razas. En menos de un año hemos observado directamente muchos de los elementos destacados de la Historia Negra en América.

Por favor, únase a mí para la Misa del Mes de la Historia Negra en persona (hay asientos restringidos) o a través de Internet en www.saintpatrickscathedral.org/live. Vea el Flyer adjunto que anuncia los eventos de misa y fin de semana para el Mes de la Historia Negra.

Herbert Jones ha dejado el Gran Harlem y ha dejado el Hospital de Harlem y ha regresado a su casa. Por favor, oren por Herbert.

La madre del Sr. Brian Tillery, profesor de octavo grado en la Escuela St. Charles, ha fallecido. Por favor, ore por ella y por el señor Tillery.

La hermana de Sor Jane Norton, SBS, la Sra. Grace Carney, ha fallecido. Esta era la última hermana que le quedaba a Sor Jane.
