

Pastor's Message

June 29, 2020

When I have the time while driving my car, I occasionally take different ways to a place I have set as my destination. Sometimes, when a passenger is seated beside me, the question is asked, (on occasions, not very politely), “Marc, where are you taking me...this definitely isn't the way to go?”

Over the years living in New Jersey, I have found interesting routes and roads to go to my set destination. If I did not try the different ways, when I had the time to do so, I would not have the knowledge I have about the said routes and roads.

So, the point is, we learn by doing. To put it bluntly, “You no do, then, you no learn!”

God has given each of gifts and talents. Sure, some people may have more than you or I. That's okay. But, what is most important is to utilize each gift and talent we possess by doing. Otherwise, if you are afraid to do something, it will lead to the missed opportunity to learn.

Consequently, give honor to God by trying to do something which you have not done, as long as it is not contrary to what you should do as His beloved son or daughter. If you do, you'll learn more than you know today. Then, happy will you be to have gain more knowledge, while God looks down from heaven proudly at you!

Proverbs 13:4 “The slacker craves, yet has nothing, but the diligent is fully satisfied.”

Peace,
Fr. Marc
