July 1, 2020

In my estimation, a very beautiful plant is the sun flower. As I am sure you know, it is a large plant which tends to face the sun during the day. And, the flower part of the plant can grow to over 12 inches in diameter. It is found in various different colors, including yellow, red and orange.

The beauty of the sun flower would not be seen, if it never bloomed. Such a plant would never reach its potential in this world, if there was no bloom. Indeed, therein is a lesson for all of us to consider.

To not fulfill your potential is like being a flower which never bloomed. Sadly, such a person never reaches his/her potential in this world. What an utter tragedy!

I remember reading the following good advice a while ago. "When you stop trying to become all can be, you are through."

Don't be "through," no matter your age or status in life. If possible, turn to the One who created each of us for a purpose in His creation. A purpose which no person ever had prior and no person will have subsequently. God will give you the grace to become all you are meant to be.

Today, bloom to your greatest beauty.

Peace,
Fr. Marc
