STEWARDSHIP REFLECTION:

“But rather, love your enemies and do good to them, and lend without expecting anything back.”

Luke 6:43

Easier said than done, right? But, if we are to imitate Christ, most of us need to practice mercy and compassion more frequently. Start with the little daily annoyances that we experience, the unkind word or hateful glance we receive. Instead of plotting revenge on that person, try saying a quick prayer for that person. Mercy and compassion will put us on the path to holiness.

FIGHTING HATRED WITH LOVE

Heavenly Father,

We see violence and despair all around us.

We want to help but don't know where to start.

Help us to take the words of your Son to heart.

Strengthen us to offer blessings when we are cursed.

Give us the humility to not strike back when we are wronged.

Remind us not to judge but to understand.

You have shown us such great mercy, Lord.

May we also show it to others,

and may our small acts of love
make a difference in this calloused world,

just as the sacrifice of your Son brought us healing and peace. Amen.

7TH SUNDAY IN ORDINARY TIME

There is a built-in irony in today's Liturgy of the Word. We read from Luke's Gospel, and Jesus' "Sermon on the Plain," which was introduced last week. Jesus delivers a radical message about how to treat our enemies - with non-violence, forgiveness, and mercy. The liturgy gives us a companion First Reading. The choice: a scene from the First Book of Samuel starring the future King David. We see David sparing his enemy, King Saul.

But the irony is that David, elsewhere in the Bible, is hardly a non-violent figure. He is more typically a man of his era - meting out vengeance to enemies, inflicting violence on friends, and saddling his own people with the consequences of the king's personal sin. Hardly a poster child for non-violence! And yet perhaps this Biblical scene of forgiveness is more potent because of who David was.

Our world is as violent as David's world - possibly more so given our weapons technology and our terrible history of violence. Had King David heard Jesus' message, how would he have responded? More importantly, how will we?
