A reading from the first letter of St. Paul to the Corinthians

Brothers and sisters:
No one can say, "Jesus is Lord," except by the Holy Spirit.

There are different kinds of spiritual gifts but the same Spirit; there are different forms of service but the same Lord; there are different workings but the same God who produces all of them in everyone. To each individual the manifestation of the Spirit is given for some benefit.

As a body is one though it has many parts, and all the parts of the body, though many, are one body, so also Christ.

The CDC announced on Thursday, May 13, 2021, a change in its guidance and safety procedures for those who are fully vaccinated against COVID-19. The purpose of this Order is to bring the State of Ohio's health orders into conformity with this new CDC guidance during the time until June 2, 2021. In short, except in certain limited circumstances, fully vaccinated persons may safely do most activities without a facial covering and without socially distancing. Unvaccinated individuals are at a significantly higher risk of getting COVID-19 and suffering its devastating toll. As such, unvaccinated individuals should continue to protect themselves using mitigation measures, such as masking and social distancing.

The spirit of the Lord shall rest upon him: the Spirit of Wisdom.

~Isa 11:2

Reflection. Those who are led by the Holy Spirit have the right concept of everything.

Hence, many unlettered people enjoy such knowledge more than the wise.

~St John Vianney

Opening Prayer

O God, who by the mystery of today's great feast sanctify your whole Church in every people and nation, pour out, we pray, the gifts of the Holy Spirit across the face of the earth and, with the divine grace that was at work when the Gospel was first proclaimed, fill now once more the hearts of believers. Through our Lord Jesus Christ, your Son, who lives and reigns with you in the unity of the Holy Spirit, one God, for ever and ever. Amen.

Reflecting on Living the Gospel

Today's gospel tells us of Jesus's appearance to his apostles in Jerusalem on Easter evening. He is suddenly there, even though the doors were locked; he shows his hands and side to his disciples. Should we not connect this action with the greeting Jesus gives his disciples, "Peace be with you?" This is not an ordinary greeting. In John's view, it is connected with the wounds, because peace flows from the passion and resurrection.

Now Christ "sends" his disciples. In doing so, he uses the kind of formula we find frequently in the fourth gospel: "As the Father has sent me, so I send you." (See the many other formulas in John that establish a parallel between the activity of the Father in relation to the Son and the activity of the Son in relation to his disciples: for example, 6:57, 10:15, 15:9, 17:18.) For John, however, such formulas express more than a simple parallelism; they do more than affirm the divinity of Christ on the grounds that he acts as the Father acts. They are also a theological statement that believers share in the very life that is common to Father and Son.

The formula ends rather abruptly: "I send you." He is not sending them to a place, but giving them a mission that they must carry out. What is the mission? It is that of forgiving sins, as Christ immediately makes clear. Since, however, Christ draws a parallel between his action in sending the disciples and the Father's action in sending him, he is also telling the disciples that they are to continue the work that Jesus himself has been doing for the reconstruction of the world. They too are to do the Father's work. As Jesus reveals the Father and makes him known, so the disciples are to reveal Jesus and make him known.

Closing Prayer

Most Blessed Light Divine, while we most often perceive your Spirit as active—light, refreshment, action, healing, forgiveness—what we most often need is quietness, concord, and harmony. We need peace. Come, say to us, peace be with you, and help us learn to rest calmly in your presence. Amen.

For Reflection:

• Commissioning the disciples to carry on his ministry. Jesus says, "As the Father has sent me, so I send you." How do these words reverberate with your own faith journey?

Suggestions for group and individual use:

1. Pray aloud the "Opening Prayer" (in The Roman Missal called the "collect").
2. One person read aloud the gospel.
3. Each read prayerfully "Reflecting on Living the Gospel" and spend some time in personal prayer.
4. Share together responses to "For Reflection."
5. Pray the "Closing Prayer."

Gospel

John 20:19-23 (or John 15:26-27; 16:12-15)

On the evening of that first day of the week, when the doors were locked, where the disciples were,

for fear of the Jews,

Jesus came and stood in their midst and said to them, "Peace be with you."

When he had said this, he showed them his hands and his side.

The disciples rejoiced when they saw the Lord.

Jesus said to them again, "Peace be with you.

As the Father has sent me, so I send you."

And when he had said this, he breathed on them and said to them,

"Receive the Holy Spirit. Whose sins you forgive are forgiven them, and whose sins you retain are retained."
