On this last Sunday of Lent, we hear two stories of God’s love and mercy.

- Prophet Isaiah proclaimed that God ‘opens a way in the sea and a path in the mighty waters’ to save Israelites from powerful Egyptian army.

- Apostle John recalled that Jesus opens a way of forgiveness for the woman accused of adultery. Then Jesus said, “Neither do I condemn you. Go and from now on do not sin any more.” (John 8:11)

As we contemplate the mercy of God made present in today’s readings, let us keep in mind that God never tires of forgiving us.

Question to ponder: If God offered pardon unconditionally to us, to whom can we offer this unconditional pardon?

Fr. Hai

En este último domingo de Cuaresma, escuchamos dos historias de amor y misericordia de Dios.

- El Profeta Isaias proclamó que Dios abre un camino en el mar y una senda en las aguas impetuosas para salvar a los israelitas del gran alcance del ejército egipcio.
- El Apóstol San Juan recordó que Jesús abre un camino de perdón para la mujer acusada de adulterio. Entonces dijo Jesús: "Tampoco yo te condeno. Vete y de ahora en adelante no peques más." (Juan 8:11)

Al contemplar la misericordia de Dios que se hace presente en las lecturas de hoy, vamos a tener en cuenta que Dios no se cansa de perdonarnos.

Pregunta para que reflexionemos: Si Dios nos ofreció el perdón incondicional a nosotros, a quien podemos nosotros ofrecer este perdón incondicional?

Pd. Hai

Compulsive eating is an illness...but There is a Solution

"If, when you honestly want to, you cannot quit entirely, or when drinking, you have little control over the amount you take, you are probably alcoholic. If that be the case, you may be suffering from an illness which only a spiritual experience will conquer."* (Big Book of AA, pg. 44)
