FROM THE PASTOR'S DESK:

Last week we heard how Jesus returned to His hometown of Nazareth and taught in the synagogue there. After reading a passage from the prophet Isaiah, the Lord proclaimed that this passage was fulfilled in their hearing. The reaction at first was one of amazement. We hear today how that amazement soon turned to hostility. Jesus was all too familiar to them. How could He possibly be the promised Messiah? We can perhaps understand their reaction but not their hostility. From the Lord's time until today people have been hostile to the truth Jesus proclaimed. Last week we heard of the tragic terrorist act in a Catholic cathedral in the Philippines. Several worshipers died and many more were injured simply because of their faith in Christ.

Today St. Paul's beautiful words about love remind us that love never fails. As we place our trust in Jesus let us hope and pray that love will conquer the darkness of the times that we live in.

Last Sunday evening a good time was had by many of our parish families at our Bowling Night. I thank Erin O'Donnell and all who helped to make this event so enjoyable. We look forward to another parish event on March 16. There will be a Wine Tasting event at the Bedford Historic Hall across from the church. Save the date. More details to follow in upcoming bulletins.

In Christ,
Msgr. John T. Ferry, Pastor

Words of Inspiration:

In Your Own Backyard

Jeremiah and Jesus made a good pair. Both of them were able to irritate their own people to the extreme. The trouble with hometown prophets is that they really know the sins and failings of their own. Nobody can point out our racism, sexism, clericalism, etc., as clearly as people from our own neighborhood. They know exactly how those attitudes benefit their practitioners and injure their victims. All of us who are baptized are called to play our part as prophets. As God told Jeremiah, we were called from before our birth. God also admitted that it will never be easy. The only promise God makes is, "I am with you to deliver you." Christian love demands that we prophecy about the better reality that is possible. God has called us.

Mary M. McGlone, CSJ
