Message from our Pastor

My dear friends, please read this nice reflection from Antonio P. Pueyo.

Everyone loves harmony. The Lord Jesus prayed for His disciples, “that they may be one,” (Jn. 17:21). In principle, we would prefer a harmonious and strife-free situation over one that is tension-filled in general, we would like to live in a peaceful environment rather than a chaotic setting. Given the choice, we would rather have friends than enemies. We would like to sleep peacefully at night rather than have nightmares. This is the natural human desire. This is our quest for a “paradise lost”, or a Shangri-La, or Heaven.

Human life is such that we have to deal with daily struggles. Such tensions can vary in intensity. Just to get up from our beds in the morning is already a shift from a physically relaxed state to a state where we have to exert effort. Then we start thinking of the day’s work and we become more tense. We begin talking to people from our household to our places of work and the tensions gather. From time to time we may be able to relax by resting, doing things we really like to do, or talking to people whom we like to be with. We may experience moments of frustration and moments of victories. At the end of the day, hopefully we wind down, we rest, we leave our troubles for the day and sleep well. Again, as the Lord Jesus said, “Let the day’s own trouble be sufficient for the day” (Mt. 6:34).

This Sunday’s Gospel shows us another image of Jesus (Lk.12:49-53), “I have come to bring fire upon the earth and how I wish it were already kindled. Do you think I have come to bring peace on earth? No, I tell you, but rather division.” This is not the face of a sweet, gentle Jesus. This is the fiery, passionate, and crusading Christ. This is the Anointed One who takes up the struggle for justice. This is the prophet who speaks the word of God even when it hurts. This is the rabbi who stands uncompromisingly for the truth. He spoke the truth and He paid the price. We would rather picture the Lord as a gentle and peace-loving carpenter of Nazareth than a controversial Rabbi and a fiery Prophet. Perhaps, we would rather picture Him dying peacefully in bed than violently on the Cross. The reality was that Jesus suffered terribly and died a bloody death in the hands of violent men. This would not have happened had He lived in a quiet, peaceful, and less controversial manner.

Although we wish our lives to be more peaceful and strife-free, there are instances when we have to face tensions and struggles for the sake of a greater value. This was the experience of the Prophet Jeremiah in the first reading. He was arrested and placed in a well because the people did not like the warnings that he was voicing out. Our personal convenience may be set aside for the sake of justice and truth. Our night of rest may be disturbed when there is a crisis in the community. Even our lives may be sacrificed for the sake of our loved ones, “Greater love has no man than this, that a man lay down his life for his friends” (Jn.15:13).

In this time of floods, I remember a fellow priest and my former student, Fr. Cha Colanders. At the height of a typhoon, a flood was rushing through his parish. He led rescue operations to evacuate people who lived along the river. The flood waters with its debris of logs caught him and carried him away. He was found dead the next day. He was brought home from Infanta Diocese where he volunteered and was given a hero’s burial in our hometown in Midsayap, Cotabato.

St. Paul pictures this life as like that of athletes competing in a stadium surrounded by a “cloud of innumerable witnesses” or the sports audience, “Let us look to Jesus the founder of our faith, who will bring it to completion. For the sake of the joy reserved for him, he endured the cross, scorning its shame, and then sat at the right of the throne of God” (Heb. 12:2). They have undergone the discipline and made great sacrifices to be able to win the prize.

Cristo habla de que trae espada para dividir. Esto resulta chocante, pero es que la fe es lo que más une y lo que más separa. Esto se ve en las familias. Por eso son desaconsejables los matrimonios en que los cónyuges son de distinta religión. Y también pasa en la sociedad. Ataques furiosos a la Iglesia en los Medios de Comunicación. Muchas veces con auténticas calumnias. Otras manipulando las noticias. Dos ejemplos actuales. Hoy se habla mucho de la clonación humana, y se presenta como un avance técnico que quizás pueda remediar algunas enfermedades. Y se dice que la Iglesia se opone a este progreso. Así se presenta a la Iglesia como retrógrada y enemiga de que se empleen nuevas técnicas para remediar enfermedades. Pero lo que no se dice es que la Iglesia se opone a esto porque no se puede matar a una persona para curar a otra. Otro punto de actualidad es que los gobiernos consideren las uniones de homosexuales como verdadero matrimonio. Esto se considera como un derecho de los homosexuales, y presentan a la Iglesia que se opone a ello como una marginadora de los homosexuales. Esto no es verdad. La Iglesia respeta a los homosexuales como personas, pues un homosexual, si se domina puede llegar a santo que es lo más grande que se puede ser en la vida. Pero no aprueba el ejercicio de la homosexualidad. Y menos que esas uniones sean matrimonio. Desde Adán y Eva hasta nuestros días el matrimonio solo es entre un hombre y una mujer. Si hoy, por complacer a los que chillan, se permite el matrimonio entre dos personas del mismo sexo, mañana puede surgir alguien que quiera casarse con su gato o con una gallina. No es lo mismo. Pero SI TODO VALE, TODO ES POSIBLE. Podemos llegar a las aberraciones más inconcebibles.
