Message from our Pastor

My Dear friends, please read this exceptional article from Antonio, P. Pueyo Life is a web of relationships. There are many kinds of relationships and there are many forms of friendships. In Jesus, God befriended us. "I have called you friends" (Jn 15:15). God did this intentionally, even when we were undeserving of His friendship, "not that we loved God, but that God loved us and sent his Son to be the atoning sacrifice for our sins. (1 Jn. 4:10)

We have reached the peak of the mountain. We have rested five times between decades of the rosary, each time looking back to appreciate the mosaic of corn and pineapple fields below. We sat down and while eating our sandwiches, talked about friends and classmates in the seminary thirty years ago. There we were, two friends, one a monk for more than twenty years and I a diocesan priest. I only met him once many years ago when he joined the monastery. I visited him again and we went mountain climbing. Our conversation took off as if we have just parted yesterday.

Between friends, time and space do not matter. This was the message of Jesus to His disciples as He prepared them for his eventual passage to the Father, "A little while and the world will see me no more, but you will see me because I live and you also will live" (Jn. 14:19). He would be leaving them (next Sunday is Ascension), but He would be present in another manner through the Holy Spirit. He assured them, "I will ask the Father and he will give you another Helper to be with you forever" (Jn.14:16). Friendship overcomes space and time.

This could be another application of Einstein's theory of relativity. When one is with a friend, time passes so fast or time does not exist at all. Even space is overcome by friendship as the words of the Lord tell us, "I am in my Father, and you in me and I in you" (Jn. 14:20). This may seem a conundrum but think about it well. When a person is your friend, that person resides in your heart and in your mind. So much so, that some people do things, "in the name of my friend, in memory of a friend, in place of a friend, or dedicated to a friend."

Life is a web of relationships. There are many relationships and there are many forms of friendships. There are friendships between children, adolescents, adults, old and young, of the same or of different genders, nationalities, cultures, and colors. There are friends who are fathers and sons, mothers and daughters, brothers and sisters, husbands and wives. Many friends become husbands and wives although there is also the sad fact that some husbands and wives are not friends. Some friendships begin spontaneously. Two people just click together and discover each other as a "soul friends". Many other friendships were intentional and took time and effort to develop.

En este IV Domingo de Pascua, la figura de Cristo Buen Pastor, tal y como aparece en el Evangelio, domina toda la celebración, y por eso la Iglesia universal celebra hoy la Jornada Mundial de oración por las vocaciones.

Hoy toda la Iglesia pone en el centro de la reflexión y la oración el tema de las vocaciones, no como una cuestión de táctica o estrategia, sino como una cuestión de coherencia: llamada ella misma por el Señor, es tarea suya explícitamente encomendada por el Señor velar para que nunca falten en su seno manos generosas para trabajar en el campo del Reino: Entonces dice a sus discípulos: La mies es mucha y los obreros pocos. Rogad, pues, al Dueño de la mies que envíe obreros a su mies (Mt.9,37-38).

La celebración de esta Jornada es una ocasión para anunciar que el Espíritu Santo de Dios escribe en el corazón y en la vida de cada bautizado un proyecto de amor y de gracia, el único que puede dar sentido pleno a la existencia, abriendo el camino a la libertad de los hijos de Dios y capacitando para el ofrecimiento del propio, personal e insustituible concurso al progreso de la humanidad en el camino de la justicia y de la verdad. El Espíritu no solo ayuda a situarse con sinceridad ante los grandes interrogantes del propio corazón de dónde vengo, quién soy, cuál es el fin de la vida, en qué gastar mi tiempo -, sino que abre el camino a respuestas valientes. El descubrimiento de que cada hombre y mujer tiene su lugar en el corazón de Dios y en la historia de la humanidad, constituye el punto de partida para una nueva cultura vocacional (J. P. II)., quién soy, cuál es el fin de la vida, en qué gastar mi tiempo -, sino que abre el camino a respuestas valientes.
