Feast of the Holy Family

The boy Jesus in the temple, from the viewpoint of sources, this seems to have come to Luke independently of the other infancy material; there is no indication of previous revelation about the identity of Jesus as God's Son of his extraordinary conception. There was a genre of Jesus' boyhood or hidden life stories, best attested in the Infancy Gospel of Thomas, which recounts "the mighty childhood deeds of our Lord Jesus Christ between ages five to twelve". The implicit rationale is a response to a question that must have arisen: if during the public ministry Jesus worked miracles and could speak for God, when did he acquire such powers? At his baptism? The boyhood stories are designed to show that he had these powers from an early age.

No matter what the origin of the story of Jesus at age twelve, by placing it between the infancy and public ministry accounts, Luke has constructed most persuasive Christological sequence. In the Annunciation an Angel proclaims that Jesus is God's Son; at age twelve Jesus, when speaking for the first time, makes clear that God is his father; at age thirty at the beginning of Jesus' public ministry God's own voice from heaven says "You are my beloved Son". Once again however, since historically such self-revelation at an early age could conflict with later local ignorance at Nazareth about his unique identity, we are assured that Jesus was obedient to his parents when he went back to Nazareth, presumably by not provoking any more revealing incidents like that in the Temple.

Fiesta de la Sagrada Familia

El niño Jesús en el templo, desde el punto de vista de las fuentes, parece haber llegado a Lucas independientemente del otro material de la infancia; no hay indicios de revelación previa sobre la identidad de Jesús como el Hijo de Dios de su extraordinaria concepción. Hubo un género de la infancia de Jesús o historias de vida ocultas, lo mejor atestiguado en el Evangelio de la infancia de Tomás, que narra las "grandes obras de la infancia de nuestro Señor Jesucristo entre las edades de cinco a doce". El razonamiento implícito es una respuesta a una pregunta que debe haber surgido: si durante el ministerio público Jesús hizo milagros y podía hablar por Dios, ¿cuándo adquirió tales poderes? ¿En su bautismo? Las historias de la infancia están diseñadas para mostrar que él tenía estos poderes desde una edad temprana.

Independientemente del origen de la historia de Jesús a los doce años, al ubicarla entre los relatos de la infancia y el ministerio público, Lucas ha construido la secuencia cristológica más persuasiva. En la Anunciación, un ángel proclama que Jesús es el Hijo de Dios; A los doce años, Jesús, cuando habla por primera vez, deja en claro que Dios es su padre; A los treinta años, al comienzo del ministerio público de Jesús, la propia voz de Dios desde el cielo dice "Tú eres mi Hijo amado". Una vez más, sin embargo, dado que históricamente tal autorrevelación a una edad temprana podría entrar en conflicto con la ignorancia local posterior en Nazaret sobre su identidad única, estamos seguros de que Jesús fue obediente a sus padres cuando regresó a Nazaret, probablemente al no provocar más Revelando incidentes así en el templo.
