Tomorrow

Today's parable shows us the foolishness of making all of our plans on the basis of the here and now. In the story, the rich man stores up treasure for himself. He is greedy. The Greeks had a word for greed that made clear that it is more than just a desire for money. The word is pleonexia. People with pleonexia experience a restlessness that pushes them to acquire more and more. They never see beyond themselves. Their planning is aggressively self-centered.

The rich man had an abundance of riches which he never considered giving away. As Christians, we should understand that this is the reverse of the Christian message. Our mission is to store up treasure in heaven. For a Christian, this is wealth management. Storing our lives with what matters to God.

There is a story of a conversation between an ambitious young man and an older and wiser friend who knew what matters to God. The younger man announced: I will learn my trade perfectly. His friend inquired: And then? I will set up a business. And then? I will make a fortune. And then? I suppose that I will grow old and retire and live a happy retirement. And then? Well, I guess that someday I will die. And then?

Bravisimo, Well Done Steven

Believe it or not, it's been a month since my appointment as Pastor of Annunciation Parish. I want to thank everyone for the wonderful welcome and fraternal warmth with which you have received me. Annunciation already feels like home.

I also want to take this opportunity to thank Mr. Steven Pierinelli for his long and faithful service to our parish. Steven shares my love for the Church, its liturgy and the Sacred music. I respect and admire the energy and passion Steven and his wife have for music and the important role it plays in the Mass.

Steven, I recall the day you told me about your new mission-position as music minister of Saint Philomena Church in Livingston. Your enthusiasm was overwhelming. God guided you on your search and provided you with everything you were looking for. Now, it is time to rejoice and move on.

Please know that everyone here at Annunciation understands that this is an opportunity of a lifetime. Although we will miss you, we wish you nothing but the best in your new endeavor. We celebrate with you. As Pastor, I bless you and I encourage you to bring with you the same love, commitment and enthusiasm you shared with everyone here at your first (and forever) parish.

Knights of Columbus Update on Gianna Matthews by Her Mother

My daughter, Gianna Matthews, has been through Proton Therapy (radiation) and Chemo, along with several surgeries over the past year. This month we are one (1) year out from being diagnosed with brain cancer. Gianna continues on the path to recovery. She has been through 8 weeks of intense therapy at Children's Specialized Hospital. She is still on a feeding tube and cannot talk. She is still not walking. However, she is making progress!! In her Physical Therapy, they are working her standing upright using a special standing chair. Her legs are being straightened and are getting stronger. She has actually walked 30 feet in this stander on her tippy toes, which is not a big deal. They can help with the tippy toes. Eating is still a huge challenge. She has no desire. It's been a work in progress. She tried chocolate pudding and whipped cream, but she is having a hard time swallowing. The Doctor's say eating and talking will be the last to come back. We are hopeful that everything will work out one day. Thank You all for your kindness and prayers. The Mathews Family.

We, the Knights of Columbus, once again, thank all parishioners for their kind support for Gianna in her fight for life
