The Twenty-Second Sunday in Ordinary Time August 30, 2015

The summer has flown by and here we are one week from Labor Day but what a wonderful summer it has been. I think it's so important during summer to change our schedule, see interesting things, and spend time with loved ones. This summer for me was exciting, adventurous and relaxing. Our trip to Paris, Lourdes and Barcelona was amazing. My days in Lourdes will keep me going for months to come. My visit to Ireland this month was both relaxing and rewarding. Family is a very important part of my life and yet living so far from them I struggle to stay close. It's important to me to really know my nieces and nephews and ensure as much as possible to be a part of their lives. During my time in Ireland I was able to spend an afternoon separately with each of my three nieces and my two nephews. Little Conor, who is now nineteen, is both lovable and challenging at the same time. He starts a special workshop school on Thursday. The goal is for him to socialize and learn new skills which in some extent will help him to be somewhat more self reliant. I have four aunts which I am very close to. Three are now in their eighties. It was special to spend quality time with them, relive old memories and make new ones. I hope you, my dear parishioners, have had the same opportunity to connect with loved ones and enjoy God's beautiful world.

As you are aware, Fr. Matthew celebrated his first Polish Mass last Sunday. It was a proud and happy time for him, his parents, and family. He returns home this weekend.

It's been a pleasure and a joy to have Andrew Burns spend six weeks with us and we've enjoyed having him here for his summer assignment. I've certainly enjoyed mentoring him and he has been very eager and keen to assist at weddings, funerals, baptisms, wakes and burials. I hear rave reviews about his Tuesday Scripture classes and they are well attended. I will bring him to Kennedy Airport on Thursday, September 3rd for his return trip to the North American College in Rome. It's been a pleasure to get to know this wonderful man. We surround Andrew with our prayers as he begins his final two year preparation to holy priesthood.

I'm sure you have all enjoyed reading Alex's news from Rome each week. He was very excited last week to visit Castel Gandolfo with the other seminarians from the North American College to receive a blessing personally from the Holy Father. He has adjusted well to the seminary. During the month of September the students receive formation and then in October lectures through Italian will begin at the Gregorian.

On September 12th/13th our regular Mass schedule resumes. Do remember as that is the weekend Religious Ed begins thus the 9:00am Mass returns.

I wish you all peace, joy, and relaxation during this last week of August.

Father Owen

News from Rome

The title of my column is now properly true, as I have begun my regular orientation in Rome. At least this time it is much cooler than when I first arrived in July, which ended up being the hottest week this summer. The schedule is still a little different as there are many things asked of us between conferences, Italian classes, and excursions, but it is nice to finally have a routine again.

However, I want to speak about an amazing experience I had last Sunday along with all the other New Men, the nickname we receive as first years. We all went to pray the Angelus with His Holiness and at the conclusion of his comments; Pope Francis welcomed us publically to Rome, it was an incredible experience. We then went to Castel Gandolfo, the Pope's available summer residence for a private tour of the gardens by Cardinal Harvey. There we were able to see the spots where Pope Saint John Paul II spent much of his summers praying, as well as the pool he would swim in. However, the most interesting things were the Vatican cows, or Papal Bulls as one seminarian said. It truly shows how the Vatican really is its own independent country, with its own livestock, farms, and of course vineyards.

As summer is coming to an end and many college students are preparing or have already left for school, I pray that you have some time to relax and pray before the business of daily life starts to increase. May God always Bless all of you.

God bless! Alex
