Susan Wollscheid

The Knights of Columbus, Council 5386, would like to thank all those who participated in the Baby Bootie Project to raise funds for the purchase of a state-of-the-art ultrasound for the Pregnancy Center. We exceeded our initial $5000 goal by over $2000. With some other generous parishioner donations and one from Fr. Tikalsky (Fr. Hartge's uncle), the Catholic community has donated $10,000 towards this project. Other community churches continue their fund drives and will deposit their donations into the project account established by Council 5386. Thanks again and keep the success of this project in your prayers.

The Giving Tree will be in the back of church next weekend. This ministry, sponsored by The Women of St. Colman, provides Christmas gifts to those living in the four care facilities in Fayette County. To participate, take a tag from the tree and write your name on the log indicating what tag number you took. Buy your gift(s) for the person listed on your tag and bring your WRAPPED gift back to the Parish Center the weekend of December 1 & 2. Gift ideas are on the tags for your convenience. It is important that your gift is returned on time as the gifts are delivered to the care facilities the week of December 3. Christmas is the season for giving! Give a gift to someone who may not have anyone with whom to celebrate the holiday this year. Thank you from The Women of St. Colman.

Father T. J. Lehigh to address Catholic Men's Luncheon Club, Friday, December 7, 2018

The December Catholic Men's Luncheon Club will feature a talk by Father T. J. Lehigh, Parochial Vicar at St. Andrew Parish. Father Lehigh is one of the newly ordained priests in the Columbus Diocese. Please join us Friday, December 7 at St. Patrick Church in downtown Columbus for lunch and Father Lehigh's talk about his vocation story. The December Luncheon is sponsored by Fortner Fine Living & Upholstery. (Find more information at www.fortnerinc.com.) Holy Mass begins at 11:45 am followed by lunch at 12:10 pm and Father Lehigh's talk. No reservations are necessary. $10 covers the lunch and meeting. Bring a friend!

Oktoberfest was a success despite the nasty, rainy, windy weather. Once all of the money is received from some outstanding sponsor pledges, the event broke even, which is the goal.

Congratulations to Marge McLaughlin for winning the 50/50 raffle! The raffle totaled $6420. Marge received $3210. The other half will go to St. Colman charities.

Thank you to all of you who volunteered to work the event and those of you who attended! Mark your calendars, next year's Oktoberfest is tentatively scheduled for October 19.

From the Pastor's Desk...

It recently came to my attention that many do not know how much the Church did in 2002 to create a new culture in the Church to prevent the abuse of children. The Pennsylvania report had very few incidents from 2002-present. The overwhelming majority were from before that time. Of course, unfortunately, as news of the priest in Athens county this past week reminded us, there is no completely failsafe way to protect everyone. However, a lot has been done in this area and I would like to talk about this in this column, because this is something that is rarely discussed in the news when they bring up the incidences. To many, it appears as though the Church has made no effort to prevent abuse, whereas in reality it has done much.

In 2002, the US Bishops signed an agreement called the Dallas Charter (in reference to where the meeting was held). This Charter set up new child safety policies and safe environment programs. The following is what has changed. I will be referring to our parish and our diocese but this is fairly general for nearly every diocese and parish in America now:

There is now a Policy Manual that regulates any and all activities that involve youth in the parishes of our diocese. It requires that every staff or volunteer working with youth must be fingerprinted (BCI) or if they have lived out of state within the last couple of years, they must have an FBI background check. Every person working with children must have attended a Protecting God's Children Class, by which they learn about ways to help spot abuse or signs of possible abuse, what to do in such cases, etc. Every parish is required to submit reports detailing every member of staff and all volunteers who would have access to children, along with each individual's PGC and BCI dates. Of course, every clergy and religious are included in these requirements.

Another example of a change in policies after 2002: Adults are no longer allowed to drive a child alone. For example a priest, staff member or church volunteer is not allowed to drive an individual child to or from an event. There must always be more than one child or more than one adult. No youth activity can take place if there are not two or more compliant adult leaders present.

Once a year, the parish must do a self-audit of its policies and fulfillment of requirements. Every three years, Regina Quinn, the Diocesan Safe Environment Coordinator (a position at the diocesan level specifically and completely dedicated simply to ensuring the safety of children within the institution), makes a site visit to the parish or school to review files and policies to determine whether the institution is following the requirements.

The Diocesan Safe Environment Coordinator has the full and immediate authority of the Bishop to remove any and all persons from parish, school, or diocesan events if they are not compliant. She periodically will make unannounced spot checks of activities being performed on Diocesan property. For example, a couple of months ago she showed up at the State Knights of Columbus Hoop Shoot at a Columbus Catholic High School. She checked volunteers that were there to see if they were compliant (for example whether they had completed a PGC class or had had their fingerprinting conducted). Those who were not compliant were required to immediately leave the event.

At a parish level, a staff member is charged with overseeing the parish safe environment coordinator. This person is responsible for the yearly self-audit, and works with the diocesan officials on the on-site audit. They ensure that any groups who will be working with any youth are compliant (this includes mission trips that have youth on them or work with youth on the trip). They contact the diocese with questions/concerns regarding safe environment.

Periodically we advertise when the Protecting God's Children class is being offered in the area. Even if you don't work directly with youth, it can be helpful in just understanding how to better protect children in our parish and community.

Finally, in the case where accusations of abuse are made against clergy, the dioceses each have a Review Board made up primarily of laity (in our diocese there are about ten lay persons and two priests on the board). This board reviews any credible allegations and advises the bishop on how to proceed. This is to keep things more transparent than in the past.

Will this infallibly protect our youth? Unfortunately, we know nothing will infallibly protect our youth. As this culture of protection takes hold, it is certainly making the Church a much safer institution for children. The Catholic Church is seen by many objective observers to be the leader in programs and policies that can go to help keep children safe.

The one main weakness of the Dallas Charter was exposed with the Cardinal McCarrick case. There were no provisions concerning how to handle when bishops are accused. This is what Cardinal DiNardo and the U.S. Bishops are seeking to address. The difficulty is that they need the full cooperation of the Vatican because by Church Law, bishops can only be judged within the law by the Pope (or his representatives). We pray that they will be able to figure out a way, working with the Vatican, to address this weakness. We also pray for the victims of abuse, for the perpetrators, and for the flourishing of a culture within the Church that protects the dignity and well-being of all.

In Christ,
Fr. Hahn

Celebrating Saints and Feasts to Enrich Hearts and Homes

November 16: St. Margaret of Scotland, secondary patroness of Scotland, wife, mother and queen.

St. Margaret was an exemplary Catholic wife, mother and queen. She and her husband, Malcolm, transformed Scotland from a barbaric outpost to a beacon of Christian culture. Her charity and humility to the poor and children (especially their own 8) was remarkable; daily providing food for hundreds of unfortunates and serving them personally, washing their feet and kissing their wounds. For more information about this saintly queen go to http://www.qmssa.org/st_marg.htm.

In honor of this Scottish queen we thought an easy Scottish fall soup would be appropriate.

RECIPE: 'Braveheart' Cock-a-Leekie Soup (adapted from catholicculture.org)

(serves 4-6)

3 lb skinless chicken thighs	1 tbsp dried thyme
1 lb beef stew meat	1 Bay leaf
6 cup chicken stock	3/4 cup pearl barley
3 sliced thick bacon, chopped	1 1/2 cup chopped leek, white only
salt and pepper to taste	2 tbsp chopped fresh parsley

Put the chicken thighs, beef, stock, bacon, thyme, and bay leaf in a large stock pot and bring to a boil. Reduce heat and simmer for 30 minutes. Meanwhile boil barley in 1 1/2 cups water for 10 minutes. Drain and set aside. Remove chicken from pot (which is still simmering), let cool to handle and debone and coarsely chop and set aside. Add leeks and barley to pot and continue to simmer 15 minutes. Remove beef and coarsely chop and return to pot with chicken. Simmer covered for 10 minutes more. Season with salt and pepper and garnish with parsley. Serve with some easy 30 minute Scottish bannock bread <https://www.curiouscuisiniere.com/bannock-bread/> while listening to some Scottish bagpipe music <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=dMzQiu2mUIE>.

Prayer to St. Margaret of Scotland

O God, who called your servant Margaret to an earthly throne that she might advance your heavenly kingdom, and gave her zeal for Your Church and love for Your people. Mercifully grant that we who commemorate her this day may be fruitful in good works and attain to the glorious crown of your saints' through Jesus Christ our Lord, who lives and reigns with you and the Holy Spirit, one God, for ever and ever. Amen.
