STEWARDSHIP AWARENESS

“Therefore, stay awake, for you know neither the day nor the hour.” Matthew 25:13

Many of us have put off doing something because we think we are too busy. We’ve all said, “I’ll do it later when I have time.” Unfortunately, too many of us apply this attitude to our Faith. Jesus’ call is urgent, in the here and now, in your current circumstances. Don’t delay. How is God calling you to use your gifts today? None of us is guaranteed tomorrow.

Dedication of the Lateran Basilica - Mon., Nov. 9

The first basilica of Rome, a renovated palace of the Lateran family, was consecrated on this date in 324 as the Church of the Most Holy Savior. Nearby communities of monks lent it the name of Saint John. St. John Lateran is the pope's basilica. Fire and earthquake have repeatedly destroyed the structure; each time it has been rebuilt with care. "The beauty and the harmony of churches, destined to render praise to God, invite us human beings too, though limited and sinful to convert ourselves to form a 'cosmos' a well-ordered construction, in close communion with Jesus who is the true Holy of Holies" St. John Paul II

St. Leo the Great - Tues., Nov. 10

A native of Tuscany in Italy, Leo the Great was elected pope in 440. he considered himself to be St. Peter's unworthy heir as Bishop of Rome. His epistle 28, known as the Tome to Flavian, authoritatively taught the church's faith in Jesus Christ. After it was read at the Council of Chalcedon (451), the shout "Peter has spoken through Leo" was heard from the Council Fathers. Leo's preaching stirred his people to greater faith in Christ and care for Christ's poor. In the Liturgy of the Hours, the Church still reads from several of his sermons, including this passage on Christmas Day; "Christian, remember your dignity, and now that you share in God's own nature, do not return by sin to your former base condition."

St. Martin of Tours - Wed., Nov. 11

Martin was born in Pannonia (modern Hungary), and became a catechumen at the age of ten. While serving in the Roman army, he met a poor, half-clothed man outside the city gate of Amiens. Martin drew his sword and divided his own cloak in two, giving half to the naked man. That night, he saw Jesus in a vision. "Martin, who is still but a catechumen, gave me this robe," our Lord told the angels. After this, Martin "flew to be baptized." After he resigned from the army, he founded a monastic community in Gaul (modern France). In 372, he was elected Bishop of Tours, where he served his flock with great care until his death in 397.

St. Josaphat - Thurs., Nov. 12

Josaphat was born to Ruthenian Orthodox parents in 1580, in present-day Ukraine. He entered the monastery only a few years after the Ruthenian Orthodox metropolitan had brought the entire church back into communion with Rome, a move that sadly lacked popular support. The young monk worked tirelessly to promote union. After he was elected Archbishop of Polotsk, Josaphat drew many to the Catholic Church by dint of good example. On November 12, 1623, supporters of a rival bishop overwhelmed the house where Josaphat was staying. "My children," he said, "if you have anything against me, here I am." A bullet ended his life. Josaphat is hailed as the Martyr of Unity."

The Second Coming of Christ

668 "Christ died and lived again, that he might be Lord both of the dead and of the living." Christ's Ascension into heaven signifies his participation, in his humanity, in God's power and authority. Jesus Christ is Lord: he possesses all power in heaven and on earth. He is "far above all rule and authority and power and dominion," for the Father "has put all things under his feet." Christ is Lord of the cosmos and of history. In him human history and indeed all creation are "set forth" and transcendently fulfilled.

673 Since the Ascension Christ's coming in glory has been imminent, even though "it is not for you to know times or seasons which the Father has fixed by his own authority." This eschatological coming could be accomplished at any moment, even if both it and the final trial that will precede it are "delayed."

1001 When? Definitely "at the last day," "at the end of the world." Indeed, the resurrection of the dead is closely associated with Christ's Parousia For the Lord himself will descend from heaven, with a cry of command, with the archangel's call, and with the sound of the trumpet of God. And the dead in Christ will rise first.

St. Frances Xavier Cabrini - Fri., Nov. 13

Frances Cabrini was born in the Lombardy region of Italy. She took private religious vows at age 27, adding "Xavier" to her name in honor of the great Jesuit missionary to the East. In 1880, she founded the Missionary Sisters of the Sacred Heart of Jesus with the aim of evangelizing in China, yet Pope Leo XIII advised her to go "not to the east, but to the west." Arriving in New York in 1889, she founded an orphanage for children of Italian immigrants. Schools, hospitals, and a prison ministry followed. Frances died in 1917, having established 67 institutes of the order in the United States, Europe, and Central and South America. She is the patroness of immigrants.
