

St. Anastasia Parish
CCD (Religious Education) Information for 2020-21

For the 2020-21 school year, C.C.D. will be all remote learning or homeschooling C.C.D. We will not have any in-person classes. After a number of discussions with our C.C.D. teachers and families, with the priests and some of the pastoral staff, it became clear that the safest and least stressful route for everyone (students, parents, and teachers) is remote learning. We will still have regular registration; children will receive textbooks, and there will be accountability for the lessons. The remote sessions will be mostly pre-recorded weekly lessons that parents and children can do at home at a time that works best for the family. Teachers will require work to be monitored and completed.

As one of our teachers recently said, "Remote learning is a team effort." So, please anticipate that you will be more involved this year with your child's religious education than usual! And that's a good thing!

Registration forms are available here: saintanastasia.net
Our starting date will be the third week of September (that includes Confirmation Prep lessons).

The sacraments of Penance and First Holy Communion (for 2nd graders), and Confirmation (for 7th graders) will require some in-person sessions (socially distanced), so more information to those families will follow.

Thank you for your patience!
