Throughout the next year, there will be monthly themes on the domestic church with accompanying resources on the Diocesan website. Dear friends, today's Gospel features Jesus calling his first disciples. The invitation is welcoming and intriguing. "Come, and you will see." How are we called by the Lord? The Lord has called us all here today on this Sunday in the middle of January and so we have come together to listen to God's word and to receive our Lord in the Eucharist. How is the Lord speaking to us today? Our Lord assured his disciples that in him they would find what they were looking for. Looking for our needs to be fulfilled, we turn now to the Lord with our prayers.

- For the Church, that like Andrew, who stayed with the Lord and then invited his brother as well, we who have found our home in the Lord may go forth and bear witness to others, we pray to the Lord
- For our leaders, who have responded to the call to serve others in public office, that they may work humbly and tirelessly to serve the common good, we pray to the Lord
- That all our citizens may work to hasten the day when this country truly lives out the ideals for which Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. fought and gave his life, we pray to the Lord
- That during the week of prayer for Christian unity, which begins on Monday, all Christians may be inspired to find solidarity with our brothers and sisters in Christ, we pray to the Lord
- For all who are effected by COVID 19 and a speedy end to the pandemic, we pray to the Lord
- For our homebound and all who are not able to join us today, we pray to the Lord
- For the prayers we hold in the silence of our hearts, we pray to the Lord.

Loving God, help us to hear your call now and throughout our lives and heed that call to the best of our abilities. Grant this and all the prayers we make through your Son, in whose name we work toward perfect unity as one body of Christ Jesus our Lord.

Spiritual Communion: My Jesus, I believe that you are present in the most Blessed Sacrament. I love You above all things and I desire to receive You into my soul. Since I cannot now receive You sacramentally, come at least spiritually into my heart. I embrace You as if You were already there, and unite myself wholly to You. Never permit me to be separated from You. Amen.
