July 28, 2019 – 17th Sunday in Ordinary Time

“Ask and you will receive; seek and you will find; knock and the door will be opened to you.”

LUKE 11:9

Jesus assures us that if we ask, God will take care of what we need. The problem is that our culture often confuses what we really need with what we simply want. Many people need very little. However, we usually want so much more. A good steward only asks God for what he needs.

Reflection

Last weekend we were able to compare ourselves to Martha and Mary by relating to their anxiety, worry, and feelings of not being good enough to be loved by Jesus. It can be a hard concept to grasp, that Jesus loves you even through your sins and bad decisions. It’s so important to remember that if we acknowledge, are sorry for, and learn a lesson from our sins, He will always forgive and love us unconditionally. Jesus does not condemn sinners, but rather shows them the righteous way through acts of love, compassion and mercy. Last weekend’s Gospel shows us that we should treat all people the way Jesus treated Martha and Mary. We should give people a chance to right their wrongs and choose a more Holy path to learn from sin. We should not be condemning others when we ourselves are by no means innocent. If Jesus would not dare to condemn and judge others on their decisions, we as imperfect human beings certainly have no place to do so. Instead of focusing our time and energy on what we think others are doing wrong, we should be focusing on our relationship with Jesus. He doesn’t expect us to be perfect, but He does expect us to be good people and love one another as He loves us. Whenever you find yourself in a situation where you want to judge or condemn someone else’s behavior, think of how Jesus would respond. With everything going on in the world is it worth putting more hate, judgement, and cruelty out into the world? Or would you rather be the beacon of light, love and mercy that Jesus calls you to be?

Saint of the Week: St. Ignatius of Loyola

St. Ignatius was wounded in battle and while on leave to recover he became inspired to devote his life to serving God and the saints. He gained a great peace of mind from his devotion to God which led to great mystical experiences and resulted in his book, Spiritual Exercises. When he was able, he went back to school and gathered other students for service to Jesus. St. Ignatius later founded the Society of Jesus, known as the Jesuits. A true mystic and man of God, St. Ignatius is the perfect example of someone who was able to find God in all things.
