Wedding at Cana Prayer

O Mary, my Mother and Our Lady of Surprises, what a happy joy you caused the wedding guests, when you asked your Divine Son to work the miracle of water into wine. What a happy surprise for them since they thought the wine had run dry. You trusted in His Providence. We, too, Mary, love surprises and as your children, may we ask you to favor us with one today? We ask this only because you are our evercaring Mother and because we trust in your intercession & great love for us. Amen

A Healing Mass Celebrating World Day of the Sick: Sat., February 2nd, 2019 at St. Mary's Cathedral in SF at 11:00am

The Order of Malta, who is organizing the event, invites all the sick & their caregivers to a special Healing Mass celebrated by Archbishop Salvatore Cordileone. Anointing of the Sick, a blessing with Lourdes water, and the blessing of all caregivers' hands will take place. The Benedict XVI Schola will be singing. All are invited. The event is sponsored by the Order of Malta, which will arrange rides for people who need them.

"Bring a friend who is sick, and experience a special time of prayer and sharing, of offering one's suffering for the good of the Church and of reminding everyone to see in his sick brother or sister the face of Christ who, by suffering, dying and rising, achieved the salvation of mankind.”

A song in praise of God's marvelous deeds

Second Reading

1 Corinthians 12:4-11

All spiritual gifts originate from the same Spirit.

Gospel Reading

John 2:1-11

Jesus performs his first sign at a wedding feast in Cana.

Life of Mary: Wedding Feast at Cana

A new episode in the life of our Lady. "And so, it was in Cana of Galilee that Jesus performed the first of the signs by which he manifested his glory, and his disciples believed in him" (Jn 2:11). After spending many years in Nazareth, our Lord sets out to preach the coming of the Kingdom of God. All the evangelists report the first act in this new stage of Christ's life: his baptism by John the Baptist on the banks of the Jordan. But only St. John the Evangelist mentions our Lady's presence at the beginning of Jesus' public life: " (Jn 2:1-2). There Jesus, at the request of his Mother carries out his first miracle. A Jewish wedding feast usually lasted seven days, and in a small town like Cana, it is likely that everyone took part in the celebration, in one way or another. Jesus came accompanied by his first disciples. With so many people attending, it is not surprising that the wine ran short. Ever attentive to the needs of those around her, Mary was the first to realize it and told her Son: They have no wine (Jn 2:3). After his reply (which is not easy to interpret), Jesus complied with his Mother's request and performed a great miracle by converting water into wine.

The Evangelist's chronological care in situating this event has a deep significance. According to the book of Exodus, the manifestation of God to Israel when establishing the Covenant took place three days after reaching Mount Sinai. Now, "the third day" since his return to Galilee in the company of his first disciples, Jesus is about to manifest his glory for the first time. Similarly, the full glorification of his Sacred Humanity will take place "on the third day" after his death, through the Resurrection.

Going beyond the historical fact of the wedding, John stresses that Mary's presence at the beginning and at the end of Jesus' public life corresponds to a divine plan. The name our Lord uses to address her in Cana ("woman," rather than "mother") seems to show his intention to form a family, founded not on the bonds of blood, but on faith. This is the same way God addressed Eve in Paradise, when promising that from her progeny would come the Redeemer (Gen 3:15). In Cana, Mary realizes that her maternal mission does not end on the natural plane. God is relying on her to be the spiritual Mother of his Son's disciples. Thanks to her intervention, the disciples' faith in the promised Messiah begins to grow. John himself states this at the end of his account. And so, it was in Cana of Galilee that Jesus performed the first of the signs by which he manifested His glory, and His disciples believed in him (Jn 2:11).
