

Tethered to Mystery

We are born into this life tethered to Mystery. Our Creator always has us in His heart although we sometimes forget the love that created us. Held with compassion, nurtured with love, we grow in wonder and awe of the beauty of this world and the spiritual depths we can achieve. Whether we live a peaceful existence or are blown about by the winds of turmoil and deceit, we are all tethered to Mystery.

When we are fraught with despair and our connection to God feels threadbare, we are tethered to Mystery.

When we are joyful and bouncing on life like a kite in the wind, we are tethered to Mystery.

When we are traveling through “meanwhiles” and our plans are put on hold, we are tethered to Mystery.

When our questions seem to weigh down our spirits, we are tethered to Mystery.

When we journey through the darkness groping for the light, we are tethered to Mystery.

When our hearts ache for mercy and a tender touch, we are tethered to Mystery.

When we face the unknown and accept all it offers, we are tethered to Mystery.

When we can view strangers as friends and companions in life, we are tethered to Mystery.

When we can appreciate the uniqueness of others and embrace their truth, we are tethered to Mystery.

When we fully realize that we live within God and that God lives within us, we are tethered to Mystery. Tethered with Mystery. Amen. Amen.

(PD 5/3/18)