Follow-Up Discussion Starters

In your own opinion and understanding, what does marriage mean?

Do you understand the reasons for the marriage preparation process? Why are they important? How do you feel about this process?

Do you understand Catholic teachings about marriage? Can you accept the truths about sexuality, about children, about faithfulness, and about permanence that we know are God's will? Why do you feel this way? Do you understand the church's concerns with cohabitation?

Describe your personal and family background. What do I need to know about you in order to know you well? Why do you think you are personally ready for marriage? In what areas of life do you still need to grow?

When did you first meet each other? What has your courtship been like? What has attracted you to each other? What remains the most difficult part of your relationship? When did you decide to marry? What would you say is your greatest strength as a couple? Why? What will be your most difficult challenge? Again, why?

After completion of the premarital inventory and discussing the results, the priest or deacon will make a decision to proceed or delay the marriage (see page 36 in the Canonical Requirements - Section 8 Special Circumstances in the Marriage Preparation Guidelines for the Province of New Orleans promulgated in 2008).

What would you say is your greatest strength as a couple? Why? What will be your most difficult challenge? Again, why?

After completion of the premarital inventory and discussing the results, the priest or deacon will make a decision to proceed or delay the marriage (see page 36 in the Canonical Requirements - Section 8 Special Circumstances in the Marriage Preparation Guidelines for the Province of New Orleans promulgated in 2008).

Assessment of Readiness for Marriage

If the priest/deacon determines that the couple is prepared sufficiently for the marriage, a tentative date for the wedding may be set and further preparations made.

1. In the event of some special circumstance (e.g., age under 18, premarital pregnancy, parental opposition, extreme religious indifference, etc.) the couple is to be referred to a diocesan approved evaluator (another priest or lay person, preferably from the same locale, trained for evaluation) for additional evaluation prior to finalizing the assessment.
2. If the priest/deacon determines that either of the parties is not prepared to enter marriage, he must delay witnessing the marriage according to the norms set forth in the Delay Marriage section in the Marriage Preparation Guidelines for the Province of New Orleans promulgated in 2008 (see page 36 in the Canonical Requirements – Section 8 Special Circumstances in the Marriage Preparation Guidelines for the Province of New Orleans promulgated in 2008). In the event that the proposed officiant decides the wedding must be delayed, appropriate continuing marriage preparation is to be offered to the couple. Both interviewer and officiant are urged to add personal notes and evaluative remarks to the prenuptial file, along with all required and useful documentation.
