Question of the Week

The Ascension - Mark 16:15-20

Key Passage: So then the Lord Jesus, after he spoke to them, was taken up into heaven and took his seat at the right hand of God... (the disciples) went forth and preached everywhere, while the Lord worked with them and confirmed the word through accompanying signs.

Question for adults: What signs of the Lord do you believe accompany your discipleship?

Question for children: What do you do to let people know Jesus is with you?

Pregunta de la Semana

La Ascensión del Señor -- Marcus 16:15-20

Pasaje Crucial: El Señor Jesús, después de hablarles, subió al cielo y está sentado a la derecha de Dios. Ellos fueron y proclamaron el Evangelio por todas partes, y el Señor actuaba con ellos y confirmaba su predicación con los milagros que hacían.

Pregunta para los adultos: ¿Qué signos del Señor crees que acompañan tu discipulado?

Pregunta para los niños: ¿Qué haces para que la gente sepa que Jesús está contigo?

From Deacon John...

The Church celebrates the Ascension of Jesus this weekend, 40 days after Easter. The Ascension is not about Jesus leaving, departing or abandoning the disciples – or us! It is, rather, a great symbol of the trust and confidence that Jesus has in us – perhaps more than we do in ourselves or others.

The Scriptures teach us what the Ascension really means:

- 1) we are now really, through Christ, placed in the presence of God;*
- 2) we are invited through Christ into an intimacy with God;*
- 3) that heaven is not 'a place' but rather a presence in which we choose to live, now, and,*
- 4) Jesus entrusts us with responsibility of proclaiming the reign of God.*

Pope meets primate of Orthodox Church in Czech and Slovak Republics

By Editor, Catholic News Service, May 10, 2018

Vatican City, (Vatican News)

Pope Francis met on Friday with Metropolitan Rastislav, head of the Orthodox Church in the Czech and Slovak Republics.

In his words to the Holy Father, Metropolitan Rastislav compared the two Church leaders to the disciples on the road to Emmaus, who only recognized Jesus when he broke bread with Metropolitan Rastislav of the Czech and Slovak lands met with Pope Francis on Friday. The Pope pointed to Saints Cyril and Methodius, who translated the Gospels into the Slavic language, as models for contemporary evangelization.

It was the first encounter between the pontiff and the primate, who was elected in January 2014.

them. While we are still unable to break the Bread of Life together, he said, we “remain fellow disciples who (Metropolitan continued) walk together” as pilgrims on the way.

In his response to the Orthodox leader, Pope Francis recalled the legacy of the 9th century Apostles of the Slavs, Saints Cyril and Methodius, whom Saint John Paul II proclaimed co-patrons of Europe in honor of their evangelizing mission.

The two brothers, who translated the Bible from Greek into the Slavic language, remind us of our “immense shared patrimony of holiness”, the Pope said. As well as the innumerable witnesses and martyrs of the early centuries, he said, there are also many who were persecuted under the atheist, communist regimes and those who continue to suffer for their faith today. Secondly, Pope Francis noted that the Apostles Cyril and Methodius had the audacity to translate the Gospels into a language that was accessible to people in the region, known then as Great Moravia.

The brothers remain for us today a model of evangelization, he said, since it is not enough to stick to our set way of doing things, but rather we should listen to the Spirit who inspires us with new ways of translating the message for women and men, including people living in traditionally Christian countries which are often marked by secularization and indifference.

Finally, the Pope said Saints Cyril and Methodius were able to overcome divisions between Christians of different cultures and traditions, becoming “authentic precursors of ecumenism”. They remind us that unity does not mean uniformity, but rather the reconciling of diversity in the Holy Spirit.

May the witness of the Apostles of the Slavs accompany us on the road to full unity, he said, including through the work of the international mixed commission for theological dialogue between the Catholic and Orthodox Churches
