Twenty First Sunday in Ordinary Time, Year B, 21° Domingo del Tiempo Ordinario, el año B del Evangelio de San Marcus August/Agosto 25/26, 2018

From Deacon John...

Today, we have the conclusion of the "Bread of Life discourse". In the past weeks, we have heard Jesus explain that he alone is the Bread of Life, offered freely to all so that those who believe may have eternal life. John's Gospel describes a murmuring crowd. Now, the crowd has dwindled, so instead, John describes for us the questioning of those considered to be Jesus' own disciples by asking, "Does this shock you? What if you were to see the Son of Man ascending to where he was before?"

Hoy, tenemos la conclusión del discurso del "Pan de vida". En las últimas semanas, hemos escuchado a Jesús explicar que él solo es el Pan de Vida, ofrecido gratuitamente a todos para que aquellos que creen puedan tener vida eterna. El Evangelio de Juan describe a una multitud que murmura. Ahora, la multitud se ha reducido en número y en cambio, Juan describe para nosotros el cuestionamiento de los que se consideran los propios discípulos de Jesús al preguntar: "¿Esto te impresiona? ¿Qué pasaría si vieras al Hijo del Hombre ascender a donde estaba antes?"

Question of the Week

21st Sunday – John 6:60-69

Key Passage: Many of Jesus' disciples who were listening said, "This saying is hard; who can accept it?" Since Jesus knew that his disciples were murmuring about this, he said to them, "Does this shock you? What if you were to see the Son of Man ascending to where he was before?"

Question for adults: What is a difficult aspect of Jesus' "real presence" for you? Why?

Question for children: What does it take to believe someone?

Pregunta de la Semana

21° Domingo-- Juan 6:60-69

Pasaje Crucial: Al oír sus palabras, muchos discípulos de Jesús dijeron: "Este modo de hablar es intolerable, ¿quién puede admitir eso?" Dándose cuenta Jesús de que sus discípulos murmuraban, les dijo: "¿Esto los escandaliza? ¿Qué sería si vieran al Hijo del hombre subir a donde estaba antes?"

Pregunta para los adultos: ¿Cuál es un aspecto difícil de la "presencia real" de Jesús para ti? ¿Por qué?

Pregunta para los niños: ¿Qué se necesita para creerle a alguien?

Today we have the conclusion of the "Bread of Life discourse" in John's Gospel. In the verses proclaimed over the past weeks, we have heard Jesus explain that he alone is the Bread of Life, offered freely to all so that those who believe may have eternal life. Jesus teaching follows the miracle in which he fed more than five thousand people with five barley loaves and two fish. John's Gospel describes a murmuring crowd unable to accept Jesus' words. Now, in today's Gospel, the crowd has dwindled in number, and John no longer references them, or the Jews. Instead John describes for us the questioning of those considered to be Jesus' own disciples by asking, "Does this shock you? What if you were to see the Son of Man ascending to where he was before?"

Pope calls for solidarity and penance in Letter on abuse crisis

By Editor, Catholic News Service, August 20, 2018

Vatican City, (CNA/EWTN News)

"If one member suffers, all suffer together with it." These words, taken from St Paul's First Letter to the Corinthians, struck the key note for Pope Francis in an impassioned letter addressed to the whole People of God.

Pope Francis has written a letter to the whole People of God addressing the ongoing crisis of sexual abuse

The letter comes in response to an ongoing crisis of sexual abuse by "a significant number of clerics and consecrated persons" – crimes that were covered up and perpetuated by those who should have been protecting the vulnerable.

In particular, the Holy Father referred to a report released by a Grand Jury in the U.S. state of Pennsylvania which, he wrote, "detailed the experiences of at least a thousand survivors, victims of sexual abuse, the abuse of power and of conscience at the hands of priests over a period of approximately seventy years."

However, despite being occasioned by the recent scandals, the Director of the Holy See Press Office, Greg Burke insisted that the letter was meant for the whole Church. "This is about Ireland, this is about the United States, and this is about Chile, but not only. Francis has written to the People of God and that means everyone."

In his letter, the Holy Father speaks of the realization that the "wounds" caused by abuse "never disappear and that they require us forcefully to condemn these atrocities and join forces in uprooting this culture of death." He admits that the Church has failed to deal adequately with the crisis of abuse. "With shame and repentance, we acknowledge as an ecclesial community that we were not where we should have been, that we did not act in a timely manner, realizing the magnitude and the gravity of the damage to so many lives," the Pope says. "We showed no care for little ones; we abandoned them."

Pope Francis calls for solidarity with those who have been abused. "Such a solidarity," he said, "demands that we in turn condemn whatever endangers the integrity of the person." It is a solidarity, "that summons us to fight corruption, especially spiritual

The Pope also notes that the Church has delayed in applying the "actions and sanctions" that are necessary for the implementation of a "zero tolerance" policy, but said he is "confident that" those actions and sanctions "will help to guarantee a greater culture of care in the present and the future."

Pope Francis calls on all the baptized to be a part of the "ecclesial and social change we so greatly need." This change, he continued, requires "personal and communal conversion." And in order to experience that "conversion of heart," he encouraged "the entire faithful People of God to a penitential exercise of prayer and fasting" – a reference to our Lord's words in Matthew that "this kind [of demon] does not come out except by prayer and fasting." Greg Burke explained, "Pope Francis says greater accountability is needed, not only for those who committed these crimes, but also for those who covered them up – which in many cases means Bishops."

The Holy Father emphasizes that the present crisis demands a response from the whole Church as a body. "Consequently, the only way that we have to respond to this evil that has darkened so many lives is to experience it as a task regarding all of us as the People of God." This response requires the "active participation of all the Church's members," and "will be helped by the penitential dimension of fasting and prayer."

Pope Francis says, "It is essential that we, as a Church, be able to acknowledge and condemn, with sorrow and shame, the atrocities perpetrated by consecrated persons, clerics, and all those entrusted with the mission of watching over and caring for those most vulnerable. Let us beg forgiveness for our own sins and the sins of others."
