Fourth Sunday of Easter, Year C, Cuarto Domingo de Pascua, el año C del evangelio de San Lucas May / Mayo 12, 2019

From Deacon John...

We may have little experience with the metaphors of sheep and shepherd. Yet, the image of Jesus as Good Shepherd has endured as a primary image in our faith tradition. Its ability to describe the relationship between Jesus and his followers transcends direct experience with sheep. The image speaks to us about the protection, security, and care. Today's Gospel also speaks to the relationship between Jesus and the Father. In John, Jesus identifies so closely with the Father that he tells us that they are one—not just close, but one. To know Jesus is to know the Father. He doesn't just bring us closer to the Father, he puts us into contact with God the Father, removing all distance between us. Our relationship with Jesus is an invitation to share in the life of God..

Podemos tener poca experiencia con las metáforas de ovejas y pastores. Sin embargo, la imagen de Jesús como Buen Pastor se ha mantenido como una imagen primaria en nuestra tradición de fe. Su capacidad para describir la relación entre Jesús y sus seguidores trasciende la experiencia directa con las ovejas. La imagen nos habla sobre la protección, seguridad y cuidado. El evangelio de hoy también habla de la relación entre Jesús y el Padre. En Juan, Jesús se identifica tan estrechamente con el Padre que nos dice que son uno, no solo uno cercano, sino uno solo. Conocer a Jesús es conocer al Padre. Él no solo nos acerca al Padre, sino que nos pone en contacto con Dios Padre, eliminando toda distancia entre nosotros. Nuestra relación con Jesús es una invitación a compartir en la vida de Dios.

Question of the Week

Fourth Sunday of Easter – John 10:27-30

Key Passage:

Jesus said, "My sheep hear my voice; I know them and they follow me. I give them eternal life and they shall never perish. No one can take them out of my hand. My Father, who has given them to me, is greater than all and no one can take them out of the Father's hand. The Father and I are one."

Question for adults:

Which of these promises of Jesus is most significant to you right now?

Question for children:

What is a "good" shepherd? How is Jesus the "good" shepherd for us?

Pregunta de la Semana

Cuarto Domingo de Pascua-- Juan 10:27-30

Pasaje Crucial:

Jesús dijo a los judíos: "Mis ovejas escuchan mi voz; yo las conozco y ellas me siguen. Yo les doy la vida eterna y no perecerán jamás; nadie las arrebatará de mi mano. Me las ha dado mi Padre, y él es superior a todos, y nadie puede arrebatarlas de la mano del Padre. El Padre y yo somos uno".

Pregunta para los adultos:

¿Cómo crees que la Iglesia podría adaptarse mejor a la gran diversidad de miembros?

Pregunta para los niños:

¿Qué es un buen pastor? ¿Cómo es Jesús el buen pastor para nosotros?

Pope inflight press conference: 'I thank the Lord for the energy he gives me!'

By Linda Bordoni, Vatican News, May 7, 2019

(Vatican News) During the flight bringing Pope Francis back to Rome after a visit to the Bulgaria and North Macedonia, Pope Francis spent some time chatting to reporters and answering their questions.

Impressions of Bulgaria and North Macedonia

Asked about his strongest impressions regarding the nations he has just visited, Pope Francis said "They are totally different countries". Bulgaria, he explained, is a nation with century-old traditions; while Macedonia has century-old traditions but is a young country and has a "young people".

Commenting on the fact that North Macedonia has recently managed to establish itself as a nation, he said it is symbol of how Christianity entered into the West through the Apostle Paul who wanted to go to Asia, but was called to Macedonia.

"The people of Macedonia never miss the opportunity to remind us that Christianity entered through their door" he said. Bulgaria, he said, suffered much war and violence, and he referred to the 200,000 Russian soldiers who died in 1877 to regain independence from the Ottoman Empire.

"So many struggles for independence, so much blood, so much mysticism in order to consolidate an identity" the Pope said noting that in both countries Christian communities, Catholics and Muslims live together. He praised the fact that he saw good relations between the different faiths in both nations and expressed admiration for a profession of "respect" for diversity and for human rights rather than of "tolerance".

Where does the Pope get his energy?

One journalist asked him where he finds the energy and strength needed to travel and work as he does. "First of all I would like to say I do not resort to witchcraft!" the Pope said. He described it as "a gift from the Lord" and revealed that when he goes places he "forgets himself" and he is "just there". He confessed that afterwards he feels tired: "I don't tire of traveling. Then I get tired, afterwards. I think the Lord gives me strength. I ask the Lord to be faithful, to serve him, may these journeys not be tourism... I don't work that hard!"

Relations within the Orthodox Church

Asked about perceived strife within the Orthodox Church, Pope Francis underscored the fact that, in general, relations are good and there is good will. He described the Orthodox Patriarchs as men of God. Recalling the North Macedonian president's words about the schism of the East he said: "Now is the Pope coming to sew up the schism? I don't know. We are brothers, we cannot worship the Holy Trinity without joining our hands as brothers".

Cardinal Stepinac's canonization process

Regarding the canonization of Cardinal Stepinac, the Pope described him as a virtuous man: "that is why the Church declared him blessed". But, he noted, at a certain point in the process there were points that were unclear and said that before signing the authorization for the canonization process, he prayed, reflected and asked for the advice and help of the Serbian Patriarch Irenaeus. He said they established a historical commission as "both he and I are interested in (Pope continued) not making mistakes; we are interested in the truth". The Pope said some issues are under scrutiny in order for truth to be clear: "I am not afraid of the truth. I am only afraid of God's judgment".

Women's Diaconate

Noting that in Bulgaria the Pope visited an Orthodox community that has cultivated a tradition of ordaining women deacons to proclaim the Gospel, and that in a few days he will be meeting the International Union of Superiors General, a journalist asked Pope Francis what he has learnt from the Study Commission's report on the Women's Diaconate, and about his thoughts on the issue. Pope Francis created the Study Commission on the Women's Diaconate in 2016.

Answering the reporter's question, the Pope said the Commission worked for almost two years until it came to a halt due to differences in vision. He said that regarding women's diaconate "there is a way of conceiving it with a different vision to that of the male diaconate". Although there are historical documents regarding the ministry of women deacons, the Pope said "there is no certainty that their ordination was in the same form and purpose as male ordination". He said the commission did a good job and their conclusions can serve to move forward in the quest for a definitive "yes or no" concluding that theologians are at a point in which they are studying the various theses.

Moving memories

After the questions, Pope Francis said he wanted to recall how touched he was to experience the gentleness and meekness with which the nuns at Mother Teresa's memorial cared for the poor: "they cared for the poor without paternalism, as if they were children (...) with the capacity to reach out and caress the poor".
