Sixth Sunday of Easter, Year C, Sexto Domingo de Pascua, el año C del evangelio de San Lucas May / Mayo 26, 2019

From Deacon John...

This portion of John's Gospel is near the end of the chapters that make up Jesus' farewell at the Last Supper, summing up the theme of the discourse: Christian's life is not shaped by Jesus' absence but by God's abiding presence. Jesus prepares his disciples for his absence so that they will continue to believe in him and not feel alone after his return to the Father. After the excitement of Easter, Jesus will remain in a very different way throughout the centuries. As the Easter season ends, the liturgy reminds us Jesus remains with us through the Holy Spirit, who teaches us everything we need to know, reminds us of all that Jesus taught, and brings us peace.

Esta parte del Evangelio de Juan está cerca del final de los capítulos que conforman la despedida de Jesús en la Última Cena, resumiendo el tema del discurso: la vida de Cristiano no está moldeada por la ausencia de Jesús sino por la presencia permanente de Dios. Jesús prepara a sus discípulos para su ausencia para que sigan creyendo en él y no se sientan solos después de su regreso al Padre. Después de la emoción de la Pascua, Jesús permanecerá de una manera muy diferente a lo largo de los siglos. A medida que finaliza el tiempo de la Pascua, la liturgia nos recuerda que Jesús permanece con nosotros a través del Espíritu Santo, que nos enseña todo lo que necesitamos saber, nos recuerda todo lo que Jesús enseñó y nos trae paz.

Pope to parents, coaches: 'Be partners in the smiles of your athletes'

By Christopher Wells, Vatican News, May 25, 2019

(Vatican News) Pope Francis on Friday held an audience for more than five thousand young football players, aspirations.” Pope Francis said, “the great thing along with professional football stars, coaches, educators, and experts, including the heads of several Italian sports institutions. The group was taking part in a special encounter organized for the young people, entitled “The football that we love,” which focused on the idea of football as fun, educational, and inclusive.

The Pope received a large group of young football players in the Vatican on Friday and urged their parents, coaches and educators to support the dreams of the budding athletes.

Those were themes picked up by Pope Francis in his address. The Holy Father quoted a saying of St John Bosco, who said that the easiest way to draw young people was to “throw a ball in the air.” “Behind a rolling ball,” the Pope said, “there is almost always a child with their dreams and about playing with a ball is that you can do it together with others.” “Football is a team sport,” he said. “You can’t have fun alone.”

In off-the-cuff comments, he confided that for him football is the best is “the best game in the world” and he urged them to keep it so.

While lamenting the excessive competitiveness that sometimes mars youth sports, the Pope encouraged parents and coaches to remember – and to teach their children – that football “is a game, and must remain so!” Sport is an activity for one’s free time, chosen precisely because it is fun. It offers children a chance to chase a dream, even if they don’t end up becoming champions. Pope Francis emphasised the important role of coaches and mentors, who are role models for their athletes, whose example will leave an “indelible mark” in their lives, for good or ill.

“Someone once said that he walked on tiptoe on the field so as not to trample on the sacred dreams of children,” the Pope said.

He asked parents and coaches “not to turn the dreams of your children into easy illusions destined to clash early on with the limits of reality; not to oppress their lives with forms of blackmail that limit their freedom and imagination; not to teach shortcuts that only lead to getting lost in the labyrinth of life.”

Rather, he said, “may you always be partners in the smiles of your athletes.”
