The Ascension of the Lord, Year C, La Ascensión del Señor, el año C del evangelio de San Lucas June / Junio 2, 2019

From Deacon John...

The Gospel is taken from the conclusion of the Gospel of Luke where Jesus assigns his disciples the task of proclaiming the Gospel to the entire world. But first, the disciples must to return to Jerusalem to await the fulfillment of his promise to send them the Holy Spirit. Only the Gospels of Mark and Luke report Jesus' Ascension into heaven. Those who believe in Jesus will be empowered to do what Jesus himself has done. During his ministry, Jesus sent his disciples out to preach, to heal, and to drive out unclean spirits. Now, they are sent again to do these things and more. Jesus helped his disciples, and he continues to help us as we try to live as his followers.

El Evangelio se toma de la conclusión del Evangelio de Lucas, donde Jesús asigna a sus discípulos la tarea de proclamar el Evangelio a todo el mundo. Pero primero, los discípulos deben regresar a Jerusalén para esperar el cumplimiento de su promesa de enviarles el Espíritu Santo. Solo los evangelios de Marcos y Lucas informan la Ascensión de Jesús al cielo. Aquellos que creen en Jesús tendrán el poder de hacer lo que Jesús mismo ha hecho. Durante su ministerio, Jesús envió a sus discípulos a predicar, sanar y expulsar a los espíritus inmundos. Ahora, son enviados nuevamente para hacer estas cosas y más. Jesús ayudó a sus discípulos y continúa ayudándonos mientras intentamos vivir como sus seguidores.

A road map for the future of Europe and its peoples

By Andrea Torielli, Vatican News, May 31, 2019

(Vatican News) The speeches given by Pope Francis on his first day in Romania reveal a road map for the future of Europe and the world. Speaking to the President and Authorities of the country, the Pope expressed his words describe the malaise experienced by so many peoples against powers and structures they feel are increasingly intrusive and inhumane. They are a wake-up call for a Europe that sometimes forgets to plained that attention to the weak and the poor represents “the best indicator of the actual goodness of the social model that one is attempting to build”.

The Pope continued, saying: “Only to the extent that a society is concerned for its most disadvantaged members, can it be considered truly civil”. To achieve this, we need a heart and soul that is free from “the growing power of centers of high finance”, and filled with “an awareness of the centrality of the human person and of his or her inalienable rights”.

This is certainly not the first time the Pope has pointed out one of the plagues of our time: an economic-financial system that idolizes the “god of money”, instead of placing working women and men at the center. These words of the Successor of Peter are transversal and uncomfortable, because they are cannot be easily con-care about people. A Europe that should be closer to the soul of the people the Pope speaks about.

Pope Francis expressed a similar intuition during the meeting with the Permanent Synod of the Romanian Orthodox Church. The Pope invited Christians to “listen together to the Lord”, especially in these more recent years, “when our world has experienced rapid social and cultural changes. Technological development and economic prosperity may have benefited many, yet even more have remained hopelessly excluded, while a globalization that tends to level differences has contributed to uprooting traditional values and weakening ethics and social life, which more recently has witnessed a growing sense of fear that, often skillfully stoked, leads to attitudes of rejection and hate”.

Pope Francis continued: “We need

*(Pope continued...)*to help one another not to yield to the “culture of hate” that, no longer ideological as in the time of the atheist persecution, is nonetheless more persuasive and no less materialist. Often it takes on the appearance of a path to development that appears fast and easy, but in reality is indifferent and superficial”.

In the new Orthodox Cathedral of Bucharest, Pope Francis paraphrased the “Our Father”. The prayer the Lord gives all Christians includes “the bread of memory, the grace to nurture the shared roots of our Christian identity, so indispensable in an age when humanity, and the young in particular, tend to feel rootless amid the uncertainties of life, and incapable of building their lives on a solid foundation”.

The rediscovery of common roots, values and the dreams of Europe’s Founding Fathers, do not represent an element of “identity” that creates separations and new walls. Instead, they are a hidden heritage to be unearthed in order to create new bonds, a new ability to welcome, and true integration.
