We ask for commitment, courage and strength to pass through the narrow gate and for Christian unity of purpose among our families and neighbors. We lift up to the Lord those who have died. We pray for those who struggle with disease, illness, grief or addiction, especially Eamon Dolan, brother of Father Pat. We are grateful for those who feed, house and clothe the world, and those who labor selflessly for our well being and safety, particularly our first responders and military.

Twenty First Week in Ordinary Time, Year C, 21° Domingo del Tiempo Ordinario, el año C del evangelio de San Lucus August / Agosto 24-25, 2019

From Deacon John...

The question "What must I do to inherit eternal life?" led to the parable of the Good Samaritan. The question of only a few saved expresses the concern whether everyone who calls himself a Jew is actually faithful to the covenant. Jesus answers that they must strive in the time remaining to enter through the narrow door because many will be trying to get in but won't be strong enough. He then moves to a parable about another door. Once all those entering the master's house are in and he locks the door, there will be no way for others to get in. Unlike the Gospel where Jesus was teaching about prayer, and we were told to knock and the door would be opened, in this parable, the master will not open and says he does not know us.

La pregunta "¿Qué debo hacer para heredar la vida eterna?" Llevó a la parábola del buen samaritano. La pregunta de solo unos pocos salvados expresa la preocupación de si todos los que se autodenominan judíos son realmente fieles al pacto. Jesús responde que deben esforzarse en el tiempo restante para entrar por la puerta angosta porque muchos tratarán de entrar pero no serán lo suficientemente fuertes. Luego pasa a una parábola sobre otra puerta. Una vez que todos los que ingresan a la casa del maestro están adentro y él cierra la puerta, no habrá forma de que otros entren. En esta parábola, el maestro no abrirá y dirá que no nos conoce.

Pope at Audience: Beware of hypocrisy, actions speak louder than words

By Lydia O’Kane, August 21, 2019

During his General Audience on Wednesday, Pope Francis reflects on how the Christian community is born of the outpouring of the Holy Spirit and grows through the mutual sharing of life among the Lord’s disciples.

VATICAN CITY (CNS)

In his continuing catechesis on the Acts of the Apostles in the Paul VI hall on Wednesday, Pope Francis spoke of the solidarity between Chris-its origins, “this koinonia, this community, refers first of all to participation in the Body and Blood of Christ.” For this reason, the Pontiff said, “when we receive communion we tians and how it is essential in building up God’s family. This fraternity he said, “is nourished by receiving the sacrament of Christ’s Body and Blood.”

Communion and solidarity

The Pope underlined that there is a “dynamism of solidarity that builds the Church as the family of God, where the experience of koinonia is central.”

He explained that in the Church of declare “we communicate”, we enter into communion with Jesus and from this communion with Jesus we arrive at communion with our brothers and sisters.”

Actions and words

If you want to know that you are good Christians, said Pope Francis, “yes, you must pray, try to approach communion, reconciliation” but that signal that your heart has converted, is when one is generous with others and

The Pope stressed that when it comes to a true conversion, actions speak louder than words.

Reflecting on the history of the Church, the Pope said that there have always been Christians who stripped themselves of material things; things that were not necessary in order to give to those in need.

How many Christians here in Italy volunteer, he noted. “This is beautiful”, he said, sharing time with others; helping those in need.

In Biblical terms, the Pope highlighted that a concrete example of sharing and communion of goods can be found in the witness of Barnabas. “He owns a field and sells it to deliver the proceeds to the Apostles. But alongside his positive example there is another sadly negative one: Ananias and his wife Sapphira, who sold a piece of land, decided to hand over only part of it to the Apostles and to keep the other for themselves.”

The enemy of hypocrisy

“Hypocrisy is the worst enemy of this Christian community”, commented Pope Francis. “To fail in the sincerity of sharing, in fact, or to fail in the sincerity of love, means cultivating hypocrisy, distancing oneself from the truth, becoming selfish, extinguishing the fire of communion and fating oneself to the chill of inner death,” he said.

The Pope emphasized that “those who behave in this way pass through the Church like tourists”.

He concluded by saying that, “a life based only on making a profit and taking advantage of situations to the detriment of others inevitably causes inner death. How many people say they are close to the Church, friends of priests, bishops while only seeking their own interests? These are the hypocrisies that destroy the Church.”
