We ask for courage, humility and perseverance as we seek out the Lord in our daily life. We pray the lost will “come to their senses” and return home. We lift up to the Lord those who have died. We pray for Joe Koenen and all those who struggle with disease, illness, grief or addiction. We are especially grateful for those who feed, house and clothe the world, and those who labor selflessly for our safety, growth and well being, particularly our catechists, first responders and military.

From Deacon John...

Jesus tells parables about losing, finding, and rejoicing. The outcasts of society, the taxpayers, and the sinners approach Jesus. The Pharisees and scribes, suspicious of Jesus, complain about him associating with sinners. So he tells them these three parables. The parable of The Lost Sheep where a single outcast has importance; a second story, about a poor woman who will not stop searching until the lost is found. Finally, the story of The Prodigal Son. Upon his son's return, the father runs out to embrace and forgive him before the son can utter one word of repentance. God's care and compassion extend to the righteous and sinner. When we are lost, God seeks us out.

Jesús cuenta parábolas sobre perder, encontrar y regocijarse. Los marginados de la sociedad, los contribuyentes y los pecadores se acercan a Jesús. Los fariseos y los escribas, sospechosos de Jesús, se quejan de que él se asocie con los pecadores. Entonces él les cuenta estas tres parábolas. La parábola de Las ovejas perdidas donde un paria tiene importancia; Una segunda historia, sobre una pobre mujer que no dejará de buscar hasta encontrar a los perdidos. Finalmente, la historia de El hijo pródigo. Al regreso de su hijo, el padre corre para perdonarlo antes de que el hijo pueda pronunciar una palabra de arrepentimiento. El cuidado y la compasión de Dios se extienden al justo y al pecador. Cuando estamos perdidos, Dios nos busca.

Question of the Week

Week Twenty Four – Luke 15:1-32

Key Passage:

“Rejoice with me because I have found my lost sheep. I tell you; in just the same way there will be more joy in heaven over one sinner who repents than over ninety-nine righteous people who have no need of repentance.”

Question for adults:

Can you rejoice over the sinner who repents even if they have wronged you?

Question for children:

How can you forgive as God forgives?

Pregunta de la Semana

24ª Semana--Lucas 15:1-32

Pasaje Crucial:

"¡Alégrese conmigo, porque ya encontré la oveja que se me había perdido." Yo les aseguro que también en el cielo habrá más alegría por un pecador que se arrepiente, que por noventa y nueve justos, que no necesitan arrepentirse."

Pregunta para los adultos:

¿Se puede regocijarse por el pecador que se arrepiente, incluso si han hecho daño?

Pregunta para los niños:

¿Cómo se puede perdonar como Dios perdona?

Today, Jesus tells parables about losing, finding, and rejoicing. The outcasts of society, the taxpayers, and the sinners approach Jesus eager to hear what he has to say. The Pharisees and scribes, suspicious of Jesus, complain about him associating with sinners. So he tells them these three parables. The parable of The Lost Sheep where a single outcast has importance; a second story, about a poor woman who will not stop searching until the lost is found and recovered. Pope Francis explains gift of relics to Ecumenical Patriarch

By Vatican News, September 13, 2019

Pope Francis writes to the Ecumenical Patriarch Bartholomew, Archbishop of Constantinople, and explains the motivation behind his gift of a portion of the relics of Saint Peter.

VATICAN CITY (VNS) Pope Francis has written to the Ecumenical Patriarch, Bartholomew, in order, as the Pope says in his letter, “to explain more fully the gift of some fragments of the relics of the Apostle Peter that I presented to Your Holiness”.

The discovery of the bones

The letter goes on to explain how, in June 1939, immediately following his election, Pope Pius XII decided to undertake excavations beneath the Vatican Basilica. These works “led first to the discovery of the exact buri-

Pope Francis and Patriarch Bartholomew embrace in the Holy Land, May 2014

The background to the gift

In the letter to the Orthodox Archbishop of Constantinople, Pope Francis reviews what he calls “the uninterrupted tradition of the Roman Church” which “has always testified that the Apostle Peter, after his martyrdom in the Circus of Nero, was buried in the adjoining necropolis on the Vatican Hill”.

The Pope goes on to recount how the tomb “quickly became a place of pilgrimage for the faithful from every part of the Christian world”, and how, later, the Emperor Constantine erected the Basilica dedicated to St Peter over the site.

al place of the Apostle and later, in 1952, to the discovery, under the high altar of the Basilica, of a funerary niche attached to a red wall dated to the year 150 and covered with precious graffiti, including one of fundamental importance which reads, in Greek, Πετρος ενι (“Peter is here”). This contained bones that can quite reasonably be considered those of the Apostle Peter”. These relics are now enshrined in the necropolis under Saint Peter’s Basilica.

The nine fragments

In his letter, Pope Francis describes how Pope Saint Paul VI had nine fragments removed and placed in (Gift continued) the private chapel of the papal apartment in the Apostolic Palace. The nine fragments were placed in a bronze case bearing an inscription which reads: “Bones found in earth beneath the Vatican Basilica considered to be those of Blessed Peter the Apostle”.

“It was this same case, containing nine fragments of the bones of the Apostle”, writes Pope Francis, “that I desired to present to Your Holiness and to the beloved Church of Constantinople over which you preside with such devotion”.

The gift of Patriarch Athenagoras

Pope Francis shares how he “reflected on our mutual determination to advance together towards full communion”, and how he “thanked God for progress made since our predecessors met over fifty years ago”.

The Pope says he thought of the gift that Patriarch Athenagoras gave to Pope Paul VI: “an icon depicting the brothers Peter and Andrew embracing, united in faith and in love of their common Lord”.

This icon, concludes Pope Francis, has become “a prophetic sign of the restoration of that visible communion between our Churches to which we aspire and for which we fervently pray and work”.
