We lift up to the Lord those who have died. We pray for those who struggle with disease, illness, grief or addiction, especially Adelio Martinez, Lorena Vasquez and Joe Koenen. We are especially grateful for those who feed, house and clothe the world, and those who labor selflessly for our safety, growth and well being, including our catechists, first responders and military. May we always value the well-being of all our brothers and sisters in faith of greater import than material possessions.

From Deacon John...

Today Jesus speaks of two things that lead to an increase in faith. The first is the reminder that even a little faith will enable wondrous things. The second is a caution about accepting one's appropriate place in God's scheme. Disciples are servants to his plans. When God works wonders through our mustard seed-sized faith, we must not seek praise. The work we do is our obligation to God as faithful stewards. Yet through faith, what is offered in service can produce a hundredfold.

Hoy Jesús habla de dos cosas que conducen a un aumento en la fe. El primero es el recordatorio de que incluso un poco de fe permitirá cosas maravillosas. La segunda es una advertencia sobre aceptar el lugar apropiado en el esquema de Dios. Los discípulos son sirvientes de sus planes. Cuando Dios obra maravillas a través de nuestra fe del tamaño de una semilla de mostaza, no debemos buscar alabanzas. El trabajo que hacemos es nuestra obligación con Dios como mayordomos fieles. Sin embargo, a través de la fe, lo que se ofrece en el servicio puede multiplicarse por cien.

Question of the Week

Week Twenty Seven – Luke 17:5-10

Key Passage: "The apostles said to the Lord, "Increase our faith." The Lord replied, "If you have faith the size of a mustard seed, you would say to this mulberry tree, 'Be uprooted and planted in the sea,' and it would obey you. When you have done all you have been commanded say, 'We are unprofitable servants; we have done all we were obliged to do.'"

Question for adults: What are we actually obliged to do if believe we have faith?

Question for children: If you believe in God, why do you want to be good?

Pregunta de la Semana

27ª Semana--Lucas 17:5-10

Pasaje Crucial: Los apóstoles dijeron al Señor: "Auméntanos la fe". El Señor les contestó: "Si tuvieran fe, aunque fuera tan pequeña como una semilla de mostaza, podrían decir a ese árbol frondoso: 'Arráncate de raíz y plántate en el mar', y los obedecería. Cuando hayan cumplido todo lo que se les mandó, digan: 'No somos más que siervos, sólo hemos hecho lo que teníamos que hacer'."

Pregunta para los adultos: ¿Qué estamos obligados a hacer si tenemos fe?

Pregunta para los niños: Si usted cree en Dios, ¿por qué quieres ser bueno?

Indian ambassador to Holy See:

Mahatma Gandhi still relevant today

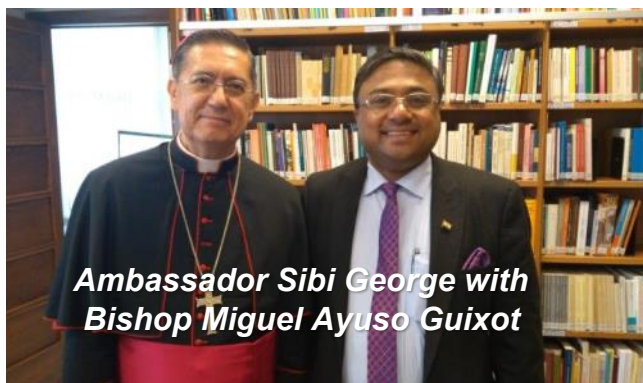

By Robin Gomes, October 1, 2019

The world marks Mahatma's Gandhi's 150th birth anniversary on October 2. On the eve, the Ambassador of India to the Holy See, Mr. Sibi George, participated in a day-long inter-faith event in the Vatican.

VATICAN CITY (VNS) The 150th birth anniversary of Mahatma Gandhi is being celebrated with events and programs on Wednesday, 2 October, not only in India but also by governments, organizations and people non-violence and non-cooperative methods are US civil rights leader, Martin Luther King Jr., and former South African President, Nelson Mandela.

The appeal of Gandhi is so great that the United Nations General Assembly on June 15, 2007, established the International Day of Non-Violence on Gandhi's birthday on October 2. With this, the UN reaffirmed "the universal relevance of the principle of non-violence" and the desire "to secure a across the world. It is proof that the message and values of the man, regarded by many as the father of the Indian nation, are greatly cherished and valued even today, more than 70 years after his death.

Born on October 2, 1869, at Porbandar in Gujarat, Mohandas Karamchand Gandhi, the lawyer-turned-activist successfully led India's freedom movement against British rule, adopting non-violent resistance. Gandhi, who was given the title "Mahatma" ("Great Soul") by Indian Noble Laureate Rabindranath Tagore, was assassinated on January 30, 1948 in Delhi, at the age of 78. Gandhi has been the inspiration for civil rights and social change across the world. Among the greats of our times who adopted his philosophy of

On Tuesday, the eve of Gandhi's 150th birth anniversary, the Vatican's Pontifical Council for Interreligious Dialogue organized a day-long inter-faith event in the Vatican on Gandhi on the theme: "Fraternal Love and Non-violence for Global peace and harmony."

Among the several speakers was the Ambassador of India to the Holy See, Mr. Sibi George. He spoke to Vatican News explaining that the message and values of Gandhi are very relevant even today.

He highlighted the fact that the establishment of the International Day of Non-Violence by the United Nations General Assembly on Gandhi's birthday, October 2, by a unanimous (Relevant continued...) vote in 2007, speaks volumes about the relevance of "his teachings and his principles".

The Indian ambassador also said that principles of Gandhi and what he stood for are much in tune with the teachings of the popes, including Pope Francis, especially against the use of violence and the need for peace and harmony in the world.

In this regard, he picked out a message of Mahatma Gandhi, which he and many others read about in school text books and grew up with as children. It is called Gandhi's "talismán" to the world. The talismán says that whatever be a person's status or position in life, when he or she comes across doubts making decisions, he or she should think about whether that decision will benefit the poorest and the weakest person he or she has come across in life. If the decision benefits the poor person, then one should take that direction.

The Indian ambassador said that this is the message of the ancient Sanskrit Hindu phrase, "Vasudhaiva Kutumbakam", which means "the world is one family". "Every individual, irrespective of his status in society, irrespective of the position he holds, everybody is important," George said. "And any decision we take, should have a positive impact on the people."
