We lift up to the Lord those who have died. We pray for those who struggle with disease, illness, grief or addiction, especially Adelio Martinez, Lorena Vasquez and Joe Koenen. We are especially grateful for those who feed, house and clothe the world, and those who labor selflessly for our safety, growth and well being, including our catechists, first responders and military. May we always value the well-being of all our brothers and sisters in faith of greater import than material possessions.

From Deacon John...

Jesus, on a journey to Jerusalem, heals 10 lepers, a lesson that reminds us faith is sometimes found in unlikely places. Ten people ask Jesus for healing. Struck with pity, he heals all 10. However, only one returns glorifying God and thanking Jesus. The one is a Samaritan, a foreigner, a man held in low regard by the Jews. All 10 of the lepers were given the human gift of healing, but in his gratitude, the Samaritan found divine salvation. Our salvation lies in knowing to whom to offer our thanks.

Jesús, en un viaje a Jerusalén, sana a 10 leprosos, una lección que nos recuerda que la fe a veces se encuentra en lugares poco probables. Diez personas le piden a Jesús sanidad. Sin embargo, solo uno regresa glorificando a Dios y agradeciendo a Jesús. El primero es un samaritano, un extranjero, un hombre al que los judíos desprecian. Los 10 leprosos recibieron el don humano de curación, pero en su agradecimiento, el samaritano encontró la salvación divina. Nuestra salvación radica en saber a quién ofrecer nuestro agradecimiento.

Te Esperamos

October is Respect Life Month.

This year's theme, "Christ Our Hope: In Every Season of Life," brings a message of hope that the Gospel of Life presents to us is desperately needed in our society. May the Spirit guide us in our protection of the dignity of each human life. Please contact Father Paul Clark, moderator of the diocesan Pro-Life Ministry, with questions at frclark@ourladyoflourdes.org.

Struck with pity, Jesus heals all 10. However, only one is described as glorifying God and returning to thank Jesus. The one who returns is a Samaritan, a foreigner. It is significant, that Jesus commends the Samaritan, a man held in low regard by the Jews, for his faith, which has been his salvation. Throughout Luke's Gospel, faith is found in surprising places. Another lesson has to do with salvation. All 10 of the lepers were given the human gift of healing, but in his gratitude to God for this gift, the Samaritan found divine salvation. Our salvation lies in knowing to whom to offer our thanks.

President of Vatican Bank: Reforms have completely renewed the IOR

By Vatican News, October 10, 2019

Italy's national business daily, "Il Sole 24 Ore", publishes a wide-ranging interview with the President of the Institute for the Works of Religion (IOR), or the Vatican Bank.

VATICAN CITY (VNS) Jean-Baptiste Douville de Franssu has been President of the Institute for the Works of Religion, or the Vatican Bank, since July 2014. This is his first interview since being appointed.

specials applying the law, and complying with their obligation to report anomalies found during daily operations. The President also specifies how "there is no attack on the FIA, nor even on the Secretariat of State". No individuals or offices are under accusation, he says. The report was made against unknown persons for the protection of the institutions. The judiciary is currently investigating. "An element that must be taken for granted", he adds, is that "presumption of innocence always applies".

Renewal of IOR

Commenting on the IOR's membership of the SEPA circuit (Single Euro Payments Area), de Franssu explains: "Today's IOR is completely renewed compared to just a few years ago, in terms of governance, internal controls, professional expertise available and services provided to customers. The results are satisfactory and today's objective is to continue, refine and perfect what has been done, especially for the benefit of customers. The reform, understood as constant improvement, continues. The direction of transparency and legality is never abandoned, never. And the customer is fully protected by our work".

Mission of IOR

Responding to a question about the mission of the Institute for the Works of Religion, the President explains: "The mission remains that of being at the service of the Church

Reform of IOR

Together with the Director General of the IOR, Gian Franco Mammi, and under the supervision of the Commission of Cardinals, De Franssu has been carrying forward the reform of the Institute, as requested by Pope Francis: reforms that have brought the Institute into conformity with international norms and practices.

Vatican investigation

In the interview, the President of the IOR speaks about the recent investigation by the Vatican Judiciary that led to the suspension of four employees of the Secretariat of State and the Director of the Financial Intelligence Authority (FIA), even though the interview was agreed upon before the case broke.

He explains that the investigation is not the result of internal tensions, but simply the action of public offi-

(Bank continued) throughout the world. Let us not forget that with a single headquarters and a staff of just over 100 people, the IOR reaches 112 countries and that often, in geopolitically critical areas, lacking reliable and efficient financial services, it is the only reference for the Congregations that operate on the territory".

The work of the IOR

De Franssu denies any intention of changing the name of the IOR, and explains why religious Congregations can entrust the management of their savings to the Institute: first of all because "we respect the principles of the Catholic faith and the Social Doctrine of the Church".

Secondly, "because our earnings (for 2018 profit of 17.5 million, ed.) go to the pastoral work of the Pope. It is therefore useful to reiterate that when a Congregation, or a client, works with the IOR, it makes a direct and concrete financial contribution to the work of the Holy Father and not to the exclusively economic logic typical of a bank".

The President of the IOR concludes with a reference to the quality of Bank's services, to its very low costs and to the ethical grids of its investments, saying they are "ever more accurate and complete to guarantee maximum adherence to ethical and Catholic principles"
