"Did you know"

Did you know that at every funeral Mass it is a custom of the Church to gather the family and the body of their loved one at the back of the Church, near the doors? This practice is kept today as a reminder of the person's baptism. After the sign of the crossbar the usual greeting the priest or deacon says, "In the waters of baptism N died with Christ and rose with Him to new life, now may he/she share with Him eternal glory." The presider even wears white vestments recalling the person's baptism, because it is at baptism that all of us are grafted on to Christ. And so it is the Church's hope that everyone know and accept Christ's hopeful promise for the dead, because it is the promise of everlasting life for all of us who entrust ourselves to God's love."

- Fr. Daniel

Dear family,

I usually don't look at bumper stickers because they tend to be predictable, always the usual political or religious agendas, which is how some choose to express their opinions. But rarely do I find one that sticks in my mind, that actually grabs and holds my attention. However, on one occasion I saw a bumper sticker that said "Remember who you are." Today our blessed Lord gives us such empowering words concerning the nature of our mission in building up His kingdom. Based on the images He uses today, we get the sense that our job is to bring out a sense of worth, mission and goodness already present in the world. Comparing us to salt, which bring out flavour and light, which illuminates to reveal the already present, we are given a mission as God's Church to go into the world and remind all creatures who they are and what they are about. I realize now in my priesthood that this is some of the most powerful work the Church can engage in, each is us using our gifts to further the cause. Some of the best kept secrets as are God's love, our dignity, the joy of the Gospel and God's call to reconciliation and forgiveness. Let's make a first resolve to know our faith well and use whatever inspires us to inspire others to action and to living their faith.

In His joy,
Rev. Fr. Daniel J. Gutierrez
