Dear family,

Long before we had the term “blended families,” the Holy Family was “blended.” That is to say, it was a family that was united by so much more than blood. Joseph was the father figure, but not biologically Jesus’ father. Mary & Joseph shared a marriage that was anything but usual or the norm. We might even say that their marriage was set up to fail by conventional standards in that at one point very early on, Joseph considered divorcing Mary. This family was also extraordinary in one pivotal way, they had Jesus as their center! They allowed God’s will and presence among them to guide their actions and major decisions. The Holy Family are the perfect example of how ordinary people finding themselves against extraordinary odds, can successfully find balance and maintain love when God and His ways are made priority. The hope that Jesus brings us at Christmas is not a hope for storybooks, but a real hope for real people who struggle. This Christmas is a good time for parents to renew the place Jesus has in their home. Jesus, Mary, & Joseph, bless us! In His Joy, Father Daniel
