Father's Housekeeping

From now until the beginning of Lent, I will not be taking any appointments. This is precious time that will be used to concentrate on the "internal affairs" of the parish. Sacramental emergencies will be the only exception to this rule. Thank you for understanding how valuable this time is to get to issues that are usually placed on the back burner.

Then concerning emergencies. If there is a sacramental emergency and someone needs a priest, then one should call the office during working hours. After these hours or at other times, please call the emergency line on the front of the bulletin. Of course, the best way to prepare, if possible, is to request an anointing scheduled when your loved one is seriously ill. We do not have to wait until those we love are facing possible death to get them anointed. Sometimes, it cannot be helped or tragic events happen, but let's be responsible about our faith, especially since the sacrament never fades and be vigilant about living the sacraments. Know that I am more than happy to serve you and appreciate your faith.—Fr. Daniel

On January 23rd at 6:30pm we are calling all readers to meet in the Church. In this new year we will make some changes to enhance our proclamation of the word. Let us gather for prayer and instruction for the glory of God and the faith of the people we serve.

CONTRIBUTION REPORTS

Income tax time is here and we are here to help you. If you are a registered parishioner, receiving envelopes and are needing a contribution report for 2017, please call the office to request one.

It will take a few days for the office staff to prepare these. We will call you as they become available.

Thank you for your continued generosity to your Parish

Dear family,

What is God calling you to do with your life? How about your family members? Your children? Many still think as I used to: a vocation is only for holy people, people with their lives together. To that, I give you the words of a wise vocation director: "God does not call the qualified, He qualifies those who He calls." In our Old Testament Reading and in Our Gospel we see God calling people to His service. These were not people who were expecting a call and they certainly had no idea what answering that call would entail. Also, with both Samuel and the Apostles, they would not always "get it right." They would stray, turn their backs on God, and question their vocations several times. Yet, God called them anyway. He sought them to give their lives and knew their potential that was hidden from others or ignored all-together.

Also, important are the people who helped them discern God's calling. In each case (Eli & John the Baptist), there was someone who pointed the way and encouraged them to listen to God. This role of the one who encourages and supports those trying to discern and follow God's will for their lives is of the utmost importance. Or maybe looking at it in a negative light: the one(s) who discourage or are unsupportive of those seeking God's will can do quite a bit of damage. In the end, only God's will is going to make anyone truly happy, why would we inhibit anyone from attaining true happiness. Pray for and support vocations!

In his joy, Fr. Daniel
