The Sacrament of Reconciliation: Return to me with your whole heart
As Catholics, we seek the grace of God in the sacrament of reconciliation. Here we approach God in our sorrow, confess our sins, are given means to mend our ways through penance. On Thursday, March 10 at 7:00 PM, we will celebrate the sacrament of Reconciliation at St. Hubert Parish. This is our Lenten Communal Reconciliation service with an opportunity for individual confession. It is meaningful to be in one another’s presence to celebrate the Sacrament of Reconciliation because we are reconciled to both God and community.

Whether you regularly receive the sacrament of reconciliation or have been away for a long time or this is your first time, remember the call to holiness on Ash Wednesday. God waits for our return and will again relent. Keep in mind, that if you are without serious sin and participate in the Eucharist, this is a means of forgiveness of lesser sin.

Some may hesitate to take this opportunity for Reconciliation because it has been a while since their last confession. Some may be unfamiliar with “how to go to confession.” Others may be fearful of confessing their sins to a priest, or even question why this is necessary. Though you or someone you know may have had a poor experience in the past, priests recognize their role as an encounter with God’s unconditional mercy and that of a forgiving community.

So, what does the Rite of Reconciliation look like and how do I go to individual confession?
Communal Reconciliation liturgy is celebrated with the Liturgy of the Word. An examination of conscience and individual confession follows, concluding with a song of praise for God’s mercy and blessing.

The sacrament has 4 parts:
1. The priest “receiving” or hearing the penitent’s sorrow. In making the sign of the cross, I say “I am sorry for all my sins” (You may want to let the confessor know how long it’s been since your last confession or if it is your first confession.
2. Then, confession, naming what you are repenting—what is it that has separated you from your relationship with God and others. We call this sin. And you wish to repent from sin and change this behavior.
3. When this is expressed to the confessor (priest), he would help you toward your desire for conversion or give suggestions for making amends. This is called penance.
4. The priest/confessor extends hands and says a prayer offering absolution or forgiveness of sin. Before being dismissed, you may thank your confessor and he may send you with an invitation to “go in God’s peace.”

JUBILEE OF MERCY

No matter what our intellectual gifts are—great or perhaps not so great—we are all learners. We are all disciples, and the word itself means “learners.” In mercy and with generosity, we help others learn when we teach and advise them. “Whoever does [these commandments] and teaches them will be called great in the kingdom of heaven.” (Matthew 5:19)

PRAY FOR...

3rd SUNDAY OF LENT
3rd Sunday of Lent
"But I tell you, if you do not repent, you will all perish as they did!" Who wants to repent? Who wants to change habits, make sacrifices, or chart a more challenging course? Repentance isn't the easy road. Few of us are naturally drawn towards it. Perhaps that's why Jesus had to speak with such boldness in today's Gospel. Repent, or perish. Change, or suffer and die. Not what we like to hear. Not what we like to do. But we would be foolish not to listen.

The entire Gospel message is certainly one of mercy and compassion. Jesus was the first to show forgiveness to sinners, and he always called others to do the same. He suffered and died so that WE wouldn't have to suffer eternal death. But the fact remains that we can still CHOOSE to "perish." We can choose to stay rooted in our favorite sins and to cling tightly to the comfortable vices that stifle a virtuous life. When we won't let go of them, then we don't truly repent. But Jesus urges us to change so that we can enjoy the eternal benefits of his mercy. He doesn't want us to perish! As we hear in today's psalm, "He redeems your life from destruction, crowns you with kindness and compassion." Repenting--turning back to God--puts us in the right position for this spiritual coronation.

Lent is a time especially built for repentance. It is a season that calls us not only to recognize where we need to change, but to actually set those changes into motion. Lent isn't just a pious liturgical ritual. These forty days are a response to Christ's stern warning that we need to repent in order to save our souls. Let's not pretend to be exempt from the message. Lent is meant for ALL of us.

Everyday Stewardship
What happens when people are allowed to do anything they want without any repercussions? A monster is created. Have you seen the parents who never correct or chastise their children? How about the person who keeps bullying others without anybody standing up to him? Then there are institutions like banks and corporations that continually scam the public without even so much as getting a slap on the wrist! The problem is a lack of accountability. Also, unfortunately, without accountability a person has no chance of changing.

In a Year of Mercy, certainly this is the time to give people the opportunity to repent and change. But oftentimes without a person or community that holds them accountable, people never find the incentive to change. Even after one is held accountable, there should be assistance in trying to turn over a new leaf and become better.

Being accountable is a primary characteristic of an Everyday Steward. We must always be willing to accept that we just might be like a fig tree that is bearing no fruit. The good news is that if we are willing to have that pointed out to us, we have the chance to change. A stewardship way of life is not easy and it does not happen overnight. At times, we will find ourselves in need of good gardening tactics involving fertilization and watering. The sad reality is that we live in a world, and even sometimes a church, where accountability is seen as harsh or judgmental. However, we let ourselves and others down by not helping each other see the reality of our actions. Would you want to be that fruitless fig tree that gets cut down without a chance to grow? That would be really harsh. Let's help one another to be the best stewards and disciples we can be.

Please help—it only take a few minutes!
Every 30 seconds someone counts on Catholic Charities for help. We are now asking for your help. Please lend your voice to advocate for the State of Illinois to end its budget stalemate and pass a budget that cares for the poor and most vulnerable in our communities. Catholic Charities is currently owed more than $25 million by the State of Illinois — a number that grows by at least $2 million per month. Please take time today to call your state elected officials with this simple message, “I am a voter in your district. I am contacting you on behalf of the poor and vulnerable people who depend on our state’s safety net of human services, especially the more than 1 million people served by Catholic Charities of the Archdiocese of Chicago.” If you do not know who your state representative and senator are, please call the State Board of Elections at (217) 782-4141 or visit www.elections.il.gov and click on “New District/ Official Search.” You can find more information and a template advocacy letter at www.CatholicCharities.net on the homepage.

All those who have sinned against you are like the fig tree in Jesus' parable. If you have access to them, he wants you to till their soil and fertilize their souls with love and with the Gospel as taught by your actions and, when they're ready, by your words.

Notice that Jesus doesn't want us to keep a diseased, disintegrating tree in the garden forever. After (and only after) we have done everything possible, if the evil-doer does not want to change, the best care we can give to the garden is to cut down the tree. This means walking away or calling in the authorities for intervention and letting the sinner reap what he sows. This, too, is very loving. Fallen trees become mulch and enrich the ground for a new beginning.

Reflect & Discuss:

1. Who has been so hurtful that you wish God would punish them?

2. Can you feel sorry for them? Can you pray for God to do good for them? In the Sacrament of Reconciliation, ask for God's help in feeling more concerned about them. In this, you'll find freedom from the anger that has been holding you captive.

3. What steps can be taken to fertilize the lives of the problematic people of your parish or family?

4. How do you know when it's time to continue trying and when it's time to chop the tree down?

No person is an evil person. Evil-doers are children of God living in ignorance of their true identity. They are victims of evil and were seduced by it into believing that it's the best way to live. They don't understand that they can be healed by the Sinless One who conquered evil for their redemption.

We should feel sorry for them — this is the gift of mercy. We should mourn with Jesus for the tragedy that continues within their souls — this is the most precious gift of mercy.
Conversion begins with the act of falling in love. All miracles do. Only love does miracles, only it has the power to genuinely subvert the deepest ruts in our lives, to dehabituate us, moving us beyond the prison of our own selfishness. There is a lot of confusion about conversion. Mostly we associate it with the begrudging regret that fear forces upon us rather than with the genuine remorse that follows falling in love.

Let me illustrate with an example: The classical picture of a conversion story is usually that of the “death-bed” conversion: A man lives a long selfish life…wine, women and song! No church, no morality! And he enjoys it! Only the occasional prick of conscience disturbs him.

But this can only last for awhile. Alas, one day he is stricken ill. Suddenly his life flashes before his eyes, as does eternity, filling him with a deep fear and a deep regret. He realizes that this is the eleventh hour. He senses he is dying and does not want to face his creator. Choking on fear, he repents, converts. The priest is hastily summoned, a confession is heard. He dies peacefully; luckily inside God’s grace. We breathe a sigh of relief even as we secretly envy him for having had a fling and yet getting heaven.

However, her regret and tears are not because she is afraid of death or afraid of facing her creator. Her regret and tears stem from her knowledge of what her sin has done to her and to her new love. It has had her waste years, waste her love, damage her dignity, living away from her loved one, outside of the goodness and love which make up her love’s body, the body of Christ. She realizes, perhaps only unconsciously, that she has missed something. Whatsoever you bind on earth will be bound in heaven! She realizes that she has not been bound in heaven because she has not been bound, nor held, on earth.

There is in this story a genuine moment of conversion because there is a genuine falling in love. There is real repentance. In the light of the new love there is an entirely new understanding of life. There is, as well, a new enthusiasm for life. In Nietzsche’s famous phrase, there is a “transvaluation of values.” Everything is understood in a new way. This is the eleventh hour! In John of the Cross’ phrase, she is now “fired with love’s urgent longings.” She is dehabituated, born-again, empowered to live anew…and it is a miracle, a pure gift that only God’s spirit can produce. However, unlike the other conversion story, nothing is based on fear. There is, sure enough, a deep regret. But it is no longer the regret of the scared and defeated, the bitter regret of the man whose will is broken by force or death. It is the regret of the person who realizes that he has missed something precious. However, this falling in love is not a painless, perennially-painted-with-romance experience. There is more to rebirth than falling at the feet of a Billy Graham, falling in love with an attractive member of the opposite sex, or crying away guilt in a moment of charismatic fervor.

Rebirth means entering again the fetal darkness of the womb, allowing oneself to be gestated by love, and allowing love’s goodness to make a deep incision into one’s sickest parts. This is always a painful, excruciating experience. For this reason, many times, conversions do not last. The old world rises up and recaptures the new, the new wine breaks the old wineskins. The conversion is lost. When this happens then we have been to the eleventh hour, but have not repented. We return to exile, away from love’s body. As Soren Kierkegaard puts it: “When remorse awakens concern, whether it be in the youth or the old man, it awakens it always at the eleventh hour. It is not deceived by a false notion of a long life, for it is the eleventh hour. “And in the eleventh hour one understands life in a wholly different manner than in the days of youth or in the busy time of manhood or the final moments of old age. He who repents at any other hour of the day repents in the temporal sense.”

Falling in love is the eleventh hour. The miracle leading to repentance is only a tear away!

First graders put their math skills to good use while celebrating the 100th Day of School! Beginning in August, the students “counted on” by adding one link each day and eventually created a 100 day chain! Their completed chain was a useful tool that aided in creating a bar graph, counting by tens, and comparing numbers. It was so much fun to discover which month had the most amount of days and the least amount of days!!

In literacy this month, first grade has been implementing Close Reading strategies to develop their comprehension skills. Students investigated a short piece of text called “Martin’s Big Words” in honor of Martin Luther King Jr. Day. By using this story, students were able to dig deeper and analyze the meaning of the word “dream.” Students worked together in pairs to discuss the meaning of a dream, and what Martin Luther King’s dream was to him. As a culminating event, students made a dream quilt explaining their dreams for the future.

First grade delved into learning fascinating facts about polar bears in science! They created a KWL chart to assess their background knowledge of polar bears. The students listened to nonfiction books about these amazing animals and watched Discovery Education clips on polar bears. Then they made a model of a polar bear and compiled a polar bear book from the facts they learned. The book included a diagram of a polar bear, its habitat, what it eats, and how it lives in the Arctic cold. As a culmination, the students revisited their KWL chart to add new interesting facts they learned from reading and class discussions.

BAPTISMS

To register for Baptism, stop in or call the Parish Office. Parents must attend a Baptismal Preparation Meeting, which is held on the last Tuesday of each month at 7:30 PM. You may attend this parent meeting either before or after the baby is born.

Baptisms take place on the 2nd and 4th Sundays of the month at 1:30 PM or at Mass by arrangement. You will confirm the date for Baptism by attending the Baptism Preparation Meeting.

MARRIAGES

Please do not reserve your banquet hall before confirming the date with the church. Set your date by calling the Parish Office as early as possible as you plan your wedding—at least 6 months before the wedding. Weddings take place on Saturdays at 2:00 PM. Weekdays and Sundays must be arranged individually.

RECONCILIATION

Saturday after 4:30 PM Mass, or by appointment.

EUCHARIST FOR THE SICK AND HOMEBOUND

If there is anyone who would like to receive Eucharist at home, or if you know a friend, neighbor or family member who is homebound and would like a home visit to receive Eucharist, please call the Parish Ministry Center. One of our dedicated ministers will be glad to fulfill these requests.

SACRAMENT OF THE SICK

Please call the Parish Ministry Center Office to make arrangements for a priest to visit.
