Dear Friends,

Last week, the Holy Father announced a Pastoral Letter called “The Joy of Love.” If you go to the Archdiocesan website (www.archchicago.org), you can listen to Archbishop Cupich’s press conference on this topic. It seems clear that no change in doctrine has occurred. This pastoral letter includes how we deal with Catholics who are living in an irregular situation, whether they be divorced and remarried outside the Church, or in another civil union. We are reminded that conscience is supreme, which is not a new teaching; however, we must have an informed conscience, and not just do whatever we “feel like doing.” I suggest you read the document because it primarily expresses our wonderful theology of marriage and family life. The joy of love is the joy of the family and the joy of the Church.

I, along with our deacons, attended a meeting after Easter regarding the new annulment procedures initiated by Pope Francis. In general, some obvious cases can be expedited, and there will no longer be a court of appeals, which normally added about 2 to 3 months to the decision. Since this is all new, we don’t know how long the annulment process will take, but it will be a shorter period than previously experienced. Obviously, each case is different, so I would suggest that if you have any questions regarding annulments, you contact me or one of the deacons for further information.

This would be a good time to remind ourselves about Marriage and the teaching of our Church. We teach that marriage is created by God and governed by God’s laws. Marriage is the union between a man and a woman that is an unbreakable covenant/bond. However, certain requisites are essential for this covenant to be unbreakable and binding. An ecclesiastical declaration of nullity is a statement by the Roman Catholic Church that, after a thorough investigation into the facts of the marriage in question, it is not a binding union because the relationship fell short of at least one of the elements seen as necessary for a valid marriage.

Marriage is permanent, exclusive, and open to children. A person is free and capable of making a mature, informed decision and possesses the physical, psychological, and emotional ability necessary to live out the commitment. Our Church decision has no effect on one’s civil divorce and obligations. Moreover, children remain legitimate if a Declaration of Nullity is granted.

Clearly, this is a Canonical view of Marriage based on our Catholic theology. Pastorally and theologically, we would add that Marriage is a vocation, a calling from God to be the person we were created to be. One needs one’s spouse, and perhaps children, to reach this potential of being our best selves. We discover ourselves through Marriage, and because we are made in God’s image and likeness, we discover God.

During this Easter Season, I invite you to gaze and meditate on our side Bas-relief panels Explanations are given on the side wall or on page 24/25 in the tour book. Extras books are at the ministry station in the narthex.

We see the resurrection stories: the women at the tomb, Jesus appearing to Mary Magdalene, the eleven at table, the road to Emmaus, conversion themes with Paul and his Baptism, stoning of Stephen, the Ethiopian eunuch, the raising of Tabitha by Peter, and the basic wheat and grapes which remind us of Eucharist and moving from slavery of sin to Freedom in the risen Lord. Meditate on these Easter mysteries and see how present the risen Lord is to you.

JUBILEE OF MERCY PROMISE

When God promises us his mercy, he pledges himself. When he promises us his mercy, we can have assurance as we walk into an unknown future. If we cling to that promise, we will stand strong.

“[God] has shown the mercy promised to our ancestors… that we… might serve him without fear.” (Luke 1:72, 74)

LITURGY CORNER

4th Sunday of Easter
"Jesus said, 'My sheep hear my voice; I know them, and they follow me.' How blessed we are to be the "sheep" of such a Good Shepherd! Jesus promises that "I give them eternal life, and they shall never perish." When we follow the voice of our Shepherd, he leads us exactly where we want to go. But, of course, it's up to us to make sure that we recognize this voice.

In today's culture, many voices are competing for our attention. The voice of the media is a loud one, entering our homes and families through television, the Internet, print materials, and so on. We are also more and more a culture whose ears are literally filled with the voices of our favorite singers and the sounds of our personal playlists—the sight of people marching through their day with earphones blocking out other sounds is now a common sight. All of this has its appropriate place. We simply need to be sure that we don't allow these voices to become the primary ones in our lives.

To hear the voice of Jesus, we need to encounter his word in the Bible where he speaks to us loud and clear. We need to fill our ears with the message of the Gospel, to listen attentively to the prayers and preaching at Mass, and to "tune in" to the teaching of the Church and of the Holy Father, which is easily available to anyone these days through those same media outlets mentioned above.

All of these things will help us to stay close to our Shepherd, and to avoid going astray into regions where we might get lost in spite of ourselves. Jesus promises of those who hear his voice and follow him that, "No one can take them out of my hand." When we stay near the Lord, we can rest assured that he will fulfill his promises.

PARISHIONER SURVEY

Archbishop Cupich wants your input.

When Archbishop Cupich announced the “Renew My Church” initiative in January, he invited everyone in the Archdiocese of Chicago to participate in the process of revitalizing our parish communities. Please take time to respond to a survey designed to help Archbishop Cupich and the Archdiocese better understand the perspectives of Catholics across Cook and Lake Counties. The survey will be available beginning on Easter Sunday at:

www.archchicago.org/renew

We encourage you to complete the survey online. Paper copies will be available.

This Sunday's Gospel reading is short and to the point: Jesus, our Good Shepherd, is the only one we follow, the only one we can trust blindly.

Others who have authority in our lives might be good shepherds, but none of them are to be followed blindly, not even the best of them. We respect the positions of bishops, parish pastors, employers, teachers, parents, etc., but all make mistakes, all sin, all have incomplete understandings of the situations for which they're responsible. We must use the Holy Spirit's gift of discernment in each case so that we don't behave like dumb sheep inadvertently cooperating with decisions that grieve our Father God.

Only Jesus can be blindly trusted. Only Jesus is perfect and knows all, understands all, and never sins. Only Jesus can successfully make the right decisions all the time and lead us through the various situations of life without inadvertently cooperating with evil. Only Jesus can discern and implement a plan that's best for every person who's affected by the plan. Only Jesus can lead us closer and closer to heaven while guiding us through the pitfalls and dangers of the journey.

And it is only Jesus who can smile at our blunders when we stray from his plans, because he knows that we still really do love him and want to do what's right.

He knows how to implement a new plan that will steer us back into safe pastures. He compassionately holds onto us so that we don't wriggle away from the Father's hand forever.

Whenever we distrust anyone (ourselves included) we can safely trust that no matter what happens, Jesus is there, steadfastly guiding us and re-guiding us after we stray. Because we really do love him and want to do what's right, he is securing our safety, redeeming our mistakes, making good come from bad when we repent of our sins, and of course always making sure that we'll get home to heaven.

To be good sheep, all we have to do is cooperate with his guidance!

Reflect & Discuss:

1. How much do you trust yourself and your discernment of truth and your ability to stay on the path to heaven? Who else is difficult to trust right now?

2. What will you do this week to entrust these matters to Jesus?

3. When is it difficult to trust Jesus? Why is it so difficult?

4. Considering that past experiences with imperfect humans naturally cause us to distrust even Jesus, what helps you overcome this so that you can trust God?
Nothing is more evident than the existence of God – and nothing is more obscure. God is everywhere and yet it’s virtually impossible to imagine how God exists. Why?

If babies in the womb could talk, they could help us with this. A baby inside the womb cannot see its own mother or even imagine its mother’s existence not because the mother doesn’t exist, but because the mother so totally encompasses it. A baby must first be born to see its mother and form a picture of her.

That image can be helpful in our struggle both to believe in God and to believe in life after death.

We’re creatures of the senses. That’s our nature. We draw life through our physical senses, from what we can see, feel, touch, taste, and smell. Hence when we try to imagine anything, the pictures we draw are ultimately based upon what we’ve experienced through our senses. And so it’s hard for us to imagine and believe in a reality that’s totally beyond our present one. Our imaginations simply run dry.

We can imagine death because it’s physical, we’ve seen it, felt its bitterness, but we can’t imagine what life looks like beyond death. How can one picture “the resurrection of the body and life everlasting”?

And yet, that’s what we’re asked to do, imagine life after death, imagine the unimaginable, picture what cannot be pictured, and put our faith in something that goes beyond what our minds can think. How do we do that?

The analogy of a baby in the womb can be helpful: Imagine you could talk to a baby in the womb. Having never seen the light of this world, knowing only the confines and securities of the womb, the baby would, I suspect, be rather sceptical of your story of the existence of a world beyond the womb. You’d be hard pressed to convince it to believe both that outside of its mother’s womb there exists a world infinitely larger than what it is presently experiencing and that it is to its advantage to eventually be born into that immense world.

On the basis of everything it has experienced, the baby simply lacks the tools to imagine the world of which you are speaking. Unable to picture that world, it would have difficulty in believing in it and would struggle to let go of the world it knows, the womb.

If a baby in the womb possessed self-awareness, it would have to make a real act of faith to believe in life after birth. It would surely fear birth as much as we fear death.

In our fear of death, we are not unlike babies in the womb fearing birth. This world, for all its immensity and for all it offers, is just another womb, bigger than our mother’s womb, but ultimately still small and constricting in terms of its potential to offer full and eternal life.

And like babies in the womb, it’s virtually impossible for us to imagine life beyond our present experience. And so we clutch on to what we know, to what gives us life, our umbilical cord, our present life and its routines, and we fear everything that might loosen our grip on that. We fear life after death in the same way as a baby fears life after birth.

That’s because our situations are basically the same. We’re still in a womb, still being gestated, except now we call it aging. And inevitable is the day when a new pelvic thrust, death, will awaken, in the deep dark recesses of our minds and bodies, the memory of just such a push many years earlier. And, as years earlier, a dim passage will promise a new world and, just as the first time, we won’t have much say in the matter. We’ll have to trust that being born is what’s best for us.

To my mind, there are few things as helpful in understanding death as is the analogy of birth, except that it’s not an analogy. Seen through the eyes of faith, death is not like a birth, it is a birth: We’re initially born from our mothers’ wombs, into a seemingly large world, which for a time leaves us literally speechless. However, this seemingly immense world is, itself, limited and basically just another womb within which we are again being gestated and readied for birth into an even larger world which, I suspect, will, in its magnitude and beauty, leave us again mute.

And, just as initially we had to first be born before we could see our own mothers, so too we must first die, be born again, before we can see our true mother, God. After this second birth, just as after the first, we will lie open-mouthed and awe-struck before a beauty, magnitude, and love that we had never imagined.

Birth and death require the same act of faith, a trust that a fuller life and a more meaningful contact with the mother awaits us beyond the womb.

Culinary Skills Needed

Do you like to make desserts?
Do you have an amazing salad recipe you’d like to share?

The St. Hubert Funeral Ministry is hoping you’ll consider joining them by providing a side dish on the day of their luncheon. If cooking or baking is not your expertise, store purchased items are more than welcome. Normally we provide at least a two day notice, although sometimes due to circumstances it may just be a day. If you choose to join us, you will be contacted by one of our callers. We willingly take no for an answer if it doesn’t fit your schedule, and contact you for a different date. We do have a brochure highlighting our ministry on the kiosk in the narthex. This is definitely a ministry of compassion when a family suffers the loss of a loved one. It provides an atmosphere where families share thoughts and memories.

If you are able to help please contact Alberta Fuger at jfuger@sbcglobal.net or Kathy Krebs at kdkrebs@comcast.net. Be blessed!

Sacramental Life

Call the Parish Office 847-885-7700 for further questions or to make arrangements.

Baptisms

To register for Baptism, stop in or call the Parish Office. Parents must attend a Baptismal Preparation Meeting, which is held on the last Tuesday of each month at 7:30 PM. You may attend this parent meeting either before or after the baby is born.

Baptisms take place on the 2nd and 4th Sundays of the month at 1:30 PM or at Mass by arrangement. You will confirm the date for Baptism by attending the Baptism Preparation Meeting.

Marriages

Please do not reserve your banquet hall before confirming the date with the church. Set your date by calling the Parish Office as early as possible as you plan your wedding—at least 6 months before the wedding. Weddings take place on Saturdays at 2:00 PM. Weekdays and Sundays must be arranged individually.

Reconciliation

Saturday after 4:30 PM Mass, or by appointment.

Eucharist for the Sick and Homebound

If there is anyone who would like to receive Eucharist at home, or if you know a friend, neighbor or family member who is homebound and would like a home visit to receive Eucharist, please call the Parish Ministry Center. One of our dedicated ministers will be glad to fulfill these requests.

Sacrament of the Sick

Please call the Parish Ministry Center Office to make arrangements for a priest to visit.
