“But a Samaritan traveler who came upon him was moved with compassion at the sight.” - Lk 10:33

15TH SUNDAY IN ORDINARY TIME

JULY 10, 2016
Dear Friends,

As of July 1, I completed 11 years as your Pastor. As I indicated in a previous article, my term will end next June. Fortunately, we will have the luxury of an assigned priest at that time, so that we can work for a smooth transition before he becomes the Pastor in the fall of 2017 or beginning of 2018. In some ways it seems like I am still new to St. Hubert, in other ways it seems like I have been here forever.

In addition to the hundreds of parishioners who happily volunteer to participate in a ministry, we have been blessed with a wonderful staff and great deacons. There has been no turnover in staff for at least 10 years and most have been here longer than I. Clearly, our parish could not be the thriving parish it is without their ministry. I am deeply grateful to them and to all of our parishioners for their support and generosity with time, talent, and treasure.

As a parish, we have been blessed with many faith-filled and generous people. Unfortunately, we have had a paucity of bequests throughout the years. Many parishes supplement their Sunday donations with bequests, which help our budget and loan payment.

First, I encourage you to have a will, perhaps a trust, power of attorney, and one for health care. I know that we don’t like to think or talk about these things, but it is imperative for us to deal with this reality while we are still able. Spiritually, it is God’s way of reminding us that we have to continually surrender as we prepare to die. Paradoxically, when we face this issue of our mortality, we are then able to live more fully and enjoy life.

Secondly, I invite you to consider having a discussion with family members about funeral arrangements. Since I deal with families all the time, I see how many people wait until the last minute to be anointed, (and a priest may not be available), or family members who don’t have a clue as to what their love one wanted regarding the funeral Mass, funeral home, cemetery and other arrangements. When proper planning is done, it makes it much easier for the bereaved family to mourn and pray during the funeral process, rather than spend many hours trying to figure out what to do.

Finally, I encourage you to leave something for St. Hubert in your will or trust. If you would consider leaving just 5% of your assets to the parish it would help us tremendously with our $4 million budget and outstanding loan of $2.6 million.

Reaching out and extending your blessings beyond your own life is an intrinsic part of good stewardship. In addition to providing tax benefits for your estate, remembering the church in your will or trust can help accomplish several goals to further God’s kingdom here at St. Hubert.

This gift does not jeopardize current financial security, it will help support underfunded ministries, expand our mission and outreach and reduce taxes on your estate.

If you have any questions about this, you can contact me or our business manager, Teresa McCutchan.

I hope that you are enjoying the summer.

Rev. Robert C. Rizzo

15th Sunday in Ordinary Time

"He replied to him, 'You have answered correctly; do this and you will live.'" In today's Gospel a scholar questions Jesus about how to gain eternal life. In case anyone ever wonders whether heaven is within reach, one only needs to refer to this Gospel. Jesus provides a clear answer that gives us a clear plan of action: We are to love God with all that we are, and also to love our neighbors. Really, it's that simple.

The scholar, however, complicated things to make himself look better. Instead of accepting the simplicity of Jesus' instruction, he wanted to split hairs, asking, "And who is my neighbor?" Jesus replied with the story of the Good Samaritan—and the lesson that our neighbors are not just those we know or love. Rather, our neighbor is the person that needs our help, the person whom we would rather ignore, the person whom God puts in our path. In short, everyone is our neighbor and we are called to treat everyone with mercy. This is part of how we gain eternal life, but this flows from the first element of Jesus' answer. First and foremost, Jesus instructs us to love God "with all your heart, with all your being, with all your strength, and with all your mind." When we love God in this way, truly as the Lord of our life, then loving our neighbors becomes the easy part. When our hearts and minds are full of the love of God, who loves all people, then it will necessarily follow that we too will desire to share that love with others and not count the cost.

The Good Samaritan is an excellent example of this kind of love. Without hope of repayment, he gave of his time and his money to help the poor victim. But in return, the Samaritan will surely "gain eternal life."

Everyday Stewardship

What does it mean to give of yourself completely, without reservation, without fear, and without a concern for the cost? Should it matter if the person who needs us is unlike us in skin color, religion, or nationality? What does real mercy look like?

Jesus answered these questions beautifully in perhaps the greatest of the stewardship parables, the story of the Good Samaritan. Here a Judean traveler has been attacked, beaten, and left for dead on the side of the road. Others see him, but the cost to them to stop and help is too great. It is a Samaritan, one who is despised by most in the area, that stops, and he gives of his time, talent, and treasure to help the poor victim.

Where the Samaritan was going we cannot know for sure, but he stopped to give his time to the beaten man. Using oil and wine, he bandaged the wounds. Not everyone has the knowledge and skills to care for someone in this manner. Here, he gave of his talent. Then he placed the man on his own animal and carried him to an inn the rest of the day. The following day he pays the innkeeper, yet leaves explaining that if the payment is not enough, when he travels back on through he will repay him whatever the cost. Of course, here he shares his treasure.

The sharing of these things is profound enough, but it is the statement of his willingness to pay whatever the balance is that elevates this tale to an ultimate example of stewardship. The Samaritan does not care how high the cost. He will give whatever is needed. This is mature discipleship, to respond to the call of Jesus Christ regardless of the cost. This is true stewardship.

Welcome to America Pack
St. Hubert Parish is sponsoring a “Welcome to America” pack to help a refugee family get a warm welcome when they arrive. We will be collecting and delivering all the basic household items a family needs to turn an apartment into a home.

How can you help?
- If you are donating an item, please return items the weekend of July 17th.
- Give a monetary donation. Cash or check made to St. Hubert to be used to purchase additional items. Please mark donations Refugee Welcome Pack.
- Donate a gift card, Ventra card, or roll of quarters. Gift cards to Aldi, CVS, Payless, Walmart, etc. are helpful too.
- Volunteer to help. We'll need help moving the donations, help with delivering them to the apartment, or welcoming the family to their new home. Contact Stephanie at 847-885-7700, ext. 114 or youthministry@sainthubert.org to volunteer or if you have questions.

NEW EUCHARISTIC MINISTERS TRAINING
A training session for anyone interested in becoming a Eucharistic Minister is scheduled for Wednesday, July 20th in the church building. There are 2 opportunities to attend on this day: 4:30—6:00 PM or 7:00—8:30 PM.

This session is required for all who wish to distribute the Eucharist at Mass or to the homebound on a regular basis. The Church requires that Extraordinary Ministers of Communion be fully Initiated—have already received Baptism, Confirmation, and Eucharist and be in good standing with the Church. The Archdiocese of Chicago strongly recommends that ministers be at least 16 years old; we maintain this policy here at St. Hubert.

If you have questions or would like to discuss anything about this ministry, please contact Yvonne Cassa at y.cassa@sainthubert.org or 847-885-7700, ext. 107. There is no need to register, just show up at church! You can also attend training as part of your discernment in choosing a ministry.

The Response of the Gospel of Mercy

“The war in Syria has killed as many as 250,000 Syrians, and has uprooted more than 11 million people. Children, who make up more than half of Syrian refugees in the Middle East, are paying the heaviest price: many have witnessed violence and the loss of homes or loved ones; the vast majority have been out of school for years.”

JUBILEE OF MERCY

DO

Living in the mercy of God means much more than thinking or talking about it. We live God’s mercy when we do something that brings mercy to others. “Which of these three . . . was neighbor to the man?” He said, “The one who showed him mercy.” Jesus said to him, “Go and do likewise.” (Luke 10:35–37)

The opposite of love is not hate. It’s apathy, ignoring a need, not caring, and doing nothing when there is something we can do to relieve the suffering. In Luke 10:25-37, Jesus uses the Parable of the Good Samaritan to explain that if we love God with our whole heart, our whole being, our whole strength, and our whole mind, we naturally care about other people, even those who are strangers, even those whom we’re “not supposed to” like, and even when it costs us something personally.

Many of the problems that exist in our world today are allowed to continue because too many of us Christians — who through Christ have the power to change the world — do not care enough to sacrifice our time and personal agendas to get involved. Much of the suffering that’s endured in our families and workplaces and parishes would be stopped or relieved if enough Christians loved God enough to care about others enough to risk the cost of intervening.

How much do you love God? The answer lies in how much you’re willing to sacrifice for the sake of loving others, which is the definition of love that Jesus taught us with this parable and with his life.

None of us love God perfectly yet. Purgatory will be a time of painfully regretting our lack of love, while eagerly improving our love for others so we can enter into the fullness of God’s love in heaven. Until then, we have daily opportunities, here and now, to purify our lives less painfully. Daily we’re given tests to improve how well we love others.

So daily ask the Holy Spirit, your source of holiness, to help you become more like Christ. Ask the Holy Spirit to help you love all others as Christ loves them.

By doing this spiritual exercise consistently, you will receive a new joy and an enlivened passion in dealing with others. You will feel greater love for God and you will experience his love for you much more intimately.

Reflect & Discuss:

1. Whom do you pass by and ignore when you see suffering? Is there anyone you’ve recently walked away from because you didn’t want to give up something (perhaps your time, pride, prejudice, feeling of inadequacy, resentment or unforgiveness)? Take it to the Sacrament of Confession to receive God’s help in loving others more fully.

2. Name a “Good Samaritan” you know or have read about. What did this person give up to serve others? How do such people find the ability to love so well?

3. Describe a situation you’ve witnessed where apathy has contributed to someone’s suffering. How could love make a difference?

Haste is our enemy. It puts us under stress, raises our blood pressure, makes us impatient, renders us more vulnerable to accidents and, most seriously of all, blinds us to the needs of others. Haste is normally not a virtue, irrespective of the goodness of the thing towards which we are hurrying.

In 1970, Princeton University did some research with seminary students to determine whether being committed to helping others in fact made a real difference in a practical situation. They set up this scenario: They would interview a seminarian in an office and, as the interview was ending, ask that seminarian to immediately walk over to a designated classroom across the campus to give a talk. But they always put a tight timeline between when the interview ended and when the seminarian was supposed to appear in the classroom, forcing the seminarian to hurry. On the way to the talk, each seminarian encountered an actor playing a distressed person (akin to the Good Samaritan scene in the gospels). The test was to see whether or not the seminarian would stop and help. What was the result?

One would guess that, being seminarians committed to service, these individuals might be more likely to stop than most other people. But that wasn’t the case. Being seminarians seemed to have no effect on their behavior in this situation. Only one thing did: They were prone to stop and help or to not stop and help mostly on the basis of whether they were in a hurry or not. If they were pressured for time, they didn’t stop; if they were not pressured for time, they were more likely to stop.

From this experiment its authors drew several conclusions: First, that morality becomes a luxury as the speed of our daily lives increases; and, second, that because of time pressures we tend not to see a given situation as a moral one. In essence, the more in a hurry we are, the less likely we are to stop and help someone else in need. Haste and hurry, perhaps more than anything else, prevent us from being good Samaritans.

We know this from our own experience. Our struggle to give proper time to family, prayer, and helping others has mainly to do with time. We’re invariably too busy, too pressured, too hurried, too-driven, to stop and help. A writer that I know confesses that when she comes to die what she will regret most about her life is not the times she broke a commandment, but the many times she stepped over her own children on her way to her den to write. Along similar lines, we tend to blame secular ideology for so much of the breakdown of the family in our society today when, in fact, perhaps the biggest strain of all on the family is the pressure that comes from the workplace that has us under constant pressure, forever in a hurry, and daily stepping over our children because of the pressures of work.

I know this all too well, of course, from my own experience. I am forever pressured, forever in a hurry, forever over-extended, and forever stepping over all kinds of things that call for my attention on my way to work. As a priest, I can rationalize this by pointing to the importance of the ministry. Ministry is meant to conscript us beyond our own agenda, but deeper down, I know that much of this is a rationalization. Sometimes too I rationalize my busyness and hurry by taking consolation in the fact that I came to be this way legitimately. It’s in my genes. Both my father and my mother exhibited a similar struggle. They were wonderful, moral, and loving parents, but they were often over-extended. Responding to too many demands is a mixed virtue.

It’s no accident that virtually all of the classical spiritual writers, writing without the benefit of the Princeton study, warn about the dangers of overwork. Indeed, the dangers of haste and hurry are already written into the very first page of scripture where God invites us to make sure to keep proper Sabbath. When we are in a hurry we see little beyond our own agenda.

The positive side to haste and hurry is that they are, perhaps, the opposite of acedia. The driven-person who is always in a hurry at least isn’t constantly struggling to get through the morning to the lunch hour. She always has a purpose. As well, haste and hurry can help make for a productive individual who is affirmed and admired for what he does, even as he is stepping over his own children to get to his workplace. I know this too: I get a lot of affirmation for my work, even as I have to admit that pressure and hurry prevent me much of the time from being a Good Samaritan.

Haste makes waste, so goes the saying. It also makes for a spiritual and a human blindness that can severely limit our compassion.

Sharing the Gospel

Jesus wants you to love your neighbors. He wants you to help your neighbors. You could help the people who live next door, or the people that go to your church. But Jesus wants you to think bigger than that. Jesus wants you to help people all around the world - no matter where they live, and no matter what they believe.

Prayer

Dear God, show me how to help others around the world.

Mission for the Week

Ask your parents if your family could give money to help the missions in another country.

One of the key traits employers are seeking is employees with flexibility. Changes in business and work requirements have placed a heavier burden on the workforce to be more resilient in day to day work. Kyra Cavanaugh, Career Coach will help us determine how we can show this trait in an interview and in our resume.

Resume Review
July 16, 9:00—11:00 AM
Church of the Holy Spirit
1451 Bode Road in Schaumburg, IL
Bring your resume for a one-on-one personal evaluation by one of six HR, Search, or Career Counselors who will be on hand to give you their thoughts and suggestions. Bring a friend.

Total Networking Night
July 25, 7:00—9:15 PM
Saint Hubert Ministry Center
729 Grand Canyon in Hoffman Estates, IL
This will be the third of four total networking evenings we’ll feature this year. This meeting will be entirely focused on networking. We will have three rounds of facilitated networking, with no featured career presentation. Bring plenty of Handbills, JIST cards and/or resumes to circulate, as you network with your elevator speech introduction.

SACRAMENTAL LIFE

Call the Parish Office 847-885-7700 for further questions or to make arrangements.

BAPTISMS

To register for Baptism, stop in or call the Parish Office. Parents must attend a Baptismal Preparation Meeting, which is held on the last Tuesday of each month at 7:30 PM. You may attend this parent meeting either before or after the baby is born.

Baptisms take place on the 2nd and 4th Sundays of the month at 1:30 PM or at Mass by arrangement. You will confirm the date for Baptism by attending the Baptism Preparation Meeting.

MARRIAGES

Please do not reserve your banquet hall before confirming the date with the church. Set your date by calling the Parish Office as early as possible as you plan your wedding—at least 6 months before the wedding. Weddings take place on Saturdays at 2:00 PM. Weekdays and Sundays must be arranged individually.

RECONCILIATION

Saturday after 4:30 PM Mass, or by appointment.

EUCHARIST FOR THE SICK AND HOMEBOUND

If there is anyone who would like to receive Eucharist at home, or if you know a friend, neighbor or family member who is homebound and would like a home visit to receive Eucharist, please call the Parish Ministry Center. One of our dedicated ministers will be glad to fulfill these requests.

SACRAMENT OF THE SICK

Please call the Parish Ministry Center Office to make arrangements for a priest to visit.
