Let's Talk About Domestic Violence

Sunday, October 9, 1:30—2:30 PM
Community Room – Lower Level of the Church

Domestic Violence harms the whole family.
Dear Friends,

A number of parishioners have asked why I have not had a letter for the last few weeks. I was pleasantly surprised to hear that some people noticed. In addition to the general office work, our server has been giving us some technological issues that have made it a bit difficult to do emails and some general office work. If you have sent any of our staff an email and have not received a response, please try again or call us to check if we have received it. We are working on correcting this situation.

I am very grateful to our Stewards who worked on another successful Taste of St. Hubert. It is amazing to see how God has brought all of us from different backgrounds and countries to this part of His vineyard. When we can appreciate our differences and realize again that we have much in common with our faith in Jesus Christ, we get a little closer to experiencing God’s Kingdom here on earth. Sharing our different foods and customs reminds us that most of us like to eat and try new foods. Putting all the ingredients together brings about a new dish. God does the same with us. He puts us all together so that new life comes about in Him. Thank you to all who participated in the Taste of St. Hubert.

October is Respect Life Month. Last week, we had a table in the narthex to remind us of life issues, especially during this Year of Mercy. This is also the month of the rosary. I suggest you pray the rosary so that we can respect life from the first moment of conception to natural death. This week, once again, we are calling attention to the issue of Domestic Violence. Someone from WINGS will speak after Communion at all the Masses today.

According to the National Domestic Violence Hotline, the statistics are staggering.

- More than 12 million women and men are victims of rape, physical violence, or stalking over the course of a year.
- 29% of women and 10% of men in the United States have experienced domestic violence in their lifetime.
- Nearly half of all women and men in the United States have experienced psychological aggression by an intimate partner in their lifetime.

Tragically, many victims of domestic violence suffer in silence because of fear, shame, or a desire to preserve their family or relationship. Meanwhile, this epidemic often remains hidden in plain sight within our communities.

Not just this month, but throughout our lives, we must promote the sanctity of all human life. We must support the dignity of every person.

After the 12:15 Mass today in the lower level of the church, our Outreach Ministry will provide a forum for us to learn more about the domestic violence services in our community. Check the cover of the bulletin and page 6 for details.

The Anointing of the Sick will be administered at the 6:00 Mass tonight. If you are unable to attend and wish to be anointed, please contact me.

28th Sunday in Ordinary Time

"Ten were cleansed, were they not? Where are the other nine?" Jesus had worked a miracle of healing for ten people afflicted with leprosy. They had cried out for him to have pity on them, and he did. But only one member of this group took the time to return to Jesus, fall at his feet, and thank him. Why?

Perhaps some were so busy rejoicing that they forgot to give thanks. Perhaps others thought they deserved to be healed and thus did not think in terms of gratitude for the miracle. Maybe some in the group weren't sure that the healing was going to last. Or, possibly, some of them were just selfish and lazy. Whatever the case, Jesus affirms the one man who does the right thing: "Stand up and go; your faith has saved you." Jesus thus establishes this Samaritan man as our example. We too are to glorify "God in a loud voice" for all that he has done for us.

So, what exactly has God done for us? What are the miracles in our lives that we have failed to notice, to believe, or to appreciate? Undoubtedly the answers will be different for everyone, with one main exception: we are all called to give thanks for the gift of life, of course. This is the first miracle God worked on our behalf! Bringing us into existence to live and love is a gift we might tend to take for granted. But surely, we can be thankful for more.

We would all do well to reflect on the multitude of God's gifts in our lives. Sometimes we have to pause long enough to think and recognize those things we should be grateful for. But a little effort in this regard is well worth it to avoid being like the ungrateful lepers. Instead, may we be the ones who give thanks where thanks is due.

Training Session for New Lectors Happening Soon!

Initial training for new lectors will take place on October 19th from 7:00-9:00 PM in the church. This training is for any adult or teen who wishes to be part of the Lector Ministry. Deacon Allen and Jim Elder facilitate the session. They bring to the evening a desire for drawing others to the lector ministry, an engaging, experiential training, and a love for God's word.

This session will explore what it means to be a lector and how it enriches our relationship with scripture. It will cover methods of preparing for reading scripture and skill-building, such as volume, eye contact, pausing, and phrasing. All of us have a gift. If you love the scripture and are able to read well publicly, please consider attending this training. This ministry offers a way to share your gifts and provides necessary training to grow as a lector. A workbook for preparation will be provided.

Eucharistic Adoration is a posture of love, the placing of oneself in the presence of our Lord Jesus Christ in the Blessed Sacrament. Whether you regularly visit an Adoration chapel or have never experienced the quiet and peace of praying before our Lord in the Blessed Sacrament, all are invited to participate in this spirit-filled evening of prayer, song, and silence.

You are invited to come as you are, no matter where you are on your spiritual journey. Jesus is there to meet you where you are, and to show you His love and mercy in a new and special way - a way just for you! Don't miss this opportunity to deepen your personal relationship with the Lord.
HELPING PARENTS
Be Their Child’s First Catechist

A Catechist is needed to work with the parents/adults in CMI (Children’s Ministry of Initiation)

Come join this great ministry. By our Baptisms, our sacred calling reaches beyond our home and classrooms. We are charged to provide resources and opportunities that help parents fulfill the roles and responsibilities to which they committed at their child’s Baptism.

I encourage taking part in a ministry to which God is calling you, and living out your Baptism. Please call Marie Staffa at 847-885-7700, ext. 124 or email her at mstaffa@sainthubert.org. We begin in October. You would meet with the parents after the 9:00 AM Mass. It is not every Sunday so it allows for a little flexibility. This would be a great opportunity for two catechists to work together too!

St. Hubert Catholic Church Domestic Violence Outreach Ministry presents:

Let’s Talk About Domestic Violence

Join us to learn about the domestic violence services available in our community.

Sunday, October 9, 1:30—2:30 PM • Community Room in the Church Lower Level

- Kristin Jordan, MSW, Schaumburg Police Department, will talk about all the services offered by the Schaumburg Police Department’s Domestic Violence Response Team (DVRT). This agency takes a victim-sensitive approach as it relates to domestic violence. Their efforts have been instrumental in breaking the cycle of violence as it offers direct assistance to victims who may not otherwise seek out help for themselves.

- Shelley Welch, Sr. Manager of Community Resources for WINGS Program, presents A Victim’s Journey to Freedom and how you can help at different crossroads along the way.

- Michelle Mussman, State Representative of the 56th District and leader of the Northwest Suburban Alliance on Domestic Violence.

This event is free and open to the public. Refreshments Served.

Archbishop’s Mass in Cathedral to Focus on Domestic Violence

Archbishop Blase J. Cupich will celebrate a Mass to End Domestic Violence on Saturday, October 29, at 5:15 PM in Holy Name Cathedral. Everyone is invited. He will preach on our need to reach out to victims of domestic violence and their children and work to build healthy relationships in our families. A reception in the parish hall will follow after the Mass.

St. Francis Day Blessing of Pets

We had a tremendous turn out, 25 dogs, 2 cats, a turtle, a fish, a picture of 2 cats who were not feeling well, and the doggie cremains of another pet. Several of the dogs came from shelters, so they were getting the loving attention they needed. We had 2 dogs that will be having surgery in the next few weeks, so extra blessings were given to them. While I was reading Genesis, God creating the birds of the air, a flock of Geese flew over singing God’s praises, or honking loudly, which ever you prefer. There were new people who brought their pets and some long time regulars. We had a good time. The love the pet owners have for their pets makes me know Jesus and St. Francis were in our midst.
28th Sunday of Ordinary Time

In the Gospel reading, why do nine out of ten healed lepers not return to Jesus to thank him?

Maybe they had run off to tell their families and friends about the miracle. Perhaps they were busy trying to convince their families and friends that they really had been healed and were now safe to be around. Or maybe they were preoccupied with getting jobs to support themselves, now that they could no longer live in the charity-funded leper colony.

All good and valid reasons!

What was different about the Samaritan leper, the one who did return? The difference was in his spirit. His faith in Jesus saved not only his body but also his spirit. He appreciated the healer, not just the healing. He didn't seek help from the Lord only for his own sake; he went to him for God's sake. He had something he could give to Jesus - his appreciation, his praise, his worship - and he wanted to give it.

Are we like that?

When we go to Mass, do we go only for our own sake? Or do we also go for God's sake? The best experiences in church happen with it's both. Do you give Jesus your appreciation when he comes to you in the Eucharist? Do you delight him with the way you worship? Does it look like you're glad to be there?

When we pray for our needs, do we make our requests only for our own sake? Or do we want our prayers answered for God's sake, too? Think about what you're seeking from him: How helpful could that be to God's kingdom?

When we accomplish a goal, does God benefit from it? When he helps us through a trial, what is his reward?

We all have something that God cannot give to himself: our praise and our worship. Please don't ever underestimate the value of those important gifts!

Reflect & Discuss:

1. What was the most recent prayer that God answered for you? Have you been too busy to kneel at the feet of Jesus and thank him?
2. When was the last time you praised him while still waiting for his help?
3. Describe your favorite method of thanking Jesus. What are other ways that people show their gratitude for the Lord's help? What's the evidence that God truly appreciates this type of worship?
Sometimes nothing is as helpful as a good metaphor.

In his book, The God Instinct, Tom Stella shares this story: A number of men who made their living as porters were hired one day to carry a huge load of supplies for a group on safari. Their loads were unusually heavy and the trek through the jungle was on a rough path. Several days into the journey they stopped, unshouldered their loads, and refused to go on. No pleas, bribes, or threats, worked in terms of persuading them to go on. Asked why they couldn’t continue, they answered: “We can’t go on; we have to wait for our souls to catch up with us.”

That happens to us too in life, except mostly we never wait for our souls to catch up. We continue on without them, sometimes for years. What’s meant by this? Mostly it means that we struggle to be in the present moment, to be inside our own skins, to be aware of the richness of our own experience. Mostly our experiences aren’t very soulful because we aren’t very present to them. For example:

For the past twenty years, I’ve kept a journal, a diary of sorts. My intent in keeping this journal is to record the deeper things that I’m aware throughout each day; but mostly what I end up actually writing down is a simple chronology of my day, a daybook, a bare, no-frills, recounting of what I did from hour to hour. My diaries don’t much resemble Anne Frank’s diary, Dag Hammarskjold’s, Markings, Etty Hillesum’s, An Interrupted Life, or Henri Nouwen’s, Genesee Diary. My journals resemble more what you might get from a schoolboy describing his day at school, a simple chronology of what happened. Yet when I go back and read an account of what I did each day, I’m always amazed as how rich and full life was on those days, except that I wasn’t much aware of it at the time. While actually living through those days, mostly I was struggling to get my work done, to stay healthy, to meet expectations, to carve out some moments of friendship and recreation amidst the pressures of the day, and to get to bed at a reasonable hour. There wasn’t a lot of soul there, just a lot of routine, work, and hurry.

I suspect that this is not atypical. Most of us, I suspect, live most of our days not very aware of how rich our lives are, forever leaving our souls behind: For example, many is the woman who gives ten to fifteen years of her life to bearing and raising children, with all that entails, tending constantly to someone else’s needs, getting up at night to nurse a child, spending 24 hours a day on constant alert, sacrificing all leisure time, and putting a career and personal creativity on hold. And yet too often that same woman, later on, looks back on those years and wishes she could relive them – but, now, in a more soulful way, more deliberately aware of how wonderful and privileged it is to do precisely those things she did with so much dram and tiredness. Years later, looking back, she sees how rich and precious her experience was and how, because of the burden and stress, how little her soul was present then to what she was actually undergoing.

This can be multiplied with a thousand examples: We’ve all read accounts wherein someone shares what he or she would do differently if he or she had life to live over again. Mostly these stories rework the same motif: Given another chance, I would try to enjoy it more the next time, that is, I would try to keep my soul more-present and more-aware.

For most of us, I fear, our souls will only catch up with us when, finally, we are in a retirement home, with diminished health, energy, and opportunity to work. It seems we need to first lose something before we fully appreciate it. We tend to take life, health, energy, and work for granted, until they are taken away from us. Only after the fact do we realize how rich our life has been and how little of those riches we drank in at the time.

Our souls eventually do catch up with us, but it would be good if we didn’t wait until we were in the retirement home for this to happen. Like the porters who dropped their loads and stopped, we need regularly to stop and wait for our souls to catch up.

Early on in his priesthood, when Pope Francis was in charge of school, he would at a certain point each day have the public address system cut in and interrupt the work that was going on in each classroom with this announcement: Be grateful. Set your horizon. Take stock of your day.

We all need, regularly, to lay down our burdens for a minute so our souls can catch up with us.

During the birth of her son Jacob, Stephanie Arnold suffered an amniotic fluid embolism (AFE). It’s a rare but serious complication that occurs when amniotic cells get into a mother’s bloodstream and cause anaphylactic shock. Fortunately, Jacob was delivered without any issues.

But seconds later, Stephanie died—for 37 seconds.

As a result of the AFE, Stephanie had a heart attack, acute kidney failure, collapsed lungs and an emergency hysterectomy. She was put into a medically induced coma, and needed a total of 60 units of blood, about three times her body’s blood supply, to survive. Because Stephanie’s blood type is O negative, she’s a universal donor of red blood cells. However, those with type O negative blood can only be transfused with their same blood type; no other blood types are a medical match.

At this point, you’re probably wondering how her medical team had enough O negative blood to stabilize her and pull her through such an acute medical crisis, one that even included flat-lining for 37 seconds.

Stephanie lived because of the generosity of blood donors and a doctor who listened.

When Stephanie was 20 weeks pregnant, she was diagnosed with placenta previa, a condition in which the placenta grows on top of the cervix. This condition is not that uncommon (1 in 200 pregnancies), but doctors recommend that women who suffer from it take it easy, because the bleeding it causes can be dangerous to both the mother and her baby. It’s scary, but it’s manageable.

Despite this reassurance, Stephanie started having detailed visions that she would hemorrhage and die on the operating table after giving birth to her son. “The visions were scary. They felt real,” said Stephanie. “I was absolutely convinced they were going to come true.”

Stephanie sought help from anyone who would listen. “Doctors brushed my premonitions off as normal pregnancy jitters, friends avoided the discussion, and my husband, Jonathan, thought I was going off the deep end,” she said.

At 33 weeks pregnant, she had a consultation with an anesthesiologist who took her premonitions seriously. The anesthesiologist made a note in her chart to stock the operating room with extra blood, monitors and a crash cart, in the off chance she would need them. “Ultimately, this was what saved my life,” said Stephanie.

Having this blood available to doctors was made possible by the generosity of blood donors. Because people like you took time out of their busy schedules to donate blood, Stephanie’s children still have their mom.

Stephanie no longer believes in coincidence. “If you sense it, say it,” she says. “It could save your life; it saved mine.”

Intuition told me I would die. No one believed it would save my life.

WHY is it called the “Purple Purse Challenge”? Purple is the color for domestic violence awareness month. The purse symbolizes financial control as a form of domestic abuse. Financial abuse prevents victims from acquiring, using or maintaining financial resources. Financial abuse is just as effective in controlling a victim as a lock and key.

In 99% of all domestic violence cases, financial abuse helps keep victims trapped in the abusive relationship.

WINGS is a proud Purple Purse Community Partner that has been providing housing and supportive services to victims of domestic violence in metropolitan Chicago area since 1985.

Contribute online for as little as $10. Encourage your friends and coworkers to join you! WINGS will use your gift to provide housing and support services for women and their children as they overcome domestic violence.

Baptisms

To register for Baptism, stop in or call the Parish Office. Parents must attend a Baptismal Preparation Meeting, which is held on the last Tuesday of each month at 7:30 PM. You may attend this parent meeting either before or after the baby is born.

Baptisms take place on the 2nd and 4th Sundays of the month at 1:30 PM or at Mass by arrangement. You will confirm the date for Baptism by attending the Baptism Preparation Meeting.

Marriages

Please do not reserve your banquet hall before confirming the date with the church. Set your date by calling the Parish Office as early as possible as you plan your wedding—at least 6 months before the wedding. Weddings take place on Saturdays at 2:00 PM. Weekdays and Sundays must be arranged individually.

Reconciliation

Saturday after 4:30 PM Mass, or by appointment.

Eucharist for the Sick and Homebound

If there is anyone who would like to receive Eucharist at home, or if you know a friend, neighbor or family member who is homebound and would like a home visit to receive Eucharist, please call the Parish Ministry Center. One of our dedicated ministers will be glad to fulfill these requests.

Sacrament of the Sick

Please call the Parish Ministry Center Office to make arrangements for a priest to visit.
