Dear Friends,

By the time you read this letter, our Archbishop Cupich will be a Cardinal. I heard that we have about 400 Chicagoans accompanying him to Rome for the Consistory. Please pray for him, knowing that he will have responsibilities on important Church committees at the Vatican, while retaining all his responsibilities in Chicago. Now that he is an international figure in the Church, he will need our prayers more than ever. Congratulations Blase Cardinal Cupich.

At all the Masses this weekend, we will speak on his vision for the Archdiocese called Renew My Church. All parishes will be in groupings to discuss our future. We are grouped with the 3 Schaumburg parishes.

Last fall we had an increased offertory drive which helped our parish financially. Although our attendance has stayed about the same this past year, our collection has increased exponentially to the point where we realized $25,000 for a week. Previously, we had only come close to $22,000. I thank you for your very generous support so that we can continue the many ministries here at St. Hubert.

As a reminder, I suggest 4 points:

- Sign up for Give Central. This is safer and more reliable for us. Check our website or contact Teresa McCutchan, our Business Manager.
- Consider leaving a percentage of your will or trust to St. Hubert Parish.
- Sponsor a child in financial need who attends our school.
- Pray about giving a percentage of your income each week, rather than simply putting in a few extra dollars from your excess.

How we spend our money bespeaks our values. We can stop giving when God stops giving to us.

I thank Janet Cinefro, a parishioner, who informed me that 2 Felician Sisters who taught at our school from 1979-1990 passed away this year. We give thanks for:

~Sr. Joan Marie Kryszak, CSSF, March 7, age 91. She taught 3rd grade here.
~Sr. M. Gloriette Kawalko CSSF, September 7, age 95. She taught 1st grade here.

Both were Jubilarians with over 70 years of Religious Life. May they rest in peace.

Please do not forget to attend the Parish meeting with Bishop Rassas and the Priests’ Placement Board on Monday, November 28, at 7:00 p.m. in the lower church to share your ideas of what you would like to see in a new Pastor upon my retirement next year.

There is a new Vatican instruction, To Rise With Christ, on the care of Cremated Remains. The practical implications are listed in the bulletin on page 9.

I hope that each of you have a wonderful Thanksgiving Day and can spend some time with family. I also hope you can join us at the 9:00 Mass on Thanksgiving as we offer thanks to God for all the many blessings He continues to bestow on us.

Our Lord Jesus Christ, King of the Universe
"Jesus, remember me when you come into your kingdom." The two thieves that were crucified next to Jesus show two very different ways of understanding who Jesus was. The first thief insulted Jesus, prodded him, mocked him. He didn't believe that Jesus had any power whatsoever. Like the sneering crowds, he thought that it was a joke to label Jesus as the "King of the Jews."

But the second thief, known in tradition as "the good thief," had a different perception. He understood that Jesus did in fact have power because, as Jesus had told Pilate only hours earlier, his kingdom "is not of this world." The good thief understood that the kingdom of God awaits those who believe in the Lord. And when this man made that final act of faith on his own cross, Jesus promised him, "Amen, I say to you, today you will be with me in Paradise."

Today as we celebrate the solemnity of Christ the King, we are challenged to have as much faith as the good thief. We are challenged to believe that Jesus is in fact the "King of the Universe," even when it may not appear that way to those who stand by sneering. Jesus did not choose to hop down off the cross and make everything cheery. Instead he fulfilled his mission for an end result that was infinitely better than simply saving himself and those two thieves; by dying on the cross, he saved us all! So we too need to trust that just because Jesus doesn't always answer our prayers exactly how we want or expect, and just because we find ourselves carrying a cross from time to time, it does not mean he isn't in charge! On the contrary, we need to trust, as the good thief did, that Jesus' mission is to bring all of us to join him in his heavenly kingdom.

Exposure
Children are exposed to or experience domestic violence in many ways. They may hear one parent/caregiver threaten the other, observe a parent who is out of control or reckless with anger, see one parent assault the other, or live with the aftermath of a violent assault. Many children are affected by hearing threats to the safety of their caregiver, regardless of whether it results in physical injury. Children who live with domestic violence are also at increased risk to become direct victims of child abuse.

“Domestic violence poses a serious threat to children’s emotional, psychological, and physical well-being, particularly if the violence is chronic.”

Effects
Not all children exposed to violence are affected equally or in the same ways. For many children, exposure to domestic violence may be traumatic, and their reactions are similar to children’s reactions to other traumatic stressors. Whether or not children are physically abused, they often suffer emotional and psychological trauma from living in homes where abuse occurs.

If you or someone you know is being abused, seek help today. In an emergency, please dial 911. For all other help, please call: Illinois Statewide Domestic Violence Helpline 877 TO END DV (877-863-6338), 877-863-6339 TTY or call WINGS 24-hour hotline 847-221-5680.

In the Gospel reading, one of the criminals hanging next to Jesus on the cross represents us. Jesus is our king and we want to spend eternity with him in his kingdom. As long as we have this attitude, there is no reason to doubt that when we die we will join Jesus in Paradise.

As the king of heaven, Jesus has the right to choose who is allowed into his kingdom. And as this Good Friday thief shows us, Jesus says, "Yes, come in, welcome" to anyone who recognizes his authority.

Let's look at what the authority of Jesus is like. At the Last Supper, when he washed the feet of his disciples, he made it clear that the heavenly king exerts his authority by serving those who belong to his kingdom.

The next day, he took a crown of thorns instead of a crown of gold, because the glory of his kingship is not represented by earthly treasures but by riches that are given to others, the personal sacrifices that are motivated by love, even for those who don't deserve it.

After his resurrection, although he'd been healed from the destruction of death, his five crucifixion wounds were not healed. To this day, he still bears those wounds as a continual reminder to us that he does not use his authority for his own benefit, but for ours.

Earthly kings wear expensive rings on their hands; our heavenly king wears the marks of sacrifice.

We belong to God's kingdom when we lovingly serve others with Christ, when we understand the glory of giving generously to others, of making personal sacrifices, and of loving those who don't deserve our love.

If we offer to Jesus our sufferings because we realize that they have value, we wear the five wounds of Jesus in our souls. Of course we will join Jesus in Paradise — we have already united ourselves to him!

Reflect & Discuss:

1. Reflect on a time when you submitted yourself to Christ’s authority by obeying a difficult teaching of the Church or by doing something Christ-like that you didn’t want to do. Did you feel loved by God? Did you feel served?

2. What will you do to become more aware of his service to you? What are you holding onto today that does not belong to his kingdom? What will you do this week to allow Jesus to be your king in every area of your life?

3. Name some of the ways that Jesus serves us. Does he do it directly to you or through other people in his kingdom? When you serve others, how is this a recognition of the kingship and authority of Christ?
One of the characters in Ursula Hegi’s brilliant novel on Nazi Germany, Stones from the River, is named Ilse Abramowitz.

Ilse is a Jewish woman whose husband, Michael, had been arrested, beaten, and humiliated by a group of young Nazis. They had come to her home, vandalized it, beaten her husband, and taken him away. One of the young Nazis is an eighteen year-old boy named Helmut Eberhardt whom she knows well. She’s friends with his mother and knows too that he is getting married in church the very next day. As Helmut, among others, drags her husband away …

“She pitied the young wife whose body would lie beneath Helmut’s in the nights to come. A thought came to her that had insisted on settling with her for some time now, a thought that would anger Michael if she ever told him: given a choice, she would rather be the one who was persecuted than the one who did the persecuting. Both had a terrible price to pay, but she would rather endure humiliation and fear than grow numb to what it was to be human.”

Better to be persecuted than numb to what’s human. That’s a mature, moral comment, though a risky one. We know the axiom: “Power corrupts and absolute power corrupts absolutely!” There’s both an important truth and a deadly warning there. What isn’t as evident is its opposite: Powerlessness too can corrupt and absolute powerlessness can corrupt absolutely. Many of our worst criminals, terrorists, and others who have precisely numbed themselves to what it means to be human, got that way not through the experience of power but through its opposite, the experience of powerlessness and humiliation. Timothy McVeigh and many of the today’s terrorists certainly bear that out. Their hatred and violence take their origin not in the experience of power, but in the experience of humiliation, frustration, and the lack of power to do anything about it, except violence.

That’s always a risk in any experience of humiliation. Martin Luther King once used a very strong image to make this point: Imagine, he said, a young boy using a public bathroom. He’s alone and defenseless when a group of young thugs enter. To make sport for themselves and to act out their mindless self-hatred, they humiliate him by pushing his face into the urinal so as to make him taste their own urine. Among all the experiences of powerlessness and humiliation, few have the power to so violate and unravel one’s humanity as does such an experience. At that moment, this boy’s soul is literally up for grabs. As King put it: In that urine he can taste an humiliation that brings permanent bitterness or he can taste the blood of the crucified Christ. But he’s a young boy, not Mother Theresa, and such an experience can just as easily leave him bitter and prone to violence as it can leave him feeling that privileged powerlessness that Jesus called blessed.

“What Jesus is challenging us to here is not easily understood, and even less easily lived. Why, one wonders, isn’t it more blessed to be rich than to be poor? If one is gifted, respected, and able to achieve one’s dreams, shouldn’t that naturally lead to gratitude? Sometimes it does, and you see that gratitude and greatness in people of noble soul, but, more commonly, it doesn’t. It leads instead to an attitude of entitlement, to a resentment that some have more than we do, to a greedy, jealous, bitter spirit, and to precisely what Ursula Hegi names as a moral numbing-down, a necessary blindness to many of the things of what it means to be human. That’s the corruption of power.

And it sets us on a slippery slope. To numb ourselves to what’s best inside of us – our innate moral sensitivity, our natural compassion, and our deep-down desire for what’s best – forces us to live a lie. When we do this we need to keep lying ourselves and we need to keep putting pressure on those around us to lie too. That’s where our violence begins and it continues, in some form, as long as we are unfaithful to what’s true.

Yes, there’s a risk in powerlessness and humiliation, but there’s even a great risk in its opposite. Ursula Hegi’s Ilse Abramowitz chooses the better part: Better to be persecuted than to be numb to what’s human.

New Vatican Instruction, To Rise With Christ, on the Care of Cremated Remains

Recently, the Vatican’s Congregation for the Doctrine of the Faith issued an Instruction, To Rise With Christ, on the burial rites involving ashes / cremated remains of the deceased.

In issuing this Instruction, the Congregation noted that “the practice of cremation has notably increased in many countries, but simultaneously new ideas contrary to the Church’s faith have also become widespread.” Because of this, the Instruction is intended to emphasize the “pastoral reasons for the preference of the burial of the remains of the faithful and to set out norms pertaining to the conservation of ashes in the case of cremation.”

Below are some questions which this Instruction might raise in the minds of Catholics in the Archdiocese:

Why are they changing the Rules on Cremation?

The rules that govern cremation after death for the Catholic Church are actually not changing! Since 1963 the Church has allowed cremation and since the early 1997 it has allowed a funeral liturgy in the presence of cremated remains. Even with these concessions, the Church has always stressed the importance of burying the remains of the faithful, either the body or the cremated remains.

In recent times, the practice of cremation has notably increased in many countries. Simultaneously, new and sometimes puzzling ideas contrary to the Church’s vision of Christian burial have redirected the focus of Christian death (for example, cremated remains being used to make jewelry or other mementos).

Thus, the Congregation for the Doctrine of the Faith has deemed opportune the publication of a new Instruction, with the intention of underlining, or re-emphasizing the doctrinal and pastoral reasons for the preference of the burial of the remains of the faithful and to set out norms for the conservation of cremated remains.

Is the prohibition of scattering ashes or keeping them in the home new?

No. These are not new prohibitions. What the Instruction is emphasizing is the Church’s ancient tradition of preferring that the bodies of the deceased be buried. Noting that there are reasons one might choose to be cremated, the Church holds to that tradition of burying remains, because of what we believe about the Resurrection – that one day, Christ will return in glory and our bodies and souls will be reunited but will be remade on that last day, sharing the Glory of the Risen Christ.

Because of this, it is inconsistent with this belief to scatter the cremated remains of our deceased (into the air, on the ground, or in bodies of water) or to divide them, or to keep them in homes.

Then what are to be done with the cremated remains of a deceased loved one?

The Instruction notes that “when, for legitimate motives, cremation of the body has been chosen, the ashes of the faithful must be laid to rest in a sacred place, that is, in a cemetery or, in certain cases, in a church or an area, which has been set aside for this purpose…From the earliest times, Christians have desired that the faithful departed become the objects of the Christian community’s prayers and remembrance. Their tombs have become places of prayer, remembrance and reflection. The faithful departed remain part of the Church who believes ‘in the communion of all the faithful of Christ, those who are pilgrims on earth, the dead who are being purified, and the blessed in heaven, all together forming one Church’.”

The Catholic Cemeteries of the Archdiocese of Chicago are always ready to assist families who are dealing with the death of a loved one, and if cremation has been chosen, the Cemeteries are able to provide options for burial or internment of the cremated remains.

St. Hubert School Celebrates Veterans’ Day 2016

VFW Post 5151 performed the Presentation of the Colors followed by the Pledge of Allegiance and the singing of our National Anthem by the entire assembly. The award winning St. Hubert School Band played several patriotic selections and accompanied the students during “God Bless America” and a special tribute song, “The Brave.”

Seventh grader Natalia Patino spoke about “patriotism.” Student council members explained the historical significance of Armistice Day and the traditional “White Table Ceremony.” Korean War veterans, Mr. Fred Hossfeld and Mr. Ed Frank, shared their recent experience with the Honor Flight trip to Washington, D.C. this past August.

Fr. Robert Rizzo gave a special blessing to the veterans and reminded all in attendance of the many sacrifices made by these living heroes. The visitors inspired all in attendance to renewed pride in our great country. May God bless America!

SACRAMENTAL LIFE

Call the Parish Office 847-885-7700 for further questions or to make arrangements.

BAPTISMS

To register for Baptism, stop in or call the Parish Office. Parents must attend a Baptismal Preparation Meeting, which is held on the last Tuesday of each month at 7:30 PM. You may attend this parent meeting either before or after the baby is born. Baptisms take place on the 2nd and 4th Sundays of the month at 1:30 PM or at Mass by arrangement. You will confirm the date for Baptism by attending the Baptism Preparation Meeting.

MARRIAGES

Please do not reserve your banquet hall before confirming the date with the church. Set your date by calling the Parish Office as early as possible as you plan your wedding—at least 6 months before the wedding. Weddings take place on Saturdays at 2:00 PM. Weekdays and Sundays must be arranged individually.

RECONCILIATION

Saturday after 4:30 PM Mass, or by appointment.

EUCHARIST FOR THE SICK AND HOMEBOUND

If there is anyone who would like to receive Eucharist at home, or if you know a friend, neighbor or family member who is homebound and would like a home visit to receive Eucharist, please call the Parish Ministry Center. One of our dedicated ministers will be glad to fulfill these requests.

SACRAMENT OF THE SICK

Please call the Parish Ministry Center Office to make arrangements for a priest to visit.
