LIVE THE LITURGY - INSPIRATION FOR THE WEEK
Breathing is necessary for living. Without air and the ability to breathe, we would die. It is no wonder then that Jesus breathed on the disciples and gave them the Holy Spirit. As our physical breath is essential to physically live, the Holy Spirit is essential to personally and socially live. Jesus shows his friends that God is within them, sustaining them with his gifts and providing them with the fullness of life and love. We take God's role in our lives for granted and we give ourselves more credit than we ought. Much of what we treasure and accomplish every day is due to God's inner presence moving and acting within us calling us to new life.

EVERYDAY STEWARDSHIP - RECOGNIZE GOD IN YOUR ORDINARY MOMENTS
Due to the constant unchecked flow of data and information through the Internet, it can be hard to know when a story is real news or rubbish. It never ceases to amaze me when someone I know has bought into some crazy fake news story. Sometimes the story is just so unbelievable: celebrities who gained two hundred pounds in a month, women having babies who were never pregnant, or people actually being seen who are dead! Like Elvis!

The apostle Thomas found the news that Jesus was alive just too far-fetched to believe. But he didn't first hear the news on the Internet or read it standing in the grocery store checkout line. His friends told him. His fellow apostles told him they had actually seen the Lord with their own eyes. Their testimony was not enough. He needed proof.

The resurrection of Jesus gives us not only hope, but also a reason to be his disciples. We have not seen with our own eyes but, like Thomas, we have a community, the Church, that has relayed the truth to us. This same Jesus now calls us to go forth to spread the Gospel. More unbelievable than that, we have, through the gifts we have been given, a chance to change and even save lives. The day may come that you, moved by this news of the risen Lord, will be an agent of his love to the point where someone will tell the tale that you, a follower of Jesus, actually helped to change his or her life. Pretty unbelievable, right?

QUESTIONS OF THE WEEK - REFLECT AND RESPOND TO SCRIPTURE

John 20:19-31
Today's Resurrection account details Thomas' initial doubt that Jesus actually rose from the dead. How do you react to people who "doubt" the resurrection of Jesus?

Acts 2:42-47
Luke presents the early community of believers in Jerusalem of one heart and mind, rejoicing in the Resurrection. How does your faith community compare in response to the good news of the Resurrection?

1 Peter 1:3-9
In Peter's prayer of praise and thanksgiving to God for the resurrection of Jesus Christ, what reasons does he give for believers to "rejoice"?

"Jesus came and stood in their midst and said to them, 'Peace be with you.'" This greeting from the resurrected Christ must have been a profound one for the disciples. They were living behind locked doors "for fear of the Jews," which really meant for fear of their own lives. They had seen what happened to Jesus and didn't want to face the same fate. Imagine the paralysis of this fear, keeping them locked inside a prison of their own making. But even the walls and the locks could not keep Jesus out! He came "although the doors were locked" and brought them a message of peace. And then their fear turned to gladness for they "rejoiced when they saw the Lord."

This transformation from sadness to joy, from fear to peace was not just a gift for these first disciples. It is a gift for all of the followers of the Lord, ourselves included! When we are afraid of what might happen in our lives, where we are trapped or paralyzed by the burdens of our own habitual sins, Jesus wants to step in and offer us peace. This is what we celebrate today on this feast of the mercy of Christ. His love and peace--the gift of his mercy—is meant for all of us, weak, sinful, and scared though we may be.

And we who receive this great gift of mercy from the Lord are also called to be merciful to others. We are called to be peacemakers and to forgive others as we have been forgiven. Our celebration of Divine Mercy need not stop at the doors of our own hearts. We can seek ways to be ministers of God's mercy to others, reaching out with the love of God, bringing comfort and consolation to those who need it most.

My name is Nicholas Johnson. I am a Boy Scout in Troop 399 and a freshman at Hoffman Estates High School.

My Eagle Project is to build shelving units for WINGS in Elk Grove Village, Illinois. This project will benefit women and children that face domestic violence because all items stored on these shelves will go to them.

To offset the cost of the project and help these women & children, I will need your help. I will be selling candy after all Masses on May 6 & 7 and the proceeds will help pay for materials for the shelving units. Donating any of the items listed will also help and be given to these women & children in need. Thank you in advance for helping and allowing me to achieve my goal of completing my Eagle Project this summer.

Items Most needed:
- Adult and Children's Slippers (all sizes)
- Adult and Children Flip Flops (all sizes)
- Adult and Children's Spring/Summer Pajamas
- Laundry Detergent, Fabric Softener, Bleach
- Diapers -- Sizes 4, 5, and 5
- Pull Ups -- All Sizes
- Large packs (6 or more) of paper towels
- Large packs (6 or more) of toilet paper

Additional Items Needed:
- Play-Doh
- Craft Sticks
- Plastic Forks
- Sturdy Paper Plates
- Glitter Glue
- Vaseline
- Dishwashing Liquid

Parents are to call their respective parishes and register the names of their Altar Server child/children who will attend the pizza party. The last day to register through your parish is Monday, April 24th.
The spirit of Vatican II and the Mass (1964-1967)

Liturgical reform - its hopes and challenges

On November 29, 1964 — a year after the Second Vatican Council’s Constitution on the Sacred Liturgy was enacted — the New Mass”, as it was then called, was introduced into US parishes. Join us in examining the liturgical reforms of Vatican II which proclaimed the Mass as “source and summit of Christian life” and encouraged the “full, conscious and active participation” of all in the Eucharistic celebration.

Congratulations to those who have participated in RCIA and CMI!
We celebrate their presence among us.
Who are those people in the white robes at Mass during the Easter Season?

It is a common experience to see someone in special clothing that sets them apart from others: a bride in her wedding dress; a queen in royal robes and crown; a priest wearing a vestment or collar identifies these persons for us in any gathering. Clothing can also signify an occasion. For special days or events we sometimes purchase new clothing. Some may recall going out for an Easter outfit, buying all things new from head to toe! This was more than indulgence or wanting new clothing. It signified what had happened on the feast of new life. We who wore the new clothing “shouted” that we, too, were a new creation because we shared in the resurrection of Jesus at baptism.

In the church’s Rite of Baptism—both infant and adult—the newly baptized are clothed in a white garment as they come out of the font. What does it mean to drop your old clothes and be robed in a white garment? The Rite tells us to see in our white garment a sign of our new life with Christ. Now you are putting on Christ and clothing yourself with his way of life. It was customary for the newly baptized to wear their white robes for the full 50 days celebrating Easter. In fact, anyone who was a neophyte or long-baptized could wear this white garment publicly as a sign of their transformation.

A newly baptized member of the Church is as exhilarating to us as any new baby or member of our family. Wearing the baptismal robe beyond the Easter Vigil announces the presence of a new Christian to the whole community and allows them to rejoice and welcome our newly baptized. They are a gift to any gathering of the faithful and a reminder of the privilege and responsibilities of our own baptism. This is also why those in RCIA and CMI who are already baptized wear a white robe we rejoice with them in completing their sacraments of Initiation, Confirmation, and Eucharist.

We are an Easter people, because we know and celebrate that Jesus has risen from the dead. And yet, we don’t always feel like celebrating.

It’s hard to feel like the Good Friday experience of carrying our crosses has really ended.

Today’s second reading describes what the Easter experience is supposed to feel like: an indescribable and glorious joy. But how does that happen?

The attitude of joy does not come from reaching the end of our cross-like burdens. Rather, it comes from knowing that Christ’s death and resurrection have overcome our crosses, and by uniting ourselves to his life, we are victorious even before we see the battle end.

Furthermore, it comes from knowing that we have the ultimate victory – eternal life in God’s abundant love – and we know that this gift is “impispensable, undefiled, and unfading” and that it’s being safeguarded by the power of God because, by choosing to have faith in Christ, we have accepted the gift in advance.

This joy-from-knowing is the definition of "hope". Hope isn’t wishful thinking. Hope means celebrating what is certainly going to happen before it happens.

Some Catholics say that they’re afraid they might lose their salvation because they’re afraid that something will tempt them to turn away from Jesus between now and the hour of death. If you worry about this, let me ask you: During times of suffering, do you reject God or run to him?

Even when we get angry at God, we’re actually very close to him. We’re angry because we believe in him and trust him and he seems to be disappointing us. This is normal. Our faith is purified by our trials.

To embrace life as an Easter people, we must learn to remember that our sufferings are temporary and that someday we will enter into eternal joy. This is what we celebrate even while carrying our crosses.

Reflect & Discuss:

1. In what ways has God apparently disappointed you? What is he doing (or not doing) that’s upsetting you? How is this increasing your closeness to him, even if it feels like he’s silent and distant?

2. Give an example of wishful thinking: What have you wished for in prayer? What have you been begging God to do? How is this different than hoping (joy-from-knowing)? Even if your wish never comes true, what’s your reason for a higher hope?
About one year ago, I wrote a column on suicide. Among other things, I suggested there that suicide is the most misunderstood of all deaths. Given the positive response to that piece, I would like to take things a bit further here, suggesting as well that our faith in God should give us ultimate consolation in the face of the suicide of a loved one.

I begin with a story: Some years ago some friends of mine lost a daughter to suicide. She was in her early twenties and had a history of clinical depression. An initial attempt at suicide failed. The family then rushed round her, brought her to the best doctors and psychiatrists, and generally tried in every way to love and coax her out of her depression. Nothing worked. Eventually she committed suicide. Looking at their efforts and the incapacity of their love to break through and save her life, we see how helpless human love can be at a point. Sometimes all our best efforts, patience, and affection can’t break through to a frightened, depressed person. In spite of everything, that person remains locked inside of herself, huddled in fear, inaccessible, bent upon self-destruction. All love, it seems, is powerless to penetrate.

Fortunately we are not without hope. The redeeming love of God can do what we can’t. God’s love is not stymied in the same way as is ours. Unlike our own, it can go through locked doors and enter closed, frightened, bruised, lonely places and breathe out peace. That image of Jesus going through barriers of hurt, anger, fear, and hopelessness. What is meant by that? God descended into hell?

What is meant by that? God descended into hell? Generally we take this to mean that, between his death and resurrection, Jesus descended into some kind of hell or limbo wherein lived the souls of all the good persons who had died since the time of Adam. Once there, Jesus took them all with him to heaven. More recently, some theologians have taken this article of faith to mean that, in his death, Jesus experienced alienation from his Father and thus experienced in some real sense the pain of hell. There is merit to these interpretations, but this doctrine also means something more. To say that Christ descended into hell is to, first and foremost, say something about God’s love for us and how that love will go to any length, descend to any depth, and go through any barrier in order to embrace a wounded, huddled, frightened, and bruised soul. By dying as he did, Jesus showed that he loves us in such a way that his love can penetrate even our private hells, going right through the barriers of hurt, anger, fear, and hopelessness.

We see this expressed in an image in John’s Gospel where, twice, Jesus goes right through locked doors, stands in the middle of a huddled circle of fear, and breathes out peace. That image of Jesus going through locked doors is surely the most consoling thought within the entire Christian faith (and is unrivalled in any world religion). Simply put, it means that God can help us even when we can’t help ourselves. God can empower us even when we are too hurt, frightened, sick, and weak to even, minimally, help ourselves.

I remember a haunting, holy picture that I was given as a child. It showed a man, huddled in depression, in a dark room, behind a closed door. Outside stood Jesus, with a lantern, knocking softly on the door. The door only had a knob on its inside. Everything about the picture said: “Only you can open that door.” Ultimately what is said in that picture is untrue. Christ doesn’t need a doorknob. He can, and does, enter through locked doors. He can enter a heart that is locked up in fear and wound. What the picture says is true about human love. It can only knock and remain outside when it meets a heart that is huddled in fear and loneliness.

But that is not the case with God’s love, as John 20 and our doctrine about the descent into hell make clear. God’s love can, and does, descend into hell. It does not require that a wounded, emotionally-paralyzed person first finds the strength to open herself to love. There is no private hell, no depression, no sickness, no fear, and even no bitterness so deep or so enclosed that God’s love cannot descend into it. There are no locked doors through which Christ cannot go.

I am sure that when that young woman, whose suicide I mentioned earlier, awoke on the other side, Jesus stood inside of her huddled fear and spoke to her, softly and gently, those same words he spoke to his disciples on that first Easter day when he went through the locked doors behind which they were huddled and said: “Peace be with you! Again, I say it, Peace be with you!”

Fifth Graders Explore Their World!

The fifth grade has done an outstanding job in science this year! Their unit on the solar system and beyond was incredible! Students worked on a project to help visualize the distances and size of planets in our solar system.

The fifth graders finished off the unit with a STEM project. They designed, engineered, and built rockets of their own. These future scientists had a perfect launch day that ignited their interest in science!
ST. HUBERT JOB & NETWORKING MINISTRY NEEDS YOUR HELP

The Job Ministry continues to assist from 25 to 40 people per meeting as they struggle with finding full-time work in a part-time, temporary, contract work society. This has recently created a need for two additional team members to join us, to help us direct and re-position our Public Relations and social media – media visibility presence.

We are seeking:

- A Marketing professional – ecommerce knowledge
- An Information Technology professional – Social media knowledge

We are seeking the above expertise to work together to help us develop a workable and coordinated visibility and P.R. strategy, as well as to help with the complexities of our social media presence and updates. If you have the above capabilities and are interested in assisting us, please contact our job ministry coordinator, Bob Podgorski at: careerguy1@gmail.com. Bob and our current media coordinator, Don Sutenbach, will work with you to help position the Job Ministry to its prominence as a best-in-class Job Networking Group. This, to continue to bring our message of Faith into the job search, to over 60 - 80 people per month- who visit with us for career help, guidance and sincere caring.

SPIRITUAL MAKEOVER:
Putting on God’s Mantle of Love

In this weekend retreat, we will engage our "divine and loving contractor" in prayerful conversation as we discover various pathways that can lead us to spiritual renovation and transformation. Social media is flooded with the topic of makeovers-homes, bodies, faces, finances and the like. However, Christian media, Scripture and Tradition, teaches us that what we are ultimately yearning for is a spiritual makeover. Under all our desires to become more, have more, and be more is a desire to be loved for who we are by the Holy One. We invite you to take time to honor yourself and your most precious relationship with Jesus as you "Put on God’s Mantle of Love.”

Sacramental Life

Call the Parish Office 847-885-7700 for further questions or to make arrangements.

Baptisms

To register for Baptism, stop in or call the Parish Office. Parents must attend a Baptismal Preparation Meeting, which is held on the last Tuesday of each month at 7:30 PM. You may attend this parent meeting either before or after the baby is born.

Baptisms take place on the 2nd and 4th Sundays of the month at 1:30 PM or at Mass by arrangement. You will confirm the date for Baptism by attending the Baptism Preparation Meeting.

Marriages

Please do not reserve your banquet hall before confirming the date with the church. Set your date by calling the Parish Office as early as possible as you plan your wedding—at least 6 months before the wedding. Weddings take place on Saturdays at 2:00 PM. Weekdays and Sundays must be arranged individually.

Reconciliation

Saturday after 4:30 PM Mass, or by appointment.

Eucharist for the Sick and Homebound

If there is anyone who would like to receive Eucharist at home, or if you know a friend, neighbor or family member who is homebound and would like a home visit to receive Eucharist, please call the Parish Ministry Center. One of our dedicated ministers will be glad to fulfill these requests.

Sacrament of the Sick

Please call the Parish Ministry Center Office to make arrangements for a priest to visit.
