6th Sunday of Easter

“Whoever has my commandments and observes them is the one who loves me. And whoever loves me will be loved by my Father, and I will love him and reveal myself to him.” - Jn 14:21
Dear Friends,

The readings during the Easter season remind us that we are all in transition every moment of our lives. The disciples of Jesus wanted to believe, but at first, were confused about this death/resurrection reality. This was a new phenomenon and did not fit into their comfortable way of thinking. The resurrected Lord provided the faith, but the disciples had to eventually arrive at the point where they could say ‘yes’ to His invitation to spread the Word. They were transitioning from doubt to faith, despair to hope.

Sometimes we forget that most people, at the time of Jesus, did not follow Him. We hear the story from the sacred writers and can falsely think that most of the people were on board about this Good News.

The time after Jesus’ death and resurrection was filled with much uncertainty. In today’s Gospel, Jesus reminds His disciples that if they loved Him they would keep His commandments. The Father would then send them the Spirit of Truth. Probably, they were a bit confused, but once they received the Holy Spirit, they were on fire to spread the Word.

Jesus promises that those who believe in Him and love Him will recognize His presence. He will be revealed in the many facets of our life. Hopefully, we see His presence in our joys and disappointments, our faith and our doubt, and most especially, in our ability to face reality, knowing that God is there to give us the strength through His Son Jesus Christ.

Last week, our Scout Troop 399 supported a food drive for our sharing parish, St. Aloysius. They were at the local Hoffman Estates Post Office, making sure that all the food got packed properly and shipped smoothly. The food donations were double those of the previous year. They sorted 146 boxes of food totaling 4350 food items. Thanks to Mrs. Borre for coordinating the drive, along with the scouts and others who made this happen. See their pictures here.

We have a parishioner in need of caregiving. The family needs someone for one day a week through the summer (8:00 AM to 5:30 PM) - Schaumburg location - to assist a 60-year-old male with ALS. They need someone strong enough to lift him for transfers - (180 lbs). Call Donna at 847-293-6776. Please try to help.

I hope that you can enjoy the warmer weather.

6th Sunday of Easter  May 21, 2017
6th Sunday of Easter

"If you love me you will keep my commandments." It's really as simple as that. We are only paying lip service to the Lord if we externally declare ourselves to be Christians but don't follow through on a life that confirms it.

In our modern culture, we often think of love as a feeling or a kind of devotion. It is thus all too common to separate love from appropriate action. Perhaps we reassure ourselves that we love Jesus because we believe that he is the Son of God and our personal Savior. But these thoughts—or even any grateful or pleasant feelings that come along with them—are not the fullest manifestation of real love. Rather, as Jesus tells us directly in today's Gospel, "Whoever has my commandments and observes them is the one who loves me."

Now, for those of us who may be asking what exactly these commandments are, it's helpful to remember Jesus' response when he was questioned on the subject. "You shall love the Lord, your God, with all your heart, with all your soul, and with all your mind. This is the greatest and the first commandment. The second is like it: You shall love your neighbor as yourself" (Mt 22:37-39). These fundamental principles embrace everything that Jesus calls us to do. If we put God first and foremost in our lives, and if we treat our neighbors as we would wish to be treated, then all the rest falls into place. The Ten Commandments, the Beatitudes, and any other fundamental Christian codes of behavior are all summed up here. Indeed, if we truly seek to love Jesus, putting him first and following his ways won't feel like a burden but rather like a beautiful blessing.

LIVE THE LITURGY

INSPIRATION FOR THE WEEK
St. Teresa of Calcutta once said, "Spread love everywhere you go. Let no one ever come to you without leaving happier." Keeping the commandments of Jesus ultimately means loving as he loves. How do you think people feel after they leave your presence? This is a question worth pondering if we are serious about being disciples. Gentleness and reverence are beautiful charisms to foster as they speak boldly of love. If we truly love God and our brothers and sisters, we will always be gentle with them and treat them with the reverent dignity they deserve, regardless of what they have done. This is the ultimate challenge of discipleship.

Committing ourselves today to following Jesus' commandments and to love as Jesus loves, how can we make those who meet us this week leave us happier and grateful that they have crossed our path?

"Love, an abundant love, is the expression of our Christian religion."
—Mother Teresa

NEW EUCHARISTIC MINISTERS TRAINING

A training session for anyone interested in becoming a Eucharistic Minister is set for Thursday, June 1st from 7:00—8:30 PM in the church building. This session is required for all who distribute the Eucharist at Mass and to the homebound or hospitalized on a regular basis.

The Church requires that Ministers of Eucharist be fully Initiated (have received Baptism, Confirmation, and Eucharist) and in good standing with the Catholic Church. The Archdiocese of Chicago strongly recommends that ministers be at least 16 years old; we maintain this policy at St. Hubert.

If you have any questions, please contact the Liturgy Office, y.cassa@sainthubert.org, or 847-885-7700, ext. 107.

There is no need to register before the session.
Did you know that the RCIA process belongs to the whole parish?
(Rite of Christian Initiation for Adults)

Every year adults, children, and teens are Initiated into the Catholic Community through RCIA. It is a learning and loving process in which conversion of the heart brings individuals to Jesus Christ.

Maybe you have been curious about what the RCIA process is all about.

Maybe you have a memory of being involved in the RCIA process and want to give back to this ministry.

Maybe you have wanted to get involved for awhile. If so...

We invite you to join us as we un-wrap the RCIA process for you.

Tuesday May 30th
7:00 – 9:00 PM
Parish Ministry Center Clubroom

Join our new pastor, Fr. Mike Scherschel, Fr. Rizzo, and the RCIA Team:

- We will give you an overview of the RCIA process.
- We will help you to explore your own baptismal spirituality.
- We will share with you the many roles and ministries within the RCIA process.

We encourage everyone to attend this initiation gathering to:

- Learn more and leave knowing what the RCIA process is all about.
- Become a person who makes a difference in the life of another.

For more information, contact Marie Staffa at mstaffa@sainthubert.org.

The first 50 people who attend will receive a complimentary chicken sandwich from Chic-Fil-A,

Introduction to SoulCollage® Workshop

Facilitator Marie Staffa

What part of your soul says "give me life?"

Explore your creativity and learn ways to make small collages for self-exploration and as spiritual practice. Collaging is a creative activity that opens one to the movement and patterns of your life. Join us in learning different ways to assemble collage cards. Marie will guide a search for images that speak to participants who then share cards (each card has a story to tell). She is trained in Seena Frost's SoulCollage® process.

Workshops will be held in the Parish Ministry Center Clubroom

No artistic experience necessary.

8th Annual Gayle Photikarm Memorial Blood Drive
St. Hubert is sponsoring the 8th Annual Gayle Photikarm Memorial Blood Drive on Sunday, June 4, from 8:00 AM to 2:00 PM in the lower level of the church.

Gayle had a kind heart and a warm, giving spirit. She was a loving wife, devoted mother of two sons, and a special, understanding teacher at St. Hubert School.

Gayle received multiple transfusions during her battle with cancer. It is in Gayle’s memory that her family and friends ask you to join them in saving lives by donating blood.

To obtain further information or to schedule an appointment, please contact Nate Photikarm at 847-899-8008 or Vince Wroblewski at 847-891-2821 or call LifeSource at 877-543-3768 or register online at www.lifesource.org and use code STO2. APPOINTMENTS RECOMMENDED and WALK-INS are welcome.

EVERYDAY STEWARDSHIP - RECOGNIZE GOD IN YOUR ORDINARY MOMENTS

My children could never succeed without their mother and me. That isn't me thinking too much of ourselves, it is just a fact. No one can find success in life in total isolation. I could never have become who I am today without my parents, various teachers and mentors, and my wife. Truth be told, I probably owe a lot of who I am to my children as well.

I can only imagine the fear and concern of the first disciples when it was apparent that Jesus was not going to be with them much longer. Some probably thought since Jesus had risen from the dead, he might just live with them in the same way forever. But Jesus tried to calm their fears by assuring them, "I will not leave you orphans." He said he would continue to come to them and that he would send the Spirit to be with them at all times. They would not have to continue what he had started and preach the good news to the ends of the earth on their own.

We may sometimes feel that we are alone. We may at times try to do too much or show others that we are independent and strong. However, without the help of others, without the help of God, true success will always elude us. Our actions and words can become empty. The gifts we have received can either be cultivated in secret and in the shadows, or we can welcome the help that God provides in his Spirit, his community, and the sacraments he gave us. By working together the world will truly know the power of the risen Lord.

John 16:23b-28

In John 14:15-21, Jesus tells us that the Holy Spirit is our “Advocate”. Some scholars translate the word to “Counselor”. In the original Greek, it means “called alongside”. It’s closely related to the verb “parakaleo” (“to call” or “summon”) from which we get “Paraclete” as a name for the Holy Spirit. It referred to a legal assistant, a courtroom advocate. Jesus is telling us that the Holy Spirit is our legal assistant when we’re falsely accused, misjudged, or wrongly condemned.

Notice that Jesus refers to our Advocate as the “Spirit of Truth”. No matter what other people think about us, no matter what wrong things they say about us, no matter what opinions they have of us, God always knows the truth. And the truth that sets us free from their bad attitudes is this: It’s only God’s opinion that really matters. And his opinion of us is better than we think it is!

We judge ourselves more harshly than we should, and this is why we worry so much about how others are judging us. If we honestly examine our consciences, seek reconciliation with God for our sins during the Penance Rite at Mass or in the Sacrament of Confession, and strive to improve, then Jesus says to us what he said to other sinners: “I do not condemn you; go and sin no more.”

Don’t you sometimes wish Jesus would come physically to your rescue when you’re misjudged? He said that he will not leave us orphaned—his Holy Spirit will always be with us when we need to be defended, telling us the truth about our goodness.

Even when we sin, the Spirit of Truth defends us to our heavenly Judge: “Look, this precious child really does want to be holy.” To us, the Spirit says, “Let me teach you how to grow in holiness and avoid this sin.” And to others, the Spirit says: “If you love me, love this good friend of mine.”

Reflect & Discuss:

1. How have you been unjustly accused and unfairly judged? Imagine what the Holy Spirit is saying to the Father about that. And to those who condemned you. And what is he saying to you about you?

2. Describe a time when God defended you. How did the Advocate manifest his help?

3. Who learned more from it: you or your accusers?
God’s Quiet Presence in Our Lives

The poet, Rumi, submits that we live with a deep secret that sometimes we know, and then not.

That can be very helpful in understanding our faith. One of the reasons why we struggle with faith is that God’s presence inside us and in our world is rarely dramatic, overwhelming, sensational, something impossible to ignore. God doesn’t work like that. Rather God’s presence, much to our frustration and loss of patience sometimes, is something that lies quiet and seemingly helpless inside us. It rarely makes a huge splash.

Because we are not sufficiently aware of this, we tend to misunderstand the dynamics of faith and find ourselves habitually trying to ground our faith on precisely something that is loud and dramatic. We are forever looking for something beyond what God gives us. But we should know from the very way God was born into our world, that faith needs to ground itself on something that is quiet and undramatic. Jesus, as we know, was born into our world with no fanfare and no power, a baby lying helpless in the straw, another child among millions. Nothing spectacular to human eyes surrounded his birth. Then, during his ministry, he never performed miracles to prove his divinity; but only as acts of compassion or to reveal something about God. Jesus never used divine power in an attempt to prove that God exists, beyond doubt. His ministry, like his birth, wasn’t an attempt to prove God’s existence. It was intended rather to teach us what God is like and that God loves us unconditionally.

Moreover, Jesus’ teaching about God’s presence in our lives also makes clear that this presence is mostly quiet and hidden, a plant growing silently as we sleep, yeast leavening dough in a manner hidden from our eyes, summer slowly turning a barren tree green, an insignificant mustard plant eventually surprising us with its growth, a man or woman forgiving an enemy, God, it seems, works in ways that are quiet and hidden from our eyes. The God that Jesus incarnates is neither dramatic nor splashy.

And there’s an important faith-lesson in this. Simply put, God lies inside us, deep inside, but in a way that’s almost non-existent, almost unfelt, largely unnoticed, and easily ignored. However, while that presence is never overpowering, it has within it a gentle, unremitting imperative, a compulsion towards something higher, which invites us to draw upon it. And, if we do draw upon it, it gushes up in us in an infinite stream that instructs us, nurtures us, and fills us with endless energy.

This is important for understanding faith. God lies inside us as an invitation that fully respects our freedom, never overpowering us; but also never goes away. It lies there precisely like a baby lying helpless in the straw, gently beckoning us, but helpless in itself to make us pick it up.

For example, C.S. Lewis, in explaining why he finally became, in his words, “the most reluctant convert in the history of Christendom”, writes that, for years, he was able to effectively ignore a voice inside him, precisely, because it was almost non-existent, almost unfelt, and largely unnoticed. On the other hand, in retrospect, he realized it had always been there, a gentle, incessant nudge, beckoning him to draw from it, something he eventually recognized as a gentle, but unyielding, imperative, a “compulsion” which, if obeyed, leads to liberation.

Ruth Burrows, the British Carmelite and mystic, describes a similar experience in her autobiography, Before the Living God. Chronicling her late adolescent years, Burrows describes both her religious flightiness and her lack of attraction to the religious life at that time in her life. Yet she eventually ends up not only being serious about religion but becoming a Carmelite nun. What happened? One day, in a chapel, almost against her will, triggered by a series of accidental circumstances, she opened herself to voice inside her that she had, until then, mainly ignored because it lay inside her precisely as a voice that was almost non-existent, almost unfelt, and largely unnoticed. But once touched, it gushed up as the deepest and most real thing inside her and set the direction of her life forever afterwards. Like C.S. Lewis, she too, once she had opened herself to it, felt it as an unyielding moral compulsion opening her to ultimate liberation.

Why doesn’t God show himself to us more directly and more powerfully so as to make faith easier? That’s a fair question for which, partly, there is no fully satisfying answer. But the answer we do have lies in understanding the manner in which God manifests himself in our lives and in our world. Unlike most everything else that’s trying to get our attention, God never tries to overwhelm us. God, more than anyone else, respects our freedom. For this reason, God lies everywhere, inside us and around us, almost unfelt, largely unnoticed, and easily ignored, a quiet, gentle nudge; but, if drawn upon, the ultimate stream of love and energy.

Second Grade at St. Hubert School

Second Grade had a fun-filled year of learning! Check out some of their favorite activities!

Social Studies and Literacy

As part of their Social Studies curriculum, students learned how to interpret and create maps of the world. In literacy, they read stories about communicating with others and learned how to write letters and address envelopes. They even used this topic to ’Extreme Write!’ To sum up these units, students completed Flat Stanley Projects.

Religion

Second Grade students received the sacraments of Reconciliation and First Communion. To prepare for the sacrament of First Holy Communion, students participated in the Eucharist Workshop with Religious Education classes in March.

Science and Math

Students in Second Grade learned STEM skills through various activities that incorporated measuring, constructing, and engineering. Their favorite activities were measuring our school and building 3-D shapes!
Girl Scout Troop 40482 Cadettes are working to achieve their Silver Award, by holding three workshops to teach students about theater. The scouts are looking for 12 students currently in grades 3-5. The Cadettes will teach the students about the basic techniques of acting and singing. At the end of the 3 day workshop, they will present Lion King.
