So will my heavenly Father do to you, unless each of you forgives your brother from your heart.”  - Mt 18:35
The Human Spirit
In today’s gospel, Jesus shares “The Parable of the Unforgiving Servant.” It’s a story that highlights how integral forgiveness is to living a Christian life. If God is able to freely and generously forgive our debts—(our sins, our trespasses)—we should forgive those who sin or trespass against us, too.

It’s a parable that dramatizes one of the petitions of the Our Father that we say individually and every time we gather together as a community. It’s the prayer Jesus taught us.

When we’re able to generously forgive—whether it’s the first time, the seventh time, or the 77th time—it affirms the strength of the human spirit. What forgiveness is able to do is invaluable: it can restore relationships—and relationships are more valuable than anything we’ll ever buy or own.

An Update: Hurricane Harvey Relief Effort
Over the past couple of weeks, we’ve seen the goodness of the human spirit in the many ways people have helped the victims, survivors, and those affected by Hurricane Harvey, and now Hurricane Irma. In a country that is divided in many ways, what has had the ability to unite us is the human need of wanting to help.

As Catholics, this desire comes from who we are and who we follow. God has given us a heart that recognizes the importance of taking care of the other. Jesus’ generosity becomes our own, and that has happened here at St. Hubert.

During our second collection last weekend, I am blessed to report that we donated $7,900 to help the good work of Catholic Charities USA who are helping people with basic necessities. Our school students and their families raised an additional $1,200.

So in total, St. Hubert Parish has raised $9,100 for the hurricane relief effort. You are amazingly generous. Thank you for the many ways you invest in the human spirit.

Our school students are also sending cards and letters to the students at True Cross Catholic School in Dickinson, Texas through a connection made by our music teacher, Maryellen Campion. The school there was flooded and they lost most everything since the water was polluted with toxic chemicals and there are concerns about e coli bacteria. Our students wrote heart-felt letters of encouragement, support and prayer.

One of our seventh graders shared this message of hope and love: “You can lose things, but you never lose God.” Amen.

What connects us as human beings is our desire to give of ourselves—from the heart, whether in words or deeds. Our instinct is to share when others need help with basic necessities for human life.

We give and forgive, and the human spirit thrives.

May God bless you in your generosity and kindness,

Fr. Mike
Dear Lord Jesus,

After you rose from the dead but before you ascended into heaven, you gathered your followers to you.

You told them to baptize all in your name, and that of your Father and the Holy Spirit.

You told them to make all nations followers of you and to teach them obedience to all your words.

Most important, you said you would be with them always, even to the end of the world.

As we honor our catechists today, give them the grace to be ministers of your word and your sacraments.

Give them courage to counsel others to obedience, and faith to remember that you are with them always.

Amen.

"I forgave you your entire debt because you begged me to. Should you not have had pity on your fellow servant, as I had pity on you?" The parable Jesus tells today is the story of a king, but in truth it is about Jesus himself. He is the "king" who has forgiven our debts. We are the "servants" whose sins have earned us chastisement. But when we repent and ask for Christ's mercy, he grants it to us without hesitation.

The point of the parable, then, is that we too should extend this mercy to others. We should not be like that "wicked servant" who begged for mercy but would not show it to others. Elsewhere, Jesus teaches us to pray, "Forgive us our debts as we forgive our debtors" (Mt. 6:12). We use different words, but a similar meaning when we pray the Our Father asking God to "forgive us our trespasses as we forgive those who trespass against us." But are we sure that we mean what we say?

It's important to pause and evaluate how we are doing in this regard. Are we harboring any grudges? Are there people we refuse to forgive? Is there a situation where we are seeking revenge instead of extending mercy? Jesus asks us to do otherwise. He reminds us that we have already been forgiven. We are right now enjoying the benefits of his forgiveness. So we are called to bear in mind our own sins, failings, weaknesses, and "debts" when we deal with others instead of thinking that we are perfectly innocent and acting as if we've never been the beneficiary of mercy. So let us do our best to forgive as we have been forgiven. This doesn't mean approving of wrong behavior; God doesn't ask us to do that. But he does ask us to let go of bitterness and foster mercy instead.

Parish Pets’ Blessing honors the Feast of St. Francis
Wednesday, October 4th

We often see an image of St. Francis of Assisi giving God glory as Creator by holding up a small creature or raising his arms in praise.

This blessing gives thanks for the companionship of our pets, asks God to keep them healthy, and that they be a source of pleasure for the Earth and our homes. Children and all households who care for God’s creatures are invited to bring your pet for the traditional blessing of animals. This will take place about 4:00 PM in the parish lot near the School Meeting Hall.

It is common to bring dogs and cats, but you can also bring your hamsters, birds, bunnies and the like. It is safer for your small pet, such as these, to be in their cage. Let all God’s creation be kept from harm, abuse, or neglect as we celebrate the feast of St. Francis, who honored God with respect for all God has put on Earth.

It is not necessary to register, but if you have questions, please contact Carol Blotteaux at cblotteaux@comcast.net.

Children’s Ministry of Initiation

TRY OUR SUNDAYS, THEY ARE BETTER THAN BASKIN-ROBBINS.

Children’s Ministry of Initiation (CMI) meets on Sunday Mornings. It is a two year sacramental process which is an adaptation of the Rite of Christian Initiation of Adults for children under the age of 18. It is open to both the un-baptized and to those who were baptized in the Catholic Church, but have missed the study and sacramental preparation offered in early grade school. It is also open to those baptized in other traditions. Regular attendance of both the child and at least one parent is expected. For more information, contact Marie Staffa at 847-885-7700, ext. 124 or mstaffa@sainthubert.org.

Meet Our Seminarians

St. Hubert has been designated a “Teaching Parish” by Mundelein Seminary, the graduate school of theology of the Archdiocese of Chicago. Last week we met our three seminarians who the Seminary assigned to St. Hubert to get involved in parish life and to be a part of our community. Here is some background on Ryan Brady and David Jameson. We'll be hearing from Tom Heathershaw during Seminary Weekend on September 23-24.

Ryan Brady
Archdiocese of Chicago, First Year Theology Program

My name is Ryan Brady. I'm from St. Christina Parish in the Mt. Greenwood neighborhood of the southwest side of Chicago. I graduated from Marist High School in 2001 and from Loyola University Chicago in 2005. My first two years at Loyola, I studied at St. Joseph College Seminary.

Before entering Mundelein Seminary, I managed the Development office of Catholic Charities of the Archdiocese of Chicago. On Saturdays, I would serve as sacristan at Holy Name Cathedral. Both jobs gave me excellent perspectives on the Church. I was able to witness the Spiritual and Corporal Works of Mercy daily. I was also very close to the Sacraments.

Thanks to those two wonderful careers, and 14 years after leaving college seminary, I've finally understood and responded to the unmistakable call of Jesus Christ to priesthood. I'm very grateful to be at St. Hubert Parish. I look forward to journeying with you and to learn from you how to be a holy parish priest for his people.

David Jameson
Diocese of Grand Rapids, Pre-Theology Program, Year 2
Focus of Pastoral Experience: RCIA and Faith Formation

My name is David Jameson, and I am studying at Mundelein Seminary for the Diocese of Grand Rapids, Michigan. I was born and raised in Minden, Louisiana. As the son of a Southern Baptist pastor, I grew up attending church, and at an early age I recognized the importance of forming a relationship with Jesus Christ. During my senior year of high school, my family relocated to Phoenix, Arizona where my parents served as missionaries starting churches.

I became involved in international missionary work during my first year in college at Arizona State University. After graduating from college, I moved to Indonesia where I spent several years working with Christian Evangelical missionaries sharing the gospel and planting churches among Muslim people groups. Ultimately, it was those experiences in evangelization and mission work in Indonesia that led me to the Catholic Church. It's really a much longer story, but the bottom line is that in the truth and fullness of our Catholic faith, I have experienced Christ's presence, a deep relationship with Him, and joyful participation in the life that He makes available through the Eucharist and the Sacraments.

Since coming into the Church in 2012, I have become more aware of Jesus Christ's vocational call to the priesthood—a call that I believe has been present in my life even before I became Catholic. Simply stated, it is a call to a life for others. I believe the Lord desires that I give of myself completely so that others may encounter Him and fall in love with Him through the Sacraments of His Church. I look forward to meeting you and getting to know you, and I am thankful for the opportunity to explore this calling along with you at St. Hubert.
Good teachers provide good answers, but exceptional teachers ask great questions

Did you ever think that Jesus seemed to be more interested in questions than giving answers? When people asked Jesus a question, often he gave them a question back. In fact, he hardly ever gave a direct answer to anything. In the Gospels, Jesus asks over 100 questions. Jesus used questions throughout his ministry, not to find out something he didn’t know, but to probe into people's deepest, most unsettled spaces.

Come join us for three evenings as we listen to the questions first-century listeners were asked.

We will look at how Jesus asks us the same questions for us in our own spiritual growth. In our spiritual lives, each question draws us into a greater understanding of God. At the same time, each question probes deeper into the unsettled spaces within our life.

Jesus loved questions. We should, too.

Jesus’ message in this Sunday’s Gospel reading explains a line from the “Our Father” prayer he had taught earlier (Matthew 6:12): “Forgive us our sins as we forgive those who sin against us.”

The strongest word here is “AS” – the same as, just like, in equal measure.

If there is anyone we have not forgiven, if there is anyone we cannot pray for with love, we’d better keep our mouths shut during this part of the prayer to our Father, who is the Father of all.

Sometimes, it’s difficult to forgive because we think “forgiving” means “forgetting”. Jesus never said that we must forget what the debtor owes. Forgiveness means remembering – and learning from the memory – without demanding repayment or retribution.

Unforgiveness is a form of punishment: it’s payback time. For example, if we remain angry, we hope that our anger or coldness will somehow bring the sinner to repentance. Well, guess what. That never works.

Here’s something else we do that never works: holding a grudge to protect ourselves from getting hurt again. Grudges do not free us from the pain of bad memories. It chains us to them.

When we free others from the debts they owe us for hurting us (whether they seek it or not, whether they’re still alive or not), we free ourselves and our healing begins – our healing!

It’s the most loving gift that we can give to ourselves, as it’s a gift of love to others. Even when they don’t recognize our gift, God does.

Reflect & Discuss:

1. Who angers you because they don’t deserve your forgiveness?

2. What are you gaining from unforgiveness and resentment? What will you lose if you forgive?

3. What is the most difficult part of forgiveness?

4. What steps do you take for pushing yourself into truly letting go of unforgiveness so you can find healing? Sharing this with others will spread good ideas that could change someone’s life!

When I was younger, I was pretty confident that I knew what love meant. After all, we all experience love in some way, being in love, loving someone, being loved by someone. Virtually everyone has known the love of somebody, a friend, a family member, an acquaintance.

But the older I get the more I wonder sometimes whether I, or most anyone else, has much sense of what that over-used word, love, really means? When we are honest, we sense our own distance from its full meaning. Why?

Because, the older we get, the more we also begin to know love’s dark side. Too common are these experiences: We fall in love and think it will last forever, but then fall out of love, feel love go sour, feel love grow cold, see love betrayed, feel ourselves wounded by love, and wound others. Finally, even more upsetting, we all find that there are always people in our lives who are cold, bitter, and unforgiving towards us so that it is not always easy to feel love and be loving.

In the light of this reticence, I would like comment on Jesus’ most important commandment: “Love one another as I have loved you!”

We too easily read that simplistically, romantically, and in a one-sided, over-confident manner. But this command contains the most important challenge of the whole gospel and, like the deepest part of the gospel to which it is linked, the crucifixion, it is very, very difficult to imitate. Why?

It’s easy to consider ourselves as loving if we only look at one side of things, namely, how we relate to those people who are loving, warm, respectful, and gracious towards us. If we rate ourselves on how we feel about ourselves in our best moments among like-minded friends, we can easily conclude both that we are loving persons and that we are measuring up to Jesus’ command to love as he did.

But if we begin to look at the skeletons in our relational closets our naïve confidence soon disappears: What about the people who hate us, whom we don’t like? What about the people whom we avoid and who avoid us? What about those people towards whom we feel resentment? What about all those people with whom we are at odds, towards whom we feel suspicion, coldness, anger? What about those people whom we haven’t been able to forgive?

It’s one thing to love someone who adores you, it’s quite another to love someone who wants you dead!

But that’s the real test. Jesus’ command to love contains a critical subordinate clause, “as I have loved you!” What was unique in the way he loved us?

Where Jesus stretches us beyond our natural instincts and beyond all self-delusion is in his command to love our enemies, to be warm to those who are cold to us, to be kind to those who are cruel to us, to do good to those who hate us, to forgive those who hurt us, to forgive those who won’t forgive us, and to ultimately love and forgive those who are trying to kill us.

That command, love and forgive your enemies, more than any creedal formula or other moral issue, is the litmus-test for Christian discipleship. We can ardently believe in and defend every item in the creed and fight passionately for justice in all its dimensions, but the real test of whether or not we are followers of Jesus is the capacity or non-capacity to forgive an enemy, to remain warm and loving towards someone who is not warm and loving to us.

We shouldn’t delude ourselves on this. It is easy to rationalize this away and, if we do, no doubt there will be more than enough false friends around who will furnish us with both theological and psychological arguments that will justify us in not loving our enemies. But the gospel is uncompromising: We are loving or non-loving not on the basis of how we respond to those who love us, but on the basis of how we respond to those who hate us, and are cold, hostile, and murderous toward us. That’s the hard, non-negotiable truth underlying Jesus’ command to love and, when we are honest, we have to admit that we are still a long ways from measuring up to that.

There’s a sobering challenge in an old Stevie Nicks’ song, Goldust Woman: She suggests that it’s good that, at a point in life, someone “shatters our illusion of love” because far too often, blind to its own true intentions, our love is manipulative and self-serving. Too often, the song points out, we are lousy lovers who unconsciously pick our prey.

What shatters our illusion of love is the presence in our lives of people who hate us. They’re the test. It’s here where we have to measure up: If we can love them, we’re real lovers, if we can’t, we’re still under a self-serving illusion.

The world has changed. The modern presentation of personhood has challenges that didn’t exist in the past. Today teens are given conflicting messages on a daily basis, and an approach based simply on rules to be followed is not enough. They need to know that not only is each teenager a unique, unrepeatable gift of God, but so also is their sexuality, and all aspects of their lives.

This award-winning film is NOT about domestic violence but about the incredible journey of a crew of female filmmakers who drove across the United States to encourage, empower, and inspire the next generation to pursue their dreams and career ambitions. The film challenges the audience to ask themselves, “What would you do if you weren’t afraid to fail?” Just as they asked the people they encountered on their 7,000-mile cross-country journey. The meaningful message of attaining empowerment to pursue one’s personal and career goals is powerfully embodied in the interviews with the women in the documentary, which include a pilot, an athlete, and the first female four-star admiral in the United States Navy. ### Sacramental Life

Call the Parish Office 847-885-7700 for further questions or to make arrangements.

Baptisms
To register for Baptism, stop in or call the Parish Office. Parents must attend a Baptismal Preparation Meeting, which is held on the last Tuesday of each month at 7:30 PM. You may attend this parent meeting either before or after the baby is born. Baptisms take place on the 2nd and 4th Sundays of the month at 1:30 PM or at Mass by arrangement. You will confirm the date for Baptism by attending the Baptism Preparation Meeting.

Marriages
Please do not reserve your banquet hall before confirming the date with the church. Set your date by calling the Parish Office as early as possible as you plan your wedding—at least 6 months before the wedding. Weddings take place on Saturdays at 2:00 PM. Weekdays and Sundays must be arranged individually.

Reconciliation
Saturday after 4:30 PM Mass, or by appointment.

Eucharist for the Sick and Homebound
If there is anyone who would like to receive Eucharist at home, or if you know a friend, neighbor or family member who is homebound and would like a home visit to receive Eucharist, please call the Parish Ministry Center. One of our dedicated ministers will be glad to fulfill these requests.

Sacrament of the Sick
Please call the Parish Ministry Center Office to make arrangements for a priest to visit.
