28th Sunday in Ordinary Time

“Go out, therefore, into the main roads and invite to the feast whomever you find.’ The servants went out into the streets and gathered all they found, bad and good alike, and the hall was filled with guests.” - Mt 22:9-10

A Special Invitation

In today’s gospel, we hear the parable about being invited to the king’s wedding feast. That resonates with us here at St. Hubert, because we love celebrations and parties. The Taste of St. Hubert was one of those great times together! Thanks to the Stewards who made it happen for us and sent us the invitation.

Unfortunately, in Jesus’ parable, the people invited to the wedding feast don’t want to go—they have other things to do. So the king extends the invitation to anyone who wants to be there. And they come! The wedding feast is a symbol of eternal life.

Jesus, however, says that those who come have to be dressed for it. They need to wear the wedding garment. We have come to see that means looking like Christ. Not physically, of course, but it is apparent in how we strive to resemble him in the way we live our lives and who we are becoming.

St. Hubert is a place that’s helping to hand out invitations for the great wedding feast, and we’re working together to be the best dressed we can be. Many very talented women and men in our parish are participating and contributing their talents to help us respond to the invitation to be Christ to one another. And there is always an open invitation for those who feel ready to help us grow even more. We have over 40 different ministries and ways to help, which you can learn more about either on-line at sainthubert.org or in the brochures in the gathering space.

As Jesus’ disciples, we’re saying “yes” to the invitation to be with God—now and always.

Michael Green is in Formation to Become a Deacon!

Speaking of saying “yes” to God, I’m blessed to announce that Michael Green, one of our parishioners, is in the Program of Diaconate Formation for the Archdiocese of Chicago. Along with 26 other men from different parishes in the Archdiocese, Mike participated in a special liturgy on October 1 at Mundelein Seminary called the Rite of Admission to Candidacy for Holy Orders.

What this means is that Mike is actively discerning and preparing himself to be ordained a deacon in May 2021. God willing, he will join Deacons Dick Lawson, Steve Baldasti and Allen Tatara in service here at St. Hubert. The Rite of Candidacy is a public affirmation that the Church is walking with Mike on this journey as he discovers more fully God’s will for his life.

To get to this point, Mike has spent the last year learning more about the diaconate, the teachings of the Catholic Church, and how to serve the diversity of people who make up the Archdiocese of Chicago, all the while growing in the spiritual life through prayer, retreats and spiritual direction.

Those of you who know Mike know he is a thoughtful, prayerful, and generous man. He went through the RCIA process here at St. Hubert and since then has discovered that God is pulling him into a committed life of charity and service to our community.

We couldn’t be happier for him and all of us who will be blessed through his on-going service to St. Hubert. Please keep him, and all of our deacons, in your prayers.

May God bless you and lead you in all you do,

—Fr. Mike
Next Week’s Readings:

28th Sunday in Ordinary Time

"My friend, how is it that you came in here without a wedding garment?" Today's Gospel parable is unsettling in several ways. The various images of rejection, mistreatment, and violence paint an unpleasant picture. Guests refuse to come to a feast, servants are killed, troops are dispatched. The King continues to try to fill his dinner hall, and then when someone finally does show up, the King throws him out for wearing the wrong clothes. What is going on here?

The message would have been a poignant one for his Jewish listeners. As the chosen people, they were the first to receive the "invitation" to share in the kingdom of God. But the chief priests and elders were uninterested in accepting Jesus and his authority; thus they didn't show up for the feast. But what about those who did come? Something is expected of them as well. Donning a "wedding garment" is like being properly prepared to enter God's kingdom. Just showing up isn't enough.

Here it's important to pay attention to the details. The King first calls his poorly dressed guest "friend." The approach begins with mercy and kindness. But the man gives no defense for himself, and displays no desire to change. It's as if he doesn't really care to be there at all.

The question this raises for us is whether or not we are "dressed" appropriately. We may hang around the banquet hall--going to church, professing to be Christian--but are we sincere guests of the King of kings? Do we truly accept Christ's teachings and live by them, or are we just showing up? The splendors of the invitation Christ gives us should not be taken for granted. We are called to share in a royal feast. May we all be grateful guests.

RCIA— AN INVITATION TO COME AND SEE!

RCIA stands for the Rite of Christian Initiation for Adults. It is an opportunity for those who have never been baptized, or baptized with little or no affiliation or religious training in the Catholic religion to learn and ask questions about the Catholic faith. This includes those who may have been baptized Catholic, but have not yet received their First Communion or Confirmation. Sometimes after attending the informational meetings, prayer, and reflection, participants choose to begin the process for becoming Catholic or coming into full Communion. It is important to note, however, that no commitment is expected of participants at this time.

Call Marie Staffa at 847-885-7700, ext. 124 or email her at mstaffa@sainthubert.org if you are interested.

Please note: If you are an adult whose only need is completing your Initiation through the Sacrament of Confirmation, or if you are fully initiated but have been away from the Church and interested in returning, know that we have separate ministries to welcome you into or back to the fullness of our Church.

Remember those who have gone before us

You are invited to enter a name of a deceased loved one into our Book of the Names of the Dead and also place any pictures or mementos of your deceased loved ones in the niche. Entering the names of the deceased in a book dates back to ancient times. Making a shrine with pictures, symbols and articles associated with the deceased continues today in many cultures.

As we prepare to celebrate the feast days of All Saints and All Souls we are reminded that the communion of saints is both the living and the dead, both the canonized saints and the faithful holy men and women we know as our ancestors.

The Book of the Names of the Dead will remain in the narthex throughout November and each day, at one of our liturgies, we will pray their names aloud with all who have died, adding a petition to our Sunday liturgies as well. The pictures and mementos on the pedestals remind us of their life and their stories and can be shared with family members as well as our parish community.

A poster with the saints of the Church will be in the shrine along with our pictures as we celebrate the living and dead together on the feasts of All Saints and All Souls Day.
Dear Friends,

This is my last letter to you while still assigned to St. Hubert. During the last 12 years I have written you more than 500 letters, primarily through the bulletin.

My retirement Mass will be at 4:30 p.m. on Saturday, October 28. All are welcome. I will be considered the Pastor Emeritus of St. Hubert as of November 1.

During these last 3 months, I have been impressed with the pastoral instincts of Fr. Mike Scherschel. Before you can become a good priest and Pastor, you must first be a good person, and that he is. He has many skills, insights, and a strong faith life and spirituality. I’m sure that with God’s help and yours, he will be just fine as your Pastor. Pray for him, as you did for me, and support him in this new ministry.

During my retirement, I will live in Chicago, and I hope to do more travelling, more reading, savor the experiences in museums and the arts, and enjoy the many blessings of life itself, trusting that God will continue to help me transition into a fulfilling and joyful retirement. Periodically, I will return for Sunday Mass.

Thank you for the last 12 years. By listening to one another and trusting where God was leading us, we saw God’s plan for a renovated church, a Long Range Pastoral Plan, a renewed interest in our many ministries, especially RCIA and CMI. We have a wonderful infrastructure for this very large parish, including a skilled and dedicated staff.

I have been impressed with so many genuine and holy people in this parish. We have laughed together during the moments of joy at Baptisms, weddings, and social gatherings. We cried together when we experienced some serious illnesses and traumatic funerals. All these moments led us to a deeper experience of God.

As I leave you, know that you helped provide me with 12 wonderful years of priesthood and the opportunity to establish new friendships. You helped me see, once again, God’s love for His people. Know that I will continue to pray for you, never forget you and always love you.

Why Join the Knights of Columbus?
Imagine being part of an organization that fills your heart and your mind with the joy of giving to others and the feeling that comes with making a difference. Knights are Catholic men, 18 years of age and older, who are committed to making their community a better place, while supporting their Parish. Being a Knight is more than camaraderie: it is being involved with your community and it’s supporting St. Hubert Parish, while enhancing your own faith. It’s about protecting and enhancing your family life.

This weekend, the Knights of Columbus will be here at St. Hubert Church to answer any questions you may have.

If you’re interested in more information, contact Kevin Thomas 847-895-0038 / 847-347-4253 or Pierre Zermatten 847-323-0914. You can also visit our website at www.hoffmanschaumburgknights.com.

Why Join the Knights of Columbus?
Being a Deacon

Overall, the diaconate is thriving in the Archdiocese of Chicago. There are about 500 active deacons, with 74 men currently in the four-year English-speaking formation program. Deacons are found in many parishes of the archdiocese. Yet a frequently asked question is, “What is a deacon?”

With bishops and priests, deacons receive the Sacrament of Holy Orders. They are full-time ordained ministers living in the midst of the world, most often with full-time careers outside the Church. Deacons may baptize, proclaim the Gospel and preach, assist at the Eucharist, witness marriages, officiate at wakes and funeral services, preside at Benediction, minister at other liturgical/prayer gatherings, offer blessings, and more. These are functions most visible in the parish.

But a more important question is, “Who is the deacon?” The deacon is an emissary of the bishop, “the bishop’s ear, mouth, heart and soul,” as a Christian writer in the Patristic era described them. Once ordained, the deacon is assigned by the bishop to serve the people of God in whatever capacity is most needed by the Church, typically in the parish that helped him to discern his diaconal vocation.

Therefore, diaconal ministry is a call to be configured to Christ the Servant—to stand in the midst of God’s people and be a sacramental sign for all to emulate. A deacon’s service includes a three-fold ministry: Service to the Word, Liturgy and Charity, and requires his active ministry in all three areas. This includes the aforementioned assisting at Mass and celebrating sacraments; evangelizing the Word by mouth and witness to the world; and caring for the poor, alienated, underrepresented, and neglected. Even in the workplace deacons are visible signs of Christ in the community.

Please keep Deacons Dick Lawson, Steve Baldasti, and Allen Tatara, along with Michael Green—who is in the process of becoming a deacon—in your prayers.

28th Sunday of Ordinary Time

In today's Gospel, Jesus addresses the problem of fakers: people who try to win his friendship by being religious and showing up for the banquet without entering into a genuine relationship with God.

You know the type: They are friendly as long as it works to their own advantage. They do good deeds but only when it's convenient. They perform Catholic rituals perfectly during Mass but at home they don't even take time to pray. Their faith is so shallow that distractions easily keep them away from Mass. When their relationship with you requires sacrifice or repentance, they abandon you.

Genuine Christians are identified by the presence of God's love within them radiating outward and blessing others, especially when it's not easy to love.

Jesus shows us in today's parable how to handle the fakers. The invitation to join the party is open to everyone, but when people want only the fun of being a friend of God and they ignore the hard work of sharing his love with others, God sets up boundaries against them.

Think of the people you've invited to your banquet table, i.e., into a healthy, Godly relationship, but they've tried to reshape it according to their unhealthiness and immorality. We should love them but not within harmful circumstances. We should do our own part to make the relationship healthy, but when others do not do their part, they've already abandoned the relationship.

God asks us to carry the cross of doing everything possible to invite them to repentance, conversion, and healing. However, healthy boundaries need to remain in place, and when our efforts are fruitless, eventually God says it's time to let go and move on.

And always, we're to go back out into the byroads to find those who genuinely value Godly friendships.

Reflect & Discuss:

1. How many Godly, healthy friendships do you really have?
2. Where can you go to find more people who want to be in a holy, Christ-centered, faith-building relationship with you?
3. What makes a friendship truly good?
4. How do you know when the time has come to say no to an unhealthy, unholy relationship?
5. How have you handled it?
6. Where have you gone to find support and healing and growth?
In the preface to Elizabeth O'Connor’s book, Search for Silence, N. Gordon Cosby writes: “The one journey that ultimately matters is the journey into the place of stillness deep within one’s self. To reach that place is to be at home; to fail to reach it is to be forever restless.”

That’s a scary thought, especially for those of us who are restless and who find it difficult to be comfortable alone and with silence. Yet there is no doubt that Cosby is right, not to reach inner stillness is to be forever restless. So it is good to make our peace with this.

And that peace is not easily won. The journey inward to that quiet centre, that central silence, where one’s own life and spirit are united with the life and Spirit of God, is long and arduous. Moreover, very little invites us to make it.

First of all, we are born restless, over-charged for our own lives, so on fire with eros and energy of every kind that simply sitting still is already itself a considerable task. This restlessness, which is the heartbeat of a human soul, is the fire of God within us and is God’s assurance, written into nature, that we will not settle for anything less than everything.

As Augustine so aptly put it: “You have made us for yourself, Lord, and our hearts are restless until they rest in you.”

Still, given all this, spontaneously our restlessness pushes us outward rather than inward. When we are restless, almost invariably, there is the compulsive desire to seek rest in something or somebody outside of ourselves. Rarely, when we are deeply restless, are we drawn inward, to seek a solution to our yearnings in stillness and silence.

In addition, almost everything within our world militates against journeying inward towards stillness and silence as a remedy to the painful obsessions that we experience in our restlessness. This in a double way. The world both intensifies and trivializes our restlessness.

Our culture invites excitement, not silence; activity, not stillness. Thus we find ourselves constantly titillated and overstimulated in our restlessness. Somehow the impression is out there that everyone in the whole world is finding something that you are not, that everyone’s life is more full and complete than yours, that your life, as it is, is too small and timid . . . and that only if you bring many more people, things, places, and experiences into your life will you find peace and calm.

The world suggests that the solution to your restlessness lies outside of yourself, in building a bigger and more exciting life. If you are lonely, find a friend; if you are restless, do something; if you have a desire, fulfill it.

Beyond this, the world trivializes our restlessness, inviting us in a thousand ways to forget that God has called us to make an inward pilgrimage. The world, while not necessarily against God, invites us to forget God.

“Distract yourself,” it says. “Lower your ideals. Forget about immortal longings and eternal peace and think of your immediate frustrations, your lack of self-expression, your yearning hormones and of how little of the good life you’ve actually got. Do more things, change marriage partners, make a career change, have a better sex life, travel more, read more books, go to more movies—or write a book, plant a tree, have a child. Find enough life and leave some mark and you won’t be so restless.”

Given all of this, it is not easy for us to believe that the ultimate solution to our restlessness lies in a journey inward. Given all of this too, it is not easy to have the courage to make that journey, even when we know that it must be done.

Cosby’s challenge—“The one journey that ultimately matters is the journey into the place of stillness deep within one’s self. To reach that place is to be at home; to fail to reach it is to be forever restless”—should be written in bold letters in the preface of every spiritual book today. Too much inside of us and around us invites us to forget this and it is too dangerous to forget it. It’s our rest, our peace, that’s at stake here.

When Christ invites us to make the preferential option for the poor, he also spells out the consequence of ignoring the invitation, namely, at the last judgment the King might not recognize us since he never met us in the least of our brothers and sisters.

The invitation to move inward, in silence, to gently calm our raging restlessness with an inner stillness that comes from union with God is just as non-negotiable. To ignore it is to take a bad risk.

SACRAMENTAL LIFE

Call the Parish Office 847-885-7700 for further questions or to make arrangements.

BAPTISMS

To register for Baptism, stop in or call the Parish Office. Parents must attend a Baptismal Preparation Meeting, which is held on the last Tuesday of each month at 7:30 PM. You may attend this parent meeting either before or after the baby is born. Baptisms take place on the 2nd and 4th Sundays of the month at 1:30 PM or at Mass by arrangement. You will confirm the date for Baptism by attending the Baptism Preparation Meeting.

MARRIAGES

Please do not reserve your banquet hall before confirming the date with the church. Set your date by calling the Parish Office as early as possible as you plan your wedding—at least 6 months before the wedding. Weddings take place on Saturdays at 2:00 PM. Weekdays and Sundays must be arranged individually.

RECONCILIATION

Saturday after 4:30 PM Mass, or by appointment.

EUCHARIST FOR THE SICK AND HOMEBOUND

If there is anyone who would like to receive Eucharist at home, or if you know a friend, neighbor or family member who is homebound and would like a home visit to receive Eucharist, please call the Parish Ministry Center. One of our dedicated ministers will be glad to fulfill these requests.

SACRAMENT OF THE SICK

Please call the Parish Ministry Center Office to make arrangements for a priest to visit.
